Victory at Dobruja Russians and Roumanians Defeat Germans, Bulgarians and Turks After Furious Battle Lasting Six Days, and Mackenzen's Eastern Drive Is Stopped.

FOE RETREATS IN DOBRUDJA AFTER BIG SIX DAYS' BATTLE

Germans, Bulgars and Turks Under Mackenzen's Leadership Are Decisively Defeated by Russo-Roumanian Forces and Fall Back, Burning Villages To Retard Pursuit--Serbs Press Upon Monastir, Where Stage Is Set for Battle.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The latest official communication from Bucharest confirms the entente reports that the great battle in Dobruja has ended in the defeat of the central powers after six days fighting. The battle began last Friday and gradually increased in scope and intensity until Tuesday evening, with the result that on Wednesday the Germans, Bulgars and Turks, crushed, were forced to withdraw, burning villages in their line of retreat in an effort to retard their pursuers.

Times Denounces Cabinet as Band of Puppets and Intriguers. LONDON, Sept. 22.—The Times, in an editorial urging sterner methods by the entente in Greece, says: "The new Greek cabinet is a collection of puppets and intriguers, whose position would be merely ludicrous were it not fraught with danger to their country, and embarrassment to the allies."

TEUTONS LOSE AGAIN

Bomb Attacks Against Antipodeans Bring Further Setback. The Germans launched bombing attacks in the sector held by the New Zealanders today. These were repulsed, and a further loss in territory was sustained by the enemy, by the British advancing in the face of his attacks and making their positions solid in the captured ground.

CANADIANS TOOK VILLAGE BEFORE ENEMY GOT BREATH

Third Line Defences of Courcellette Quickly Captured and Advance Was Continued.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Morning Post's correspondent writes about the taking of Courcellette by the Canadians in an unexpected attack against the enemy. The Canadians were told to take the sugar refinery and the German third line trenches, and then sit down at the edge of the village. This was done so speedily that the Bavarians were driven into Courcellette and had no time to reorganize. The Canadians advanced and captured the village with little trouble. The Canadians stalked the Bavarians silently and with cold ferocity. There is little doubt that the Germans dislike the Canadian type of foe and acutely dislike being stalked by Indians in khaki.

CANADIANS SURPRISE ENEMY IN CHARGE AT COURCELETTE

Second Attack on Village Unexpectedly by Germans, Many of Whom Are Easily Trapped in Dugouts--Canadians Dash On to Objective Beyond Village, and Repel Seven Counter-Attacks.

There were lots of funny things. Now I remember them. "After we had established ourselves beyond the village and things were pretty well cleaned up I saw a Canadian and a German prisoner who had been fighting fiercely minutes before good naturedly discussing the old theme, when the war would be over. It ended by the German declaration that it would be over when the allies admitted that they were licked. The German insisted that his friends would come back and take Courcellette and the Canadian told him not in a thousand years—that not enough Germans had been born yet to do it."

DECISIVE MAJORITIES MAKE MOVE ON TRENT

New Minister of Public Works and Running Mate Win Easily.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Sept. 21.—Hon. F. B. Smith, the new minister of public works, and W. H. Sutton were returned today for the County of Carleton, Upper, Liberals by a large majority, the vote standing: Smith 2848, Sutton 2733. McCain 2520, Upkin 217. The opposition, owing largely to the fact that J. K. Fleming, former premier, who was condemned by a royal commission, was made an issue in the campaign by the government candidates, hoped to win or at least cut down Smith's previous majority of 735 substantially.

ITALIANS CAPTURE HILL STRONGHOLD

Latin Troops Obtain Successful Results From Alpine Offensive.

ROME, Sept. 21.—Italian troops have occupied a new position east of Gorizia on the Isonzo front, and repulsed an Austrian attack in the Carso sector, says the official statement issued here today by the war office. The Italian offensive in the mountain region north of Trent continues. The statement follows: "Our outposts on Lake Garda were shelled ineffectively by the enemy. In the rough mountain regions between the Vanoi Cleson and the Astey valleys our offensive has been continued obstinately, notwithstanding heavy snowfalls. On Tuesday afternoon an attempt by the enemy to attack on the northern slopes of Monte Col Bricon failed completely. "Along the Julian Alps, east of the Isonzo front, artillery activity was limited by the heavy rain which fell throughout the night. In the hills east of Gorizia, our troops attacked and captured a new position near Santa Caterina. On the Carso frontments of the enemy attempted to surprise Hill 209 to the south of Villanova, but were promptly driven off by us."

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 21, via London, Sept. 22.—Some of the best stories of the battle are told only after some battalions which have been in a big attack are out of the line. Then, after they have slept they recall vivid incidents in the midst of changes and the struggle for positions. They live over again their sleepless nights and days when they faced death in their grapple with the foe. Stories, laughable and ridiculous, are mixed with the tragic. Today the correspondent has been visiting the Canadian battalions after their storming of Courcellette. These men, their eyes blinking after sleeping the clock round, had taken more than their number of prisoners in the swift rush through the village. The Germans thought the attack was over. They did not anticipate the second charge, which came just before dusk. They were in their deep dugouts taking cover from a sudden burst of shells when, as the shells hit, the Canadians were at their doors. The battalion which took the eastern end of the village had got up only just in time to deploy for the attack. The intente set for it, and then rushed across the open under the German curtains of shellfire, and the officers could not give detailed instructions to their men before they went forward. They had to trust to the intelligence and initiative of the men to adapt themselves to a definite plan. "Turning corners in and out the men cleared the streets of Germans and saw that the enemy were gathered. Given another half hour and the enemy would have organized their defence. As it was, they were helplessly confined in their cellars. Canadian Bo's Exploit. One boy of 19 deposed a dugout of 40 Germans and marched them away as prisoners, according to the accounts of his comrades. One of the two battalion commanders captured was a baron. "Being an aristocrat he put on a good deal of airs," said a Canadian colonel, "but I took him aside and said it was out of places and that I was too busy to be ceremonious. Then he became amiable. Two German officers worked like Trojans locking after their own and helping to look after the British wounded. They objected to being kept under guard, saying that they were medical officers and not combatants. "Sorry, but there are too many of your friends still armed in the dugouts to let you circulate about this village freely," was the answer to their protest. The baron was sent across the open with the other prisoners under a Red Cross flag, and with the warning, "If you put a finger on us we cannot help it." The baron was wounded in the leg by German shrapnel. One Canadian officer of small stature, as he turned a corner found himself confronted by an enormous Prussian, but got the drop on him. "Only business was to get on thru the village to our objective," said the officer. "That big German became a white elephant. I did not want to spare any man just then to guard him, so I drove him on ahead of me, making him keep his hands up. The thing was ludicrous in the midst of bursting shells and houses burning, and no mousing picture operator in sight."
