HURON SYNOD GRANTS SUPERANNUATION TO LONDON ARCHDEACON

Ven. Archdeacon Richardson Retires—Income of See Increased by $500.

At a meeting of the executive of the Synod of Huron, held yesterday afternoon in the Synod office, the Ven. Archdeacon Richardson, applied for superannuation under the canon, which was granted him, with expressions of regret that he found it necessary to withdraw from his present duties.

By unanimous resolution, the income of the See of Huron was increased by $500, and it was decided that all the expenses of the Provincial Synod, traveling expenses, printing, etc., be paid by assessment on the funds of the diocese. Benefactions under the wills of Senator McColl of Simcoe, Mr. Seagram of Waterloo and Mr. Jones of Sarnia were reported. Pelee Island was made a traveling mission.

A communication was received suggesting the religious observance of Empire Day, and a committee appointed to draft an address to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

The Ven. Archdeacon Young and Mr. Bingle were appointed auditors of the finance report, which was submitted.

MEDICAL SCHOOL TO START DAY EARLIER; TWO FIRST CLASSES

One For Five-Year Course, Other For Six.

ENROLLMENT IS RECORD

Fifty Veterans of War Begin Studies for Doctors' Degrees.

A distinct innovation at Western University Medical School will have been instituted on Tuesday next, when the doors of that institution are thrown wide open, and lectures commence for all students, including two freshmen classes. Registration will take place on Monday, and for the first time the history of the school two first year classes will be in attendance, with one wide open, and lectures commence for all students, including two freshmen classes.

Registration will take place on Monday, and for the first time the history of the school two first year classes will be in attendance, with one wide open, and lectures commence for all students, including two freshmen classes. There is the regular first year class, and several extra subjects are now included in the curriculum. There is the regular first year class, and several extra subjects are now included in the curriculum. There is the regular first year class, and several extra subjects are now included in the curriculum.

Enrollment for this latter class is unusually heavy, according to the number of applications received from prospective students. In all about 50 veterans including several who served in trenches have applied for admission to this class, making the largest freshman body of last year. Applications for admission to the six-year course number about fifteen, according to Dr. Paul S. McKibben, dean of the medical school.

In preparation for the influx of students, the chemical laboratories, situated on the second floor of the Institute of Public Health, Ottawa Avenue, have been enlarged so as to accommodate 24 more embryo doctors. In addition to this a second vivarium laboratory is being prepared at Western U Arts Building, which will be partially utilized by the freshmen entering the six-year medical course. It is likely that the five-year class of freshmen composed of former soldiers, will be divided into two units, similar to the practice observed last year, the classes alternating in taking lectures.

Starts Day Earlier.—While conditions will be exceedingly cramped at the medical school this year, it is hoped by the faculty that when another year rolls around the new school to be erected at Waterloo street and Ottawa Avenue, will be available, or failing this that construction will be well under way. When asked by The Advertiser why lectures commenced September 30 this year instead of October 1, as is usually the custom, Dr. McKibben said: "It is to get in a full week of lectures, if possible, that we have Monday as registration day, and lectures commencing on Tuesday. We aim to give the classes thirty full weeks of study, and if we can crowd in an extra day now it will come off the course next May, when school closes for the summer, and this method of procedure finds favor with the entire student body."

FEW SPOILED VOTES AND NEARLY ALL OF THEM GAVE 4 "NO'S"

Members or Mothers' Clubs Practice Using Franchise.

Last evening straw ballots were taken in both the Lord Roberts and Tecumseh Avenue Mothers' Clubs. In the Lord Roberts Club, out of 30 ballots, only three were spoiled, and that by the writing of the voter's initials on the back of the ballot slip. Every vote but one was registered in the "No" column. At the Tecumseh Avenue Club even a better record was made, for here every one of the 30 votes cast was found in the "No" column, and not a spoiled ballot among them. The evening was regular in regard to the taking of the ballot, returning officers, poll clerks and proper polling booths having been arranged.

Up to Women.—W. A. Martin was the speaker at the Lord Roberts Club. "The fate of the referendum depends absolutely on whether the women of Ontario turn out and vote for it or not," he declared. "Much the same note was struck in the address of the Rev. J. A. Agnew at the Tecumseh Avenue school."

"We are expecting great things from the women," he said. "Practically everything hinges on their vote at this time."

Both speakers referred to the fact that a vote "Yes" to the first question would bring a return to conscription as they existed before the war-time prohibition act was passed. They also emphasized the necessity of voting "No" to all four questions, declaring that drinkers started to be such through the drinking of beer. The necessity of voting "No" to the fourth question was pointed out, both speakers declaring that an affirmative vote to this question meant a wide-open store for the selling of liquor.

Explained Voting.—The speakers spent the greater part of their time explaining exactly how to vote, from an enlarged ballot, after which the trial vote was taken.

At the Lord Roberts Club a musical program was given, Mrs. Charles Wheeler, accompanied by Miss Arnold, rendering several vocal selections, and Miss Arnold giving a reading.

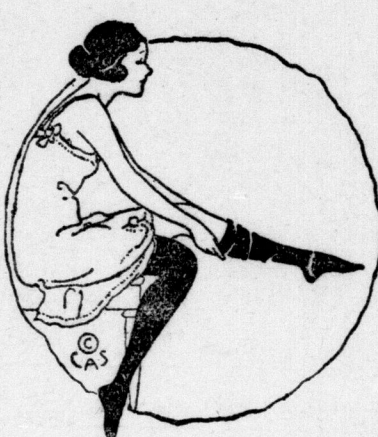

A social committee, of which Mrs. Storey was made convener, was appointed at the Tecumseh Avenue school. The following were also appointed to the program committee: Mrs. McMullen, Mrs. Lowie, Mrs. Baldwin, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Brighton.

The funeral of Pta. Charles Cuerden, the soldier who was drowned at Port Stanley on Tuesday evening, was held this afternoon at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The funeral was of a military nature. The Canadian Garrison Band followed the cortege to the cemetery, where interment was made in the military plot. Rev. Col. W. H. Emley conducted the services at the grave.

The young lady who was to have become his bride on Wednesday, and who waited with her attendant and the best man in the presence of the clergyman for his arrival to be married, was of Killingsworth & Stewart last evening, in company with another lady, to view the remains of her lover. Today at the service in the chapel she took a last look before the casket was closed and covered with the Union Jack, for which he fought on the fields of France.
