SEVENTH WEEK
AT QUEEN SQUARE

The Mae Edwards Company Playing "The Other Man's Wife."
Miss Edwards started her seventh week at the Queen Square Theatre last evening offering for the first time by any stock company, Victor E. Lamberg's greatest success, "The Other Man's Wife," to the usual capacity business. Miss Edwards gave her best performance and as "The Wife" was sweet and lovable. It is not a white slave play, but a drama of every day life full of interest and charm. It is based upon "Should a man live two lives, when a woman must stand or fall by one."
The woman's story:—Christened "Innocence" by the mother of "Love," I grew to maidenhood. Then I met my choice "Ambition." We were boon companions until I met "Flattery." Then "Experience" came along and quickly I lost my respect for "Flattery," who seemed innocuous. "Experience" was more outspoken, and gave me many shocks, then "Sin," with tinsel glamour, claimed my interest.
The vaudeville was just a little better than usual, if that is possible; the stage setting all new and beautiful.

CHARLOTTETOWN
SEES A CHANCE

Merchants Look Into Matter of Supplies to Labrador Gold Fields.
Charlottetown, P. E. I., March 13.—A suggestion that a golden opportunity was open for Charlottetown, only three days journey by steamer from the recently discovered gold fields in Labrador, to develop a big business in the shipping of foodstuffs and other supplies to the new "Eldorado" was discussed at a banquet of the Retail Merchants' Association held here last night. A committee was appointed to make investigations.
SUSSEX GAME IS POSTPONED
Abbeys are Unable to Get Through on Account of Storm.
Charlottetown, P. E. I., March 13.—Owing to the tie-up in the railway, there being no train through from Borden for a week, the play-off hockey games which the Abbeys were to play against the Sussex and Clitham teams have been postponed until the earliest possible date consistent with travelling conditions. The understanding reached today with Dr. Stielens, president of the N. B. and P. E. I. League, was that the Charlottetown team would leave on the first train. It is expected that the line will be opened tomorrow.
The Canada Gazette contains the announcement of the promotion of William Arthur Wrenks from Customs Excise Clerk to Computing Clerk at St. John.

CHICAGO POLICE
WATCH VICE DENS

Chief Fitzmorris Orders Two Patrolmen Assigned to Each Place.
Chicago, March 10.—Stamping out commercialized vice under what is said to be the most drastic police order ever issued in Chicago may claim the entire attention of 3,000 of the city's available 4,875 patrolmen.
Charles C. Fitzmorris, Chief of Police, has directed patrolmen to place uniformed men at the fronts and back doors of every known disorderly house in Chicago. Reform leaders have asserted that more than 500 such places are operating here. Two men to a house on each eight-hour tour of duty would amount for approximately three-fifths of the uniformed police personnel.
Chief Fitzmorris refused to comment on the order, other than to say that it "speaks for itself." It informed the police captains that "no excuses will be accepted for failure to comply with this order," and that if stationing in the men reduced the effectiveness at any precinct station to an unworkable minimum patrolmen would be transferred from other precincts not so hard hit.
The Chief's order came within four hours after Chief of Justice McKinley of the Criminal Courts had indicated that the March Grand Jury would be required to renew the investigation into conditions. The January and Federal Grand Juries failed to return indictments. Chief Fitzmorris testified before the February Grand Jury. He was understood to have said that Chicago conditions were fairly good and that there was no open vice. He used a card index, it was said, to prove numerous raids had been made on disorderly houses, and that the resultant cases had been dealt with leniently in various city courts.
At Chief Fitzmorris' office it was said that the order was decided on after several conferences. It was asserted by some of the Chief's confidential men that many chiefs have been broken on the rocks of disorderly houses and gambling, and that Fitzmorris decided to give "the reformers" what they wanted on having "His stand has been that Chicago was 65 per cent orderly and that it could be without turning the whole police force loose on vice and letting the criminals run wild."
Chief Justice McKinley said that "if the Chief sees fit to assign all 4,800 patrolmen to guard one lot, that is his responsibility. If crime becomes rampant as the result of his order, the public still will hold him responsible."
The order has been issued if it is the Chief's intention to co-operate in a sane and sensible manner with the courts and the better element of the city in stamping out dens which are the incubators of criminals, he deserves and should receive the commendation of the public.

Barroom Ballad's Author Honored
Hugh Antoine d'Arcy, Who Wrote "Face on the Floor," Is 80.
There was a birthday party at the Green Room Club this week at which the merriment was suddenly hushed. And then a little old man stood up and recited those verses that are known all round the world as "The Face on the Barroom Floor." The man was Hugh Antoine d'Arcy, author of that famous ballad, newly arrived at the age of eighty.
His birthday fell on March 5, but the actors who gathered in the club at 189 West Forty-seventh Street were forced by their occupation to wait until midnight to do him honor. Not only did they come in person to greet him, but seventy-five prominent actors signed and gave him a testimonial of their friendship and lasting regard. Frank Gillmore, president of the club, was there, and Hal Briggs acted as toastmaster. Charles Young represented the Elks' Club, of which Mr. d'Arcy is also a member.
Who has not heard or himself recited "The Face on the Floor," for that is the poem's correct title. But there are few persons who know anything of the writer or how or why he happened to write those famous lines beginning:
"Twas a balmy summer evening and a goodly crowd was there,
Which well-nigh filled Joe's barroom on the corner of the square."
Then through the open door came the
