Men's and Young Men's Tweed Suits TODAY at $43.50

CONCISELY states a fact which should be of unusual interest. An elaborate presentation of investment opportunities of a very rare, and certainly of a most sound nature, is featured by this extraordinary offering. It is an event in which most Toronto men, for many reasons, will make it a point to participate. Today might well be called men's day in the Store, for it's a day when men can effect worth-while savings in just the things they need.

The Suits at $43.50 Have Been Greatly Reduced

And the men who are accustomed to wearing clothes of the quality, style and finish of these are in the habit of paying five to thirty dollars more, for into the price of every suit in this group we've made a direct substantial cut.

The cloths are fine, soft, all-wool and wool and cotton tweeds, of smooth or chevrot finish, or of the homespun effect that's so desirable in summer. In medium and dark greens, blue, greys and browns in rich mixtures, tasteful stripes and smart checks. A few novelty suits are of union wool and cotton covert cloth in medium fawn.

Some backs are half belted, but most are plain, fitted to the body, or of conservative cut.

The sleeves are plain or with cuffs or bell shape with slit.

The vests close with five buttons, and are of fashionable height.

The trousers are tailored straight-cut style, have tunnel belt loops, five pockets, and will be finished to measurement, plain or with cuff bottoms.

There are not, of course, all sizes in each style and pattern, but there are sizes 34 to 40 in the lot.

A man may come, however, feeling assured that he'll make a satisfactory choice. If you can, plan to be here during the first hours of morning business.

THE PRICE
$43.50

The lapels are the soft, rolling type—peaked or notched.
 The pockets are patch, with or without flaps, or regular flap style, straight or slanted, and some are waist high.

AN OVERSEAS GIFT OF SPEAKER'S CHAIR

Accepted by Federal House—Token of Goodwill Between Parliaments.

Ottawa, June 8.—(By Canadian Press)—The House of Commons this afternoon, on the motion of Sir Robert Borden, seconded by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, accepted the offer of a speaker's chair made by the lord chancellor and the speaker of the British House of Commons, and by the members of the Empire Parliamentary Association in the House of Lords and in the House of Commons. The formal motion—that the offer be gratefully accepted, provided that Speaker Rhoades should notify the donors of the high appreciation of this House of the offer, and particularly of the "sympathy and goodwill it expresses."

Sir Robert Borden, in presenting the motion of acceptance, said it had been the custom for many years that the speaker of the Canadian House, on retiring, should take with him as a memorial of his occupancy, the chair itself. If the gift were accepted that custom could not very well prevail in the future.

Hon. Jacques Bureau: "Why not give him a miniature?" (Laughter.)
 Speaker Rhoades said that there had already been many indications of the goodwill of our brethren of the great mother parliament. This further token of goodwill was but another illustration of the spirit of comradeship which prevailed between the Canadian parliament and the parliament of the United Kingdom.

in seconding Mr. King said if there was one thing above another which Canada had reason to be proud of, it was that its parliamentary institutions to all intents and purposes, were replicas of the parliamentary institutions of the mother country. The motion was carried with enthusiasm.

EAMON DE VALERA TRIMS HIS PLANK

Will Ask Republican Convention to Incorporate It in the Platform.

Chicago, June 8.—Eamon de Valera, self-styled "president of the Irish republic," and Frank P. Walsh yesterday finished the tentative draft of the Irish plank they will ask the committee on resolutions to incorporate in the Republican platform. As drawn, it covers without naming soviet Russia and Plume. It was recognized by the Irish sympathizers that anything approximating an attempt to force favorable action by the resolutions committee would be bad tactics, and it was decided to abandon, along with picketing, the plan to canvass all of the delegates to the convention.

In the event of the committee and the convention refusing to "go the full distance," it was considered by leaders, including de Valera, that a plank expressing sympathy with the aspirations of the Irish people, and expressing a hope that those will be gratified by the English people, will be better than no recognition at all.

For such a plank there is Republican precedent, the convention of 1890 having declared its sympathy with the home rule movement.

The plank to be presented to the resolution committee, as it now stands, is as follows: "Mindful of the circumstances of the birth of our own nation, we reassert that all governments derive their just powers from consent of the governed.

Deny Right to Enslave.
 "We deny the right of strong nations to enslave the weak and to make them subject to their interests. We believe attempts to prosecute claims to a right to be fruitful sources of wars. Accordingly, in the interests of world peace and because America has always stood for justice, we offer our traditional sympathy to all nations such as Ireland rightfully struggling to be free.

"We firmly stand by our right in law, and will support the continuance of our established practice of recognizing recognition without intervention in all such cases and where the people of a nation as in Ireland have repudiated the alien government's claim to rule them, and by a free vote of the people have set up a republic and chosen a government to which they yield willing obedience, it will be the policy of our party to favor the recognition by our government of such republics, and in particular the republic of Ireland in formal and official recognition, thus vindicating these principles for which our soldiers offered up their lives in the recent war."

OBJECT TO INTERFERENCE WITH BRITISH AFFAIRS

Worcester, Mass., June 8.—The grand commandery of Knights of Malta for Massachusetts, Rhodes Island and Connecticut, in convention here today, adopted a resolution protesting against the Republican national convention "interfering in their platform with the domestic affairs of Great Britain, especially with the Irish claims for independence, because to do so would disturb the friendly relations created by our common sacrifices in the late world war, and would be a crime against civilization."

CO-OPERATION OF NAVIES IS BULWARK

Earl Beatty Says It Must Form Integral Part of Imperial Defence.

London, June 8.—Earl Beatty, speaking at the western Australian dinner here, said that the first most important lesson of the war was that Dominion naval co-operation must form the integral part of imperial naval defence. The royal Australian navy was an excellent example of the form co-operation can take. It had been accepted that the co-operation by Dominion navies, manned by Dominion men and based upon Dominion ports, would be the most useful and efficacious way of fostering it as would that national pride in naval affairs and a knowledge of naval history with which the empire was so intimately connected. He therefore asked all members of the empire to put away parochial views and look at the problem as a whole, realizing that if disaster befall one unit it affected the whole empire.

Thelus is situated in the famous Vimy Ridge district, and before the war had a population of about 800.
