L. JOHNSON RESIGNS POST IN SCOUT WORK

Secretary of District Retires To Go Into Commercial Life

HAS DONE MUCH FOR ORGANIZATION

Praised by Leaders Here for Good Work He Has Done

The Boy Scout movement in Saint John is losing the valued services of Leonard L. Johnson as district secretary, though his interest and some of his spare time will continue to be given to the work of the scout association. Mr. Johnson is going into commercial life on the staff of one of the large business houses of the city, and necessarily, this prevents him being an all time official in the scout work. He will carry on, however, as scoutmaster of the Boys' Industrial Home troop.

AT END OF APRIL

News that he had tendered his resignation became known today. It is to take effect at the end of this month. He has held this position for the last three years and has been a deeply interested and hustling worker, a decided factor in building up the scout organization and has seen it increase largely in number of troops and members. The same applies to his work for the Wolf Cubs in the latter work he has been assistant commissioner for his district. He retires from his offices with the whole scout and cub organization in better condition in membership, in work and in interest than it has ever been since. He is also a former scout and a Gilwell scout. He is a member of the Saint John Rover Scout first aid team, which won the New Brunswick championship recently, and has taken examinations for the Dominion championship and the Wallace Nesbitt general championship. The results are expected in June.

Mr. Johnson has been a hard worker of love and has shown keen enthusiasm that has made much for the success achieved. It was with mixed regret that the officials of the organization learned of his decision to resign.

COMMISSIONER SPEAKS

Dr. H. B. Peat, district commissioner, when asked regarding the resignation of Mr. Johnson, said this morning that he personally was very glad of the opportunity to voice the appreciation in which Mr. Johnson was held by officers of the organization. A very great part of the success of the Boy Scout movement was due to him, Dr. Peat said. He had always filled his position in a most acceptable manner and had done much to build up the movement in this district. The doctor said they were glad Mr. Johnson was not going away and would still take an interest in Boy Scout work.

ADDRESS ON MUSIC

Dr. W. P. Broderick Speaks to Holy Name Society—Musical Numbers

Under the auspices of the Holy Name Society of the Assumption parish on excellent musical program was given in St. Patrick's hall last night. A large audience attended. E. J. Owens was chairman. Dr. W. P. Broderick gave an excellent address, was an appreciation of music. The numbers on the program included selections by a quartet composed of Miss Bernice Mooney, Miss Vida Waterbury, Harold Gillis and F. S. A. McMullin. Vocal solos by Miss Flood, Harold Gillis, Miss B. Mooney, Miss Waterbury and Mr. McMullin and trio selections by Mrs. C. O. Morris, Joseph Moore and F. J. Joyce. All were thanked on motion of Thomas Hefferman, seconded by LeBaron Quigg.

Weddings

Ferris-McInerney

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception at Nuptial mass by Rev. Joseph Floyd at 6 o'clock on Saturday morning, when Miss Evelyn Gert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James G. McInerney, of 23 White street, became the bride of Charles Gordon Ferris of Hartford, Conn. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Theresa Y. McInerney who was attired in tomato Canton crepe with shoes and hat to match. The bridegroom was attended by James A. McInerney, brother of the bride. After the ceremony a dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. After a short wedding tour, Mr. and Mrs. Ferris will reside in Hartford. The bridegroom's present to the bride was a check. They received many beautiful presents, including a check from the bride's parents.

BIRDS IN COUNCIL

Yesterday in the Old Burying Ground a convention consisting of large robins, red-headed sparrows or a variety of woodpecker, hedge sparrows and "juncos," otherwise known as bluebirds, assembled in the shrubbery and talked and it would appear from their animated chatter they were protesting against the unpreparedness of their old haunts for spring occupancy. It was a springlike touch although the air was chilly.

APPLICATION REFUSED.

Before Judge J. A. Barry, in the Saint John County Court, an application was made on behalf of the defendants in the case of A. G. Shoolbred vs. Rosenhek & Glickman to change the venue from Saint John county to Restigouche county. A. B. Gilbert appeared for the defendants in support of the application, and Kenneth A. Wilson for the plaintiff, against. The application was dismissed and the action directed to be tried at the next term of the Saint John County Court.

As Hiram Sees It

CLIFTON SPRINGS, N. Y.—Well, sir, for a man that wants all his complaints looked into—an' somebody fust'n' around all the time—I guess I've come to the end of a perfect day. The nurse gimme a sleepin' tablet 'as night—an' it took two hours to wake me up this mornin'. Anyway two of 'em was at the door. They come in an' one of 'em gimme some orders an' took my pulse an' went right away. The other one handed out a spear an' told me to roll up my sleeve. "I hed some blood took out o' my other arm yesterday," says I. "Well, I'm gonto put somethin' into this one," says she. "Let 'er go," says I—an' she did. An' she didn't hurt me, neither. Then she gimme some orders an' went away—an' I hed my breakfast. Then in come another nurse with a sort of a timetable. "This here," says she, "tells what treatments you're to have—an' the day an' the hour." "Just a minit," says I, after I looked at it. "Let me git this thing straight. I got three cards here now tellin' me what I got to do today—besides one I fergot yesterday. 'Well,' says she, 'the only one you down there fer today.' An' off she went—an' in come another one to take my order fer breakfast tomorrow. After that they let me git up an' dress—an' start on my rounds. An' that's a story in itself. I'll tell it tomorrow. Here's another nurse comin'. She'll order me off to bed."

EARLY VOTE IN CITY ELECTION TODAY SLIGHT

More Polling At Noon As Workers At Lunch Hour

CANDIDATES ALL BUSY MEN TODAY

Polls Close At 7—Telegraph-Journal Will Publish Results in Extra

THERE WAS not much activity at the city polling booth this morning in connection with today's election of a Mayor and two commissioners. Though there was brilliant sunshine, cutting wind made it uncomfortable for the outside workers who were not so numerous as usual. Even the ranks of the habitual election staffs were thinner than other ballottings, apparently an indication of the proportionate lack of interest in today's contest.

EXPECT LIGHT VOTE.

Friends of the candidates were on hand with automobiles and there were public conveyances of the kind under hire. Some bore printed legends indicating the candidate in whose interest they were being utilized but up until the 12 to 1 o'clock rush of lunch people the cars were not requisitioned very often. It was a slow morning at all the booths and Commissioner Wigmore and Bullock, old campaigners, said that they did not expect a heavy total vote would be polled.

CANDIDATES BUSY.

Up to mid-day any remarks indicating the outcome of the election were conjectural. All the candidates were busy visiting polling booths in continuous round. Dr. Barton expected to get a large vote from the fraternities with which he is connected and a West Saint John majority. A. M. Rowan's workers were banking on a solid North End. Dr. White made no observations as to the volume of his vote but his managers were certain he would receive a very generous proportion of the total vote cast in all divisions with a distinct majority in Queens, Dulken, Sydney, Victoria and other wards.

FOR COMMISSIONERS.

Amongst the candidates for the two vacant commissionerships active campaigning was in progress from the opening of the polls by Alexander Corbett, George Carvill, John B. Jones, Commissioner Wigmore and Commissioner Bullock and R. J. Logan.

Members of the candidates' households assisted in some instances in the solicitation of votes by personally accompanying the automobiles on check-up of names at the polling divisions. Very little printed matter was exposed to view.

At the noon-hour the bulk of the voting was done, continuing until after 2 o'clock when automobiles and household folk not engaged in downtown business, particularly women workers, were expected there would be another flurry when the 5 o'clock supper crowd was released from work.

Liquor inspectors were especially vigilant during the forenoon. Even the once-banned election cigar did not cast much of its malignant aroma on the belated spring air.

The polls will close at 7 o'clock tonight. The Telegraph-Journal will issue a special edition with the returns.

THREE BIRTHDAY PARTIES ARE HELD

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Wakeham, Albert street, entertained 26 relatives and friends, at their home on Saturday evening on Mrs. Wakeham's birthday. The guest of honor received beautiful gifts, coupled with congratulations. The nicely appointed supper table was centered with a three tier birthday cake, illuminated with pink and green candles and there were favors for all the guests. The evening was pleasantly spent in games and music. George Wakeham, several violin solos. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. P. Choppin, 96 Wright street, entertained on Saturday in honor of the 4th birthday of her daughter, Gertrude and a happy time was had by the young guests. The guest of honor received many beautiful gifts. At the tea hour the hostess was assisted in serving by Miss Kathleen Woodley. The dining table was centered with a light decorated cake bearing eight lighted candles. Those present included Jean Hay, Mary Manks, Jean Lawson, Doris Woodley, Mary Donovan, Betty Bain and Harold and James Choppin. Mrs. Frank Leeman, Princess street, entertained a number of young people at her residence on Friday afternoon, from 4 to 7 o'clock on the fifth birthday of her daughter Lillian. Games and music were enjoyed and at the tea hour the hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Walter McNeil, Mrs. Edwards, and Miss Gladys Vaughan. Those present were The Misses Florence Verge, Agnes Smith, Audrey Leroy, Margaret Verge, Norah Mills, Helen Smith, Elsie Roberts, Clara Green, Rita Ryan, Muriel Woods, Pearl Woods, Betty Lyons, Patricia Carr, Patricia Coughlan, Dorothy Roberts, Anna McNeil, Margaret Vaughan, Alma Vaughan, Deborah Nichols and Master Wilbert Coughlan.
