Contest Correspondence

WURRA, WURRA!

Motion Picture Editor: Put down twelve votes for our little "Mary Pickford" story. I leave America for the "Cuckoo" country. Top of the morn to her, God bless her. Nothing's too good for her. Irish "Gogorra," if she loses this contest, may th' devil be ather ye liver more.

Irish Fusilier.

OTHERS NEED THEM.

Dovercourt road. Motion Picture Editor: Enclosed please find a coupon in favor of Marguerite Clark. Why is it that there is seldom a letter printed in your favor, she being so well up in the list? Wishing Margie every success, Harry Webster.

SURPRISED AT PAULINE.

Motion Picture Editor: I was quite surprised to see that Pauline Frederick was so near the bottom of the list. It seems to me that some people don't know a clever actress when they see one. Mary Pickford is very fine in her own way, and in the class of pictures in which she is starred, but when it comes to portraying jealousy, hatred, love and deceitfulness, as is portrayed in "Bella Donna" and "The Spider," Pauline Frederick is can see nothing in her acting that is worthy of the top place in this contest. S. R. S.

CAN SHE COME BACK?

Dear Sir: Here enclosed six votes for the popular star, Miss Grace Currier. We are trying our very best to boost Grace Currier, but she has dropped a little last week, but hope she will regain and keep her lead until contest closes. Mary Pickford is a fairly good actress, but she certainly should not be first in my opinion, as there are several others that are not getting the praise they should, including Violet Mersereau, J. Warren Kerrigan and Cleo Madison, but am glad to see them gaining slowly. Wishing them all success in this contest. D. P.

W. R. N.'S. WAY.

Motion Picture Editor: Enclosed please find 26 votes for Wallace Reid. I have seen this actor in several of his several Lasky productions, and consider him by far the handsomest actor on the screen. Of course, I suppose his acting is not popular with the common herd, as he does not indulge in the exaggerated gestures and make-up that we observe in far more experienced stars. I am rather surprised at "Three School Girl Fans" even mentioning him in the same breath with J. Warren Kerrigan. Proverbially speaking, surely Henry Wallace Reid deserves a higher position than his present one. I am sure that Geraldine Farrar, Tom Forman, Marguerite Clark, Henry Walthall and Sessue Hayakawa. W.
