ARREST SAVED HECTOR'S LIFE

Mrs. Bettle's Father Was Prepared to Shoot Man Who Attacked Her.

The story of attempted assault upon Mrs. Judson Bettle, of Passekeag yesterday, by a colored lad named George Hector, has caused a great deal of talk and much indignant comment. In response to orders received from headquarters shortly after the occurrence, Police Officer John Collins, of the I. C. R. staff, left for Passekeag on the Sussex train. Upon his arrival at Hampton, however, he learned that Constable Campbell had just reached there with his prisoner, so he stopped off at the Kings county shiretown.

On the No. 1 express, which reached Hampton shortly after 8 o'clock, Mrs. Bettle's father, Constable Joseph Farmer, arrived, and according to bystanders it would have fared ill with Hector had he not been safely locked in jail, for the irate father was armed with two loaded revolvers and judging from his looks and actions, it would have been all-day with the colored gentleman had he happened to run across him.

2. The Lawton Co., Ltd., v. Thompson Manufacturing Co., Ltd.; Bustin & Porter.
3. Oxley v. C. G. Freeze; G. H. V. Belyea.

In opening Judge Forbes said that it was with great pleasure that he met the grand jury on this occasion as there were many familiar faces.

His honor suggested that there had been so much crime committed in the community for usually he had the extreme pleasure of stating that he was so pleased with the order of our community. The judge instructed the jurors to find true bills in all cases if they believed that true bills should be found.

His honor reviewed first the case of The King vs. Patrick Murray. It will be remembered that Murray was accused of stealing a watch from a man named McGivern. His honor said that the jury should find a true bill in the case.

The second case was that of the King vs. William Pierce. The defendant was before Judge Ritchie for stealing a coat valued at $25 from Joseph Grey and selling it to a pawn dealer for 25 cents. Judge Forbes said that pawn shops were too numerous in the city and he believed that the mayor is going to license them wholesale. His honor described them as a menace to the community. He deemed them to be a premium for young people to steal. His honor also stated that he believed that when Officers Greer and White went to search the evidence in the discharge of their duty by a "bush constable." The judge said that it was high time for the court to take a hand in such affairs and he regretted exceedingly that the officers did not arrest the "bush constable." A gentleman who said he saw Lane here interrupted the court that Judge Forbes wholesale requested Officer Greer to take charge of him until he had finished.

His honor then took up the case of the King vs. Sam Sing. The judge said that chinamen had arrived from the flowery kingdom. They are a people who sometimes have together and sometimes they do not. Frequently there is a great deal of mischief about their movements. His honor said that there might be malice in the case. The carpenters would give evidence that Sam Sing was not lost for trunk during the time that the commerce plaintiff alleges that he took $38 from it. Before a true bill could be found, the jury would have to believe that Sam Sing took the money himself and put it in this trunk. If the jury did not know that by the evidence they should give him the benefit of the doubt.

Speaking of the case of the King vs. Hugh F. Linden, Judge Forbes said that he believed Linden to be a homeless young man, and then told the circumstances of Linden giving cheques on the Royal Bank. His honor said that if the jury thought that Linden intended to defraud then they should find a true bill.

Referring to the case of the King vs. Harry B. White, for forgery, His honor said that it was the most painful and the most troublesome case on the criminal docket. White is charged with eleven counts. Although the defendant was highly respected in this city, yet the law considers the moral relations between employer and employee, and if guilty he must be adjudged so.

The case of larceny against White for $611 was abandoned by the solicitor-general, and a nolle prosequi was entered. Judge Forbes said that he could not see anything yet in the evidence that would make White guilty. If, however, the jury though that White used his authority, given to him by the Dominion Express Co., in an improper manner, then they should bring in a true bill.

That concluded the judge's charge to the grand jury and the jury retired. Immediately, the man who had previously interrupted the court was called to the front. He told a long tale about the arrest of Pierce, and finally ended up by saying "I'm not the man you mean." There a companion of his addressed the court as follows: "Excuse me, he's not the man, I'm the man."

"They put a great piece in the paper about me. I simply told Officer Greer not to put the bracelets on Pierce's arms until he had gotten a better title."

Judge—"What was it your business? Your ignorance is sufficient to discharge you. In future mind your own business, while in St. John that has seldom been surpassed. And it didn't cost his stone a cent."

Judge to Montreal interpreter—"Are you a Chinaman?"

Ans—"Yes."

Judge—"To what denomination do you belong?"

Ans.—"Yes."

Judge—"To what denomination do you belong?"

Mr. Chapman—"He must be all right." (Laughter.)

The court adjourned until 2.30 this afternoon, when the jury will return.

Judge Forbes also said that the jury should also find a true bill against Joseph Guffen as the name Guffen was a familiar one in criminal circles, but, added the judge, "This should not prejudice this case."

MONTREAL STOCK MARKET

MONTREAL, May 22—(Special)—A further advance of MacKay common was the striking feature of the stock market this morning. The stock went to 73 1-4 after opening at 74 1-2 thus creating a new high record with the price of common creating that of preferred, which sold yesterday at 74 3-4. Other issues which figured in the dealings were Colored Cotton, 59, Dominion 31 1-8, Mont Power, 92, Detroit, 95, Ohio Traction, 35 1-2.

Two bootblacks, two carpenters and one painter have been reported by Sergeant Campbell for working in the city without licenses.

Mr. Jamesny Jones says he observes that the typhoid outbreak has reduced the number of milk-and-water men in the town, but there are some here.

THE FERRY REPAIRS.

Anxious Enquirer wants to know how much money is to be spent on repairs to the new steamer Ludlow.

This is a difficult question to answer. We sometimes hear of an accident on the Ludlow were an old steamer, an estimate might be made, but she is now. It may therefore cost a great deal more to repair her. Neither is it known when she will be put on the route again. So much for all we generally know that there is a profound belief among the people of the west side that if a time should ever come when there was no ferry steamer under repair the harbor would go out and stay below Partridge Island. Such experiences are not easily accounted for, but it is a fact that there always has been a ferry steamer undergoing repairs so that side of the harbor. It seems altogether likely that there always will be one, for ever since regarding the loss of the harbor need not now be entertained.

With regard to the cost of repairs, or there are now three ferry steamers instead of two, the expense will naturally be greater. The ferry committee has a wider field for experiment. Wun Lung has not got her papers yet, and it may be possible to spend a few hundreds of dollars on her, if the other two should ever be both in good running condition at the same time.

Anxious Enquirer may be assured that reasonable efforts will be made to make the expenditure for repairs as large as possible. Possibly a record may be made this year.

One of the Montreal papers has started quite an interest to persons on the street this evening. Presumably he had come to some other town.

PRESTON AGAIN IN WITNESS BOX

North Atlantic Trading Company Enquiry Continued This Morning---Mr. Preston Tells How the Company Worked in Scandinavia---Hon. Mr. Fisher as Examiner.

OTTAWA, May 22—(Special)—W. R. Preston was before the Agriculture Committee this morning. He was examined by Hon. Sydney Fisher on the question of immigration on the European Continent.

The witness explained the difficulties that were in the way of carrying on an immigration propaganda in Europe. He described the work of booking agents and referred briefly to the policies and legislative enactments which were in the way of successfully conducting immigration work in Continental Europe.

In Scandinavia a British consul was fined because he gave the standing of a certain firm outside and it turned out that this firm wanted fees. The North Atlantic Trading Company had an office in Scandinavia and managed to carry on work without violating the law because it was simply an office for giving out free booking office or a government office. It was simply an office for giving out information regarding Canada. A member of the committee said that people were allowed to emigrate and got cheap rates to migration on the European Continent.

Mr. Preston was the ones were allowed to emigrate but not an special rates. He had an interview with the Premier of Austria on the subject:

Mr. Monk objected to the manner in which Mr. Fisher was conducting the examining by pointing leading questions. Mr. Fisher said that he was not a lawyer.

Mr. Derbyshire—"You are not doing very bad for a farmer."

Mr. Preston went on to say that the booking agents were under the control of the North Atlantic Steamship Conference, which was a combination that regulated the immigration by steamship lines. The relationship between the North Atlantic Trading Company and the Steamship Conference and the booking agents were good.

THE SCRIBE AND THE CIRCUS MAN

How a Barnum's Circus Representative Did a Good Piece of Presswork in St. John Last Week.

St. John entertained a star unawares last week when R. M. Harvie, of the advance staff of Barnum's circus struck town. Mr. Harvie as a "publicity promoter" is one of the best in the business, and theatrical people and those connected with the sawdust ring aver that the log of tricks he carries is probably exceeded only by that in the possession of Tody Hamilton. Mr. Hamilton, be it known, is also on the pay-roll of the Barnum and Bailey people.

Mr. Harvie at any rate is the goods and he accomplished a piece of press work while in St. John that has seldom been surpassed. And it didn't cost his stone a cent.

Early during his stay here Mr. Harvie met a reporter. Introductions followed and that night the scribe's paper had the announcement that Mr. Harvie was here and he ascertained that the representative sent out to the greatest show on earth, which travelled in 87 cars, carried 960 people, wasted no time on a street parade, and so on ad lib. ad infinitum. Stroke No. 1 for Mr. Harvie.

The next day the profits of St. John were greatly informed that Barnum's circus might not come after all, as it would be very difficult to secure grounds large enough to accommodate "the greatest show on earth, which travelled in 87 cars, etc., etc., to the tune of a quarter column. Stroke No. 2 for Mr. Harvie.

Now these you very little doubt in the minds of many who read this announcement but that the circus would come and that the fact this grounds could not be secured large enough to hold it was being worked energetically by the shade press agent to call attention to the magnitude of the show.

The reporter, however, did not evidently believe that the circus man would not take advantage of the scribe's innocence and he doubtless sighed with relief when Mr. Harvie informed him that the circus might come after all and pitch its tents on Chief Clark's grounds in Lancaster. Another story about the 87 cars, the 960 employees, etc. Stroke No. 3 for Mr. Harvie.

Then the agent changed his mode of attack. This time it was the item which was too high. Another story and more good advertising for the big show. Stroke No. 4 for the circus man.

Next came the positive assurance that St. John people must really get along as best they may the summer without a sight of the big circus in 87 cars, etc., etc. This story continued good advertising, but a reduction in the rent of the grounds. Stroke No. 5 for Mr. Harvie.

And so it went on until finally it was definitely announced that the circus would surely appear here.

The problem that is now being considered is to what extent did the circus pay for the artless innocence it figured at the regular local rate of ten cents per line.

TALKED QUESTION OF RAILWAY RATES

OTTAWA, Ont., May 22—(Special)—Mr. Gordon, M. P., was heard before the Agriculture Committee this morning for a few minutes on the question of railway rates, in which he takes a deep interest. Last year he brought this matter up before the committee, and the result was that the commission had secured a reduction on rates from Ontario to the seaboard, of from 40 to 80c per car. He pointed out that the rates of traffic for 1,400 miles going west were just as high as for 5,000 of traffic flowing eastward.

There ought to be a leveling up of the rates to shippers going to Europe, and before leaving, he desired to lay this information and some papers he had on the subject before the committee.
