ITALIAN QUARREL ENDS IN STABBING

Claremont Street Laborer Has Abdomen Slashed Open With Razor During Drinking Bout—Victim Likely To Die.

CROWD SEE THE FIGHT ASSAILANT WALKS OFF

With a dangerous sash in his abdomen, Giuseppe Risio, Italian laborer, living at 106 Claremont-street, is at the point of death in Grace Hospital, and the police are scouring the city for Rocco di Sabbato, 208 Claremont-street, his assailant. The stabbing occurred at the home of the injured man at 5:30 last night in the presence of a dozen other Italians, who refuse to talk of the affray.

A dozen Italians had been drinking in the kitchen all yesterday. Three kegs of beer had been consumed. Rocco, who had just come in from the front of the house, became engaged in heated discussion with Risio. He reached into a coat pocket and produced a red razor case. There was a vicious upward movement of his hand and he and Risio fell to the floor. Rocco got up and went quietly out and was seen to walk slowly south on Claremont-street. Risio did not rise and a stream of blood flowed from a long rent in his clothing. It was some time before medical aid was summoned, and then Dr. D. W. McPherson, 556 Bathurst-street, was called. He found the man lying on the floor, a cut an inch long on the left side of his abdomen, and the intestines protruding. He had the man removed in his private ambulance to Grace Hospital, where surgeons worked over him for an hour and a half. His intestines were found to be punctured.

The police were notified by phone to the Bathurst-street station at 6:30, and Benjamin Umbach hurried to the scene, picking up Detective Cronin on the way. Cronin picked up a razor which was that from which the razor had been taken, but the weapon could not be found. A search was made at 208 Claremont-street, where Rocco boarded, but there, too, the officers were met with the same shrugs and professed ignorance. Rocco's trunk was searched, and a letter found addressed to him at 24 Carr-street, but he refused to give the address. He was taken to the police station, where he was held incommunicado. The Carr-street house was found to be a tenement, which the former occupants had moved, they learned nothing of Rocco's whereabouts. Rocco is said to be 22 years of age and single. He was short and thick set. He is said to have worked on cement pavement for the city, but to have quit his job on Saturday, August 28, as he is 39 years old, with a wife and children in Italy. He has been in this country two years.

WOMAN SMUGGLER CAUGHT

Wealthy, Too, But She Tried to Cheat Customs.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—According to customs officials, Mrs. I. Reynolds, a prominent and wealthy woman, was summoned to appear at the customs house to-morrow on a charge of smuggling. Arriving to-day, she failed to mention the fact that she had a package of goods valued at $5000 in her trunk, which she had hidden in her hat. A woman inspector found a gold mine worth $100,000 in her trunk, which she had hidden in her hat. A woman inspector found a gold mine worth $100,000 in her trunk, which she had hidden in her hat.

Emens of this city, wife of Prof. Emens of Syracuse University, and Miss Martha Emens, sister of Prof. Emens, were killed this afternoon, three miles south of Geneva, when a fast express crashed into the rear of the automobile while they were crossing the tracks. Prof. Emens is in a serious condition. The chauffeur is badly bruised.

The girls had been charged with vagrancy in police court and had been remanded to the Haven for care.

"HOLY GHOSTS" VESSEL WRECK ON THE ROCKS

Dramatic Climax to Sensational Voyaging of a Strange Crowd of Fanatics.

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Elijah Sanford, leader of the Holy Ghosts, and a motley band of fifty followers, are huddled together in a fisherman's shack on Mud Island, a barren spot of land thirty miles off Yarmouth, on the Nova Scotia coast, while their ship, the "Kingdom," is high and dry on the dangerous ledges within gunshot away. There is a great gaping hole in the bow of the craft and she is full of water. For months past, Sanford has been cruising along the Nova Scotia and New England coasts to escape the authorities, who have been pursuing him in an effort to take off some female passengers, who are said to be unwillingly held on board the craft. For the past few weeks the American authorities have been giving keen chase, and it was in an effort to escape that Sanford pointed his craft eastward on a cruise along the Nova Scotia coast. During a dense fog early Friday, she struck the rocks. The Kingdom is a vessel of four hundred and ninety-one tons net, and was built 37 years ago. She was originally a merchantman. At present she has two hundred tons ballast on board. There is no insurance on the vessel.

BOY SCOUTS AT CHURCH

Rev. W. L. Armstrong Expressed Deep Sympathy With Aims of Movement.

Rev. W. L. Armstrong, pastor of the Metropolitan Church, preached to the Methodist members of the Baden-Powell scouts yesterday morning, when about 250 were present. Dealing with the scout movement the speaker referred to the motto, "Be always prepared," as one which they should always bear in mind, and he reminded them also of their promise to be loyal to God, loyal to their king, to help others and to obey the scout law, which involves honesty, truthfulness and obedience to parents. He pointed out the broadness of the scout motto, and said that the Metropolitan Church favored the movement he noted that a company had been formed in connection with the church and that a room had been given the boys to develop that phase of military training.

MAYOR GAYNOR HOME

Fell Twice in Trying to Walk Unassisted.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Mayor Gaynor was removed from St. Mary's Hospital in Hoboken this morning to his country home at St. James, L.I. He bore the trip well, but his insistent plea to be allowed to walk unassisted resulted in two distressing incidents. Once he sank to his knees as he tried to enter an automobile, and on the steps of his home, he fell on all fours from over-exertion. Commending upon the attempt to assassinate him, he said: "I am content. My great hope is that the event will help to make me a better man and more patient and just."

THE EXHIBITION OPENING

The Canadian National Exhibition is upon us—Greater and Grander than Ever Before. Those who can recall the earlier days of the "Industrial Fair" will be more than ever amazed at what they will see this year: more extensive and better-appearing grounds, additional buildings of handsome appearance, and even more and better attractions. To-day is Opening Day on the program, but beyond a quartet of harness races, there will be none of the special features. To-night a re-thing will be in full blast and working as smoothly as the in the second week. The formal opening by Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell will take place at 2 p.m., followed by a review of an army of uniformed boy scouts from all parts of Ontario, while the famous band of the Grenadier Guards will give concerts afternoon and evening. The grand stand performances will also be presented in their entirety and the myriad of entertainment features will be in operation. And the greatest exhibition of the world will have begun its bid for the million in attendance mark. That Manager Orr's ambition may be realized, everybody will hope, and most everybody will strive to gratify.

HEROIC DEFENDER OF MAFEKING ARRIVES IN THE CITY TO-DAY

THE CHIEF OF THE BOY SCOUTS

Military Hero and Europe's Greatest Master in Scouting Will Be Received at Union Station at 3.15 p.m.

STORY OF THRILLING SIEGE IN SOUTH AFRICA

Lieut.-Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, hero of Mafeking, and originator of the Boy Scout movement, will arrive at the Union Station from Wainipos at 2.15 p.m. to-day. An hour before the event the sixteen English boy scouts, who have been touring Canada for the past month, will reach Toronto, also from the west. The ceremonies, which will mark the arrival of the distinguished soldier and idol of every youngster in the empire, will be of simple character, and without military effect. When he steps from the train he will be given an informal welcome to the city by Mayor Geary and Ald. Maguire, chairman of the civic legislation committee. Also he will be greeted by President George Gooderham of the Canadian National Exhibition, E. B. Omer, M.P., at whose residence in Rosedale Sir Robert will be a guest; Capt. E. S. Wilson, and probably one or two other gentlemen identified with the local scouts movement. No other fixed arrangements have been made. It is probable that Sir Robert will be promptly whisked away in an auto to Mr. Omer's residence to rest after his long journey and that the evening will be spent quietly in a social way. The English boy scouts are to be quartered at the model military camp on the exhibition grounds, and will take part in the review of 3500 recruits before the grand stand after Baden-Powell presses the button.

THE CRITICS

Rev. J. E. Starr Deplores the Lack of Men Who Are Willing to Devote Their Energies to the Cause of the People.

There was eloquence, there was practical philosophy and there was genuine modern Christianity in the utterances last night of Rev. J. Edward Starr of Barrie, who occupied the pulpit of Simpson-ave. Church, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Baker. The theme was "Jesus and The Corporation," and he came out fearlessly with an arraignment of the church for its remissness in believing an act as if the kingdom of heaven were above, in the other world, when as Jesus said, "The kingdom of heaven is within you." He pointed out the work for the social and industrial revolution which would make our generation a genuine Christianity outside the church as well as in it. He instanced the case of the "Ontario" as a note for their upholding of the church people against the corruptors, corporations and trust-grabbers, and who were slowly but surely bringing about the annihilation of the church. He declared that these gentlemen were not Christians in the mere conventional sense of the term, yet they were talking of a "real practical" way, the ideal of Jesus. Corruption in Canada. Mr. Starr closed his address, or lecture, or sermon, with a practical application. When C. E. Russell asked the Rev. Mr. Starr, "What is the best work you can do on political economy," they replied, "The sermon on the Mount."

MESSAGES FROM SPIRIT LAND

Late Prof. Wm. James Will Attempt Experiment.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 28.—To some of the members of the Society for Psychical Research, the passing of Prof. William James, the Harvard psychologist, means more than the loss of one of the most eminent of our countrymen. It means the loss of a man whose life was a message to the world. The report of the committee was adopted as a whole by almost unanimous vote. In order to give every opportunity to be given for investigation, conference moved that Dr. Cleaver be heard Monday morning.

ALDERSHOT

ALDERSHOT, Aug. 28.—(From our man with the regiment.)—We're here at last and the welcome we got is one of the greatest that any regiment ever had, so we are told. Thirty thousand people crowded around the depot late last evening and along the route of march to the barracks, and we got the real hearty British cheers that we've all read about. There were decorations along the way, too, and half a dozen bands from the British troops now here to "play us in."

SELLING A FARM

The following letter from H. Gilbert of Mansfield, Ont., shows what the World can do in selling farm property and other real estate: The World Newspaper Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont. Gentlemen: Your letter enclosing card from Mr. Lillie has been given you credit for the great advertising medium with which you are connected. Since advertising my farm I have had no time for anything else but answer correspondence regarding same. Anyone wishing to sell property of the kind will be well paid by patronizing your paper. Yours very truly, H. Gilbert, Mansfield, Ont., Aug. 25, 1910.

ALDERSHOT A MAGNET

LONDON, Aug. 28.—(C.A.P.)—Altho arriving at Aldershot very late, the Q.O.R. were not disappointed at their reception. When the first train steamed in, it was a signal for cheers from the ranks, which did not cease until the regiment reached Rushmore. Col. Sir Hy. Pallat was met by General H. M. Lawson and a large staff, Chairman Underwood and members of the urban council. Lady Pallat received a bouquet. In reply to the council's address, Col. Pallat said the world here at Aldershot was a magnet for soldiers of the Anglo-Saxon race. That was why the Queen's Own Rifles were there. They were only one unit, but they represented a citizen army that was ready and willing at any time to come to the help of the motherland when required. Five bands played the regiment to camp thru decorated streets lined with enthusiastic spectators, and no regiment ever had such a welcome at Aldershot.

A RETROSPECT
