

Air Battles To Aid Victory Loan Drive

Three Flying Circuses, Including Captured Fokkers, to Cover Country

Washington, March 18.—Three flying "circuses" of aviators will tour the United States giving sham battles in the air and performing acrobats over the principal cities as a feature of the Victory Loan campaign, which opens on April 21.

This announcement was authorized tonight by the treasury department. The tour is intended to present the "greatest flying programme" ever offered in the United States. The three "circuses" will be composed of American, French and British aviators. They will fly American planes and captured German Fokkers. Frank R. Wilson, director of Publicity for the loan, will have charge of the aerial tours. The actual flights will be under the direction of the Military Aeronautics Branch of the War Department, with Captain Leon Richardson in charge.

Fourteen German Fokker planes, captured by General Pershing's men, were landed today at Newport News, and will be shipped at once to Washington and turned over to the Treasury Department for the loan campaign. All are in flying condition and will be used in all the loan demonstrations. The best types of American planes developed during the war will be used to show what has been achieved in American aircraft development.

The country has been divided into three sections for the Victory Loan flights, Eastern, Middle-Western and Western. A squadron made up of American, French and British flyers will tour each of these three districts, beginning April 10. The eastern tour will begin at Minneapolis, L. I. The Middle-Western tour will begin at St. Paul, Minn. The western tour will begin at San Diego. Each squadron will be carried on a special train of eleven cars, traveling at night. Nine back-door baggage cars will be required to carry the seventeen airplanes in each squadron. Each train will be preceded by an officer, who will select landing places and make arrangements with local Liberty Loan committees for the entertainment of the flyers.

ments with local Liberty Loan committees for the entertainment of the flyers. The names of the six British flyers are not known. However the government has been informed by Great Britain that six of the best British flyers will be here in time for the tour. Eight French flyers have already left France for the United States. One of the French flyers has a record of forty-three victories over German adversaries. Another made 170 bombing trips over German lines.

U. S. IMMIGRATION LAWS.

Editor Times-Star.—
Sir—The general impression has become disseminated among the people of the maritime provinces that the United States immigration laws have been mitigated by reason of conditions arising since the cessation of the war.

Double this impression has been gathered from various newspaper reports relative to the rescinding of purely war restrictions and military measures. Such, however, is not the case.

The Immigration Act of February 5, 1917, was not passed as a war measure, is still operative, and the United States immigration law and regulations are in full force and effect, along the Canadian border, as are the provisions of same relative to the assessment of the head tax, and exclusion of certain illiterate aliens.

Respectfully,
ED. L. HAF, JR.,
Inspector in Charge.

March 17, 1919.

At the Women's Institute meeting in the Congregational church last evening Mrs. J. W. V. Lawlor spoke of the progress made in the enrollment of the desired 1,000 members. The question of a suitable meeting place for the institute was also taken up and it was decided to leave this in the hands of a room committee. A letter of congratulation was read from Miss McCann, superintendent of the Women's Institutes for the province. A resolution was passed urging

A Talk on Bread

Most people in buying bread want the largest loaf in the store. You make a mistake, for it does not weigh any more than the medium sized loaf.

When a loaf of bread raises so high, it is over-proof. The life of the wheat has gone.

Buy the medium sized loaf and get full strength of the wheat. One slice is worth more than a whole loaf of over-proof.
