THE PEOPLE MAKE A COUNTRY (Edmonton Journal) In his address at Tuesday's luncheon Lieut.-Col. Biggar told how, when driving along an Ontario country road, he was given a man a lift. The latter began the conversation by saying: "Do you know, I have been walking up and down this road for two months and you are the first person who has picked me up. It seems strange to me that no one has done so, because, you see, I come from the west." As was to be expected, they were immediately on good terms and began to compare the two parts of the Dominion. It was a singularly beautiful locality through which they were passing and Lieut.-Col. Biggar said, pointing to one piece of landscape: "You have to admit it is pretty hard to match that out west." To which the scornful reply of his companion was: "Fah! It's the people that make a country."
