MR. IRWIN RESIGNS Thomas Irwin, appointed recently to the examining board for stationary engineers in place of the late Mr. Alcorn, has resigned without serving and thus leaves the vacancy still to be filled. In the meantime there are about fifty applicants for certificates waiting to be examined.

A change has been made recently in the provincial regulations, doing away with the old service certificates granted for two or more years service without examinations and the certificate of competency, granted after passing the examinations. In the future all engineers will be required to have the new stationary engineer's license; this will be issued at once without delay and all holders of certificates of competency and others will be required to qualify.

A TOUCHING TRIBUTE TO JOURNALISM (New York Times). If the Campbellville, Ky., Journal can be trusted—and we have neither reason nor excuse for suspecting that it lacks veracity—somebody modestly described as "an editor" has received the following highly interesting communication from one of his readers:

"Please send me a few copies of the paper containing the obituary of my aunt. Also publish the obituary clipping of the marriage of my niece, who lives in Lebanon. And I wish you would mention in your local column, if it don't cost anything, that I have two bull calves for sale. As my subscription is out, please stop my paper. Times are too bad to waste money on newspapers."

MUST FORFEIT CITIZENSHIP

Americans Take Oath of Allegiance To Enlist

NEW PROBLEM ARISES Liberal Interpretation of the Law Needed if U. S. Joins Allies—Many Now Holding Back

(Brooklyn Eagle) How many expatriated Americans are fighting in the armies of Europe the United States government has no means of knowing but it is believed that the number is considerable. The status of these former Americans, after the war is over in case they return to the United States will be a matter concerning the immigration authorities, and the handling of it may prove to be an extensive problem.

By the Act of March 2, 1907, Congress legislated that any American citizen shall be deemed to have expatriated himself when he has been naturalized in any foreign state in conformity with its laws, or when he has taken an oath of allegiance to any foreign state.

Enlistment in any foreign army, it is said by officials, involves the taking of an oath to support the sovereign and state to which the army belongs. Such an oath would automatically sever the citizenship of an American, whether he be native born or naturalized.

Whether or not a soldier in a foreign army would make such an American citizen or subject of the country to which he goes or whether he would be required to comply with its naturalization laws, he is not known. It was not sufficient to constitute foreign citizenship, then the American soldier of fortune would be a man without a country.

Take Military Oath Cable despatches from time to time have reported the death or wounding of Americans fighting in the European theatre. Most of these Americans have been with the British forces, a few with the French. It is known that many of these Americans went across the Canadian border and joined the expeditionary forces which were sent to Europe.

MURDER AND SUICIDE IN CELL IN PRISON Reading, Pa., July 19—Frank Snavely was murdered and his county prison today by Michael Pitinger, a cell mate, who cut his victim's throat with a breakfast knife. Pitinger then committed suicide by hanging himself.

Many people ask for advice because they want to be able to blame somebody later on. Just what the effect of this provision would be on the citizenship of Americans who enlist abroad if the United States went to war has not been determined. It is taken for granted that if this country should become a party to the conflict many Americans anxious to get into the fray would seek foreign enlistment as the only means of escaping their conscription, at least for a long time to come.

One provision of the act declares such an oath to constitute expatriation, while another says no American may expatriate himself while this country is at war. The government would scarcely be in a position to prevent its citizens from enlisting in foreign armies if they chose to do so. What is undeniably an act of expatriation now probably would not be in case the United States were at war, and though the act of 1907 apparently seeks to forbid the citizens to commit such an act.

THE BEST QUALITY AT A REASONABLE PRICE. Have YOUR Eyes Examined Frequently. Because eye-strain is often present where the sight is good. Because eye-strain always leads to headaches, squinting, nervousness and serious impairment of sight and health, unless corrected by properly fitted glasses. Because defects in refraction grow and the individual is not able to tell the condition of his own eyes. For these common-sense, practical reasons, you ought to have your eyes examined by a competent, reliable optometrist or oculist every two or three years, whether you wear glasses or not. Sharpe's offer you unequalled facilities for examination of your eyes and securing glasses if they are needed.

NEW MAIN WATER SUPPLY FOR NORTH END

What will be practically a new main water supply for the north end will be available when work is present in progress and contemplated is completed. The water and sewerage department is working now on a new line in Cedar Grove Crescent and when this is completed will lay a new section across Park street to connect with the Mount Pleasant main. The latter will be given an independent feed by the new ten inch pipe along City road and Gilbert's lane, from the new 36 inch pipe, thus furnishing ample water.

All the other end of the connection a new link will be laid in Military road connecting with Elm street, thus carrying a direct line from Marsh road to North End which is expected to improve the service and prove of exceptional value in emergencies.

The Cedar Grove Crescent, Adelaide and Metcalf street extensions will all be finished within another fortnight. The next work of importance will be the laying of a 300 foot stretch of fifteen inch sewer in Douglas avenue, from Bentley street to serve the dwellings which now drain into the fields behind and connect with the sewers at each end of the street. This will be a big job as a deep cut, mostly through solid rock, is required.
