

BOSTON LETTER.

Immigration Officials Charged With Drunkenness, Inefficiency, etc.

Leslie Pearce to Take Part in a Prize
Fight in St. John on the 16th.

Condition of the Fish Market Fairly Satisfactory Northeastern Lumbermen's Association Unable to Control Prices.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Boston, Sept. 7.—The people who have been absent at the summer resorts and beaches are beginning to return to the city again, although many will remain for a month yet. The steamship and rail lines report that business has been better this year than it has been for three or four seasons. The many big conventions held here and the increase of trade eastward are the chief reasons for the improvement.

The free wool clause of the Gorman-Wilson tariff bill is playing havoc just now with many of the wooden mills in New England. Some of them have been obliged to cut down expenses, i.e., the wages of the operatives. Three of the largest mills in Connecticut, at Danielsonville, have closed down indefinitely, and will not be opened until the market improves.

Many of the American capitalists are protesting against the reported action of Canadians in expressing their unwillingness to allow a monument to be erected to Gen. Montgomery upon the cliff beneath the citadel of Quebec, where he fell 120 years ago. One paper remarks that "this superciliousness of a part of the population does Canada no particular credit." If the Canadians desired to erect a monument to any British general who fell during the revolutionary days, we would have quite another story.

Leslie Pearce, Philadelphia, is energetically training at Rev. Beach near this city, for his meeting with Chas. McHugh in a fifteen round contest at St. John, September 16. Editor Tuohy of the Sporting Review and several other sporting men will accompany Pearce to St. John.

Sol. Haas, assistant president of the Southern Pacific railroad, left Boston a day or two ago for his first visit to the maritime provinces. The New England farmers are having good ripening weather just now for what crops remain out. The annual fair has commenced and nearly every district will hold one either this week or next. The fairs here are usually three weeks or a month earlier than the exhibitions in the provinces. Potatoes are plentiful low.

A seventeen year old girl named Adeline Surratt of Yarmouth was kidnapped last week while on her way home from a convent at Montreal via Boston. An unknown woman gave the girl something to drink, containing a drug, and took her away for the evident purpose of robbing her. She was returned, however, to Montreal, and only reached this city on her way home a second time a few days ago.

Annie M. Connors, an Eastport, Me., girl came up here a short time ago for the purpose of finding employment. She found none, however, and found herself friendless as well as penniless. She then tried to kill herself by turning on the gas. She was found in time and will probably recover. She will be taken care of when she is able to be up again.

The immigration office in Boston through which many provincials have had to run the gauntlet, is in a labyrinth of trouble. The authorities at Washington are just now investigating charges against the officials for drunkenness, inefficiency, lack of discipline, etc. The charges have caused a decided sensation in the city.

The general condition of the fish market continues fairly satisfactory with prices generally firm. Mackerel continues in small supply at high prices. The position of codfish is firm, with trade improving. The salt herring trade is not very brisk, a few arrivals from Cape Breton representing about all that has been done lately. The sardine situation has not changed much, although the packers are considering the idea of forming a combine so as to be in a condition to resist the ruinous tactics of the commission men in this city and New York. Canned lobsters are still scarce, with prices high. Live and boiled lobsters are even scarcer, and prices have run away up. Fresh fish are firmer and in better demand. Quotations at first hands are as follows:
