BASEBALL.

The Ruth Case.
(New York Times.)
Judge Landis has spoken and the case of Babe Ruth and other Yankees who killed his authority last October is now something of a closed incident. The eminent jurist, in fact, thus described it a few days ago when he was asked, after his arrival at Buffalo for the minor league convalescence, to discuss the affair.

From the time that Ruth and his ill-advised teammates set out on their tour in spite of warnings, there has been no tendency among fair-minded sport followers to condone the act. All regarded the rule as unfair, particularly to Ruth, but there was a general agreement that punishment was due under the conditions. The rule was in the books long before Ruth came into the major leagues and it was unfortunate that Ruth or any other player had to suffer through in the spring that it cannot regain a contending position. This would mean that Ruth's early absence would affect the attendance and receipts throughout the season. Meanwhile the faithful Yanks will be under a handicap in the early weeks of the season and their pension chances for 1922 may go glimmering during the period covering the suspension of Ruth and Meusel. The two its workings. However, the game must take precedence over the individual and it was for the good of the game that the rule was framed originally.

The club owners, who invested a small fortune in Ruth and pay him a big salary in addition, will lose his worth as a drawing card for at least five weeks.
The team will be handicapped in the penultimate fight and may fall so far behind sluggers may suffer in a financial way when they sign contracts for 1922, but probably not much. The main sufferers will be Ruppert, Hutton and the Yankee players who observed the rule.

Saunders, William Burwell, Grover Lou-

MEXICO'S HEALTH DRIVE.

Oregon's Sanitary and School Development Amazes the Country.

Public health and education are paramount in the activities of the Oregon Administration in Mexico, according to Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, manager of El Hospital de Mexico, Mexico City, on a visit to New York. Dr. Najera, who was formerly Surgeon General of the Mexican Army and Director of Military Hospitals, has been attending the annual convention of the American Public Health Association.

"President Obregon has inaugurated systems of health service and school development which have amazed Mexico and which far surpass the best of similar efforts under the Diaz regime," said Dr. Najera. "A determined drive has been made to stamp out yellow fever.
As a result there have been only thirty-four cases this year, while in 1920 there were 50 cases. In this drive against yellow fever, the Department of Public Health was greatly aided by the Rockefeller Foundation and by Dr. Carlos Miel, of the United States Public Health Service. Notable progress has also been made toward eradicating the bubonic plague."

"An appropriation of $25,000,000 for educational purposes in 1922 has been made. The largest appropriation ever made before was $10,000,000 when Diaz was President. About 300 schools have been established since President Obregon took office a year ago."

"Mexico's rapid return to normal conditions is largely due to the simplicity of government functioning. The freedom from red tape and politics. 'Work' is the watchword in Mexico today.
Politics, national and international, are forgotten. The country is not worrying about recognition by the United States, as our commercial relations are just as satisfactory without it. But we expect recognition within a year, and it will be welcomed as an important step in the promotion of commercial friendship and the beginning of an era of good-will between the United States and Mexico such as the two countries have never known before."

"A great change is being wrought in Mexico in amusements. We like the American forms of light entertainment, but they must be of the highest quality.
Great as may be our appreciation of the beauty of American womanhood, that alone cannot carry a theatrical performance to success. There must also be good music, good singing, cleverness and artistic scenery."

"Recently the Mexican Government was compelled to furnish transportation home for a number of American chorus girls. They won great popularity individually when they were appearing in the various cabarets, but the entertainment in which they appeared at the theatre was a flat failure. It must be remembered that the people of Mexico City are accustomed to musical and theatrical entertainments of the highest type, and they are no longer willing to have anything that does not meet their standards."

"The Obregon Administration is going to do away with bullfighting. A 50 per cent. tax will be placed on the sport next year. Educational entertainment is tax-free, while motion pictures and the

"What Women Will Do"

What will women do? Ask any woman—every woman.
Then ask the Sphinx. You'll get the same answer. She is as much a riddle to herself as she is a mystery to others. She may deceive, trick, steal or sink to the depths, where she will be an outcast, yet beneath it all there remains that tenderness, unselfishness, and that holy something that belongs to woman. Those who love, those who think they know woman will talk about this drama. Why not? It has a throb, a sob, a thrill, and a thought blended into real entertainment.
