

ASEPTO PREMIUM PLAN ADVANTAGES

Talk No. 5.

A lady called at our store yesterday and during conversation expressed unbelief in premiums, remarking that she never got a premium that was any good. We immediately showed her a pair of boots that were made by one of the best manufacturers in Canada, and asked her "If she considered them a good premium?" "Oh yes! If one could get premiums like that!"

She did not understand our plan and when we fully explained it her purchase totaled about $10.00.

Every article is for sale and every article a premium. Every article comes direct to us from the maker. Our premiums are the best and we handle many lines.

Are you buying from your grocer ASEPTO SOAP, ASEPTO SOAP POWDER, and our other lines?

We have a big Xmas surprise planned for all the users of our Asepto products, the more you have bought the greater the gain.

ANOTHER REVOLUTION IN BLACK REPUBLIC

General Fouchard, Former Chief of Haytian Army, Will Try to Overthrow Provisional President, Leconte.

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 10.—Gen. Callis Thene Fouchard, Haitian Minister to Germany, and former chief executive of the black republic of Haiti, is expected to arrive here soon, and shortly afterwards to sail for Hayti with the purpose of overthrowing Gen. Leconte, the new provisional president. General Fouchard arrived in New York last Monday from Haiti.

Prominent Haytiens say that Gen. Fouchard's chances to overthrow Leconte are rosy in view of the fact that the entire south of Hayti from Germeil to Aux Cayes took up arms for him in the revolution of 1908. They say also that Fouchard has powerful friends in the capital, and that the south is not likely to accept Leconte over him.

The trouble in Hayti is believed not to be ended. The railway concession granted to an American syndicate caused the late resumption of hostilities. Leconte and Fouchardists are sure to request its cancellation. This, it is thought by the Haytiens, would result in an early resumption of hostilities.

The opposition in the Dominion parliament deserved the gratitude of every Canadian for it they had not done anything else the fact that they had forced the government to face the people on the reciprocity pact justified their existence. They had been called obstructionists but if they prevented the transaction of public business it was because they had a sacred duty to perform and they had performed it. Reciprocity, he believed, would prove to be the entering wedge of commercial union with the United States.

Referring to the St. John Valley Railway he traced the negotiations which had been carried on between the Dominion government and the provincial government and showed that the delay from 1909 to 1911 was due to Mr. Pugsley's desire to get the Valley Railway to connect with the G. T. P. at Grand Falls and receive there the traffic from that road.

That was one of Pugsley's dreams," said Mr. Fleming, and continuing he pointed out that it would be impossible to get the Grand Trunk Pacific to turn their traffic over to the Valley Railway at Grand Falls and receive there the traffic from the Valley Railway steel to the seaboard. As the result of the negotiations conducted the present summer the Minister of Public Works had been induced to remove the block to the construction of the road which he had caused to be put in the contract in 1909. This, he said, was a very wrong thing he had done two years before.

Mr. Fleming.

Hon. J. K. Fleming added his tribute to the ability and honesty of Mr. Hazen, and voiced the admiration of the members of the government for their leader. The members of the government made a happy family, and he doubted if any seven men could sit about a council table more harmoniously.

He especially referred to the excellent work done by the Academic member of the government the Hon. Dr. Landry. Critics had been made because the premier had placed a physician in charge of the agricultural department. It was a happy choice as the department was dying and needed attention. Dr. Landry provided that attention and the department now was in flourishing shape.

Hon. John Morrissey and Hon. W. C. Borden also spoke briefly, outlining the work which had been done in their departments.

Dr. Landry.

Hon. Dr. V. Landry, commissioner of agriculture, spoke briefly. He corroborated what had been previously been said as to the pride which the people of New Brunswick felt in the manner in which Mr. and Mrs. Pugsley were chosen as candidates to represent the province at the Coronation ceremonies.

SALARY BILL PASSES BRITISH PARLIAMENT

London, Aug. 10.—Resolution to pay members of the House of Commons $2,000 annually for their services was carried by a vote of 256 to 185. The resolution was moved by Chancellor David Lloyd-George in the House of Commons today. The chancellor said that Great Britain was the only country in the world that did not pay members for their work in parliament, which nowadays was so strenuous that the members had little time to attend to anything else.

The Unionists opposed the payment on the ground that it would be a violation of the principle of gratuitous public service as well as improper for members to vote themselves salaries. Arthur Hamilton, Leese Unionist member for the Fareham division of Hants who moved the official Unionist amendment against salaries, argued that the effect of the chancellor's bill would be to keep out the best types and fill parliament with professional politicians.

James Ramsay MacDonald, labor leader denied that the measure would cause corruption and said that it would tend to help the tide of publicity which is flowing over American politics.

POPE'S CONDITION REPORTED BETTER

Rome, Aug. 10.—The condition of Pope Pius tonight was better and for the first time since he was taken ill recently with laryngitis which later became complicated by an acute attack of the gout, his holiness was considered as having made a step toward recovery.

Drs. Petacci and Marchiafy visited their patient tonight. They reported his temperature still was only slightly above normal and that his condition, considering the heat, was satisfactory.

The other members of the cabinet had told what they had done but he could say he was feeling them all. When he entered the agricultural office all he could find there were the pictures of his two predecessors. When he wanted to write a letter he was forced to send out for stationary and ink. He found that the agricultural statistics had decreased from 30 to 60 odd. He started in to inspire the farmers and the result was that the number of agricultural societies had increased as well as the membership. As a result practically all the farmers of the province are now banded together working for their mutual benefit.

Dealing with reciprocity and the effect it would have on British connection he said when the time came the Acadians of the province would show the people where they stood on it. "Just watch us" was the way he concluded amid great applause. He also spoke for a few minutes French.

J. A. Murray, M. P., of Kings county said the completion of the Valley Railway would do more to build up St. John than all the wild promises of the Minister of Public Works. He also proposed the toast of the city of St. John which found an able sponsor in Recorder Baxter.

The gathering then dispersed with cheers for Mr. Hazen. It was the most successful gathering of the kind ever held in St. John.

EMMERSON NOMINATED.

Moncton, Aug. 10.—Westmorland Liberals today nominated Hon. H. R. Emmerson. His name was the only one suggested. It was an open convention, no delegates being regularly appointed.

HALIFAX CHOOSES CANDIDATES.

Halifax, Aug. 10.—At the Conservative convention held here today, R. L. Borden and A. B. Crosby were chosen as candidates to represent the party.

Pugsley for City, Lowell for County

Liberal Convention Chooses Candidates -- Edward Lantalam Squared at Eleventh Hour -- His Supporters in Bad Humor -- Evidences of Dissatisfaction with Party Managers at Ratification Meeting.

The Liberal convention, held in Queen's Rink last evening, Hon. Wm. Pugsley was chosen to contest the city, and James Lowell the county of St. John. The convention was not exactly harmonious, and evidences of dissatisfaction with the party management were manifest at the ratification which followed. Edward Lantalam attended the convention and announced that he had experienced a change of heart, and urged the delegates to obey the will of the managers and make the nominations unanimous. This was done, but not until several of Mr. Lantalam's friends had made a great virtue of his surrender of his claims to consideration.

At the ratification meeting which followed there was a good attendance, John Keefe presided, and announced the selection of candidates. W. H. Barnaby moved that the action of the convention be confirmed, and this was carried by a standing vote.

The chairman then said it was in order to elect an executive committee to manage the campaign.

Mr. Knowlton read a list of about 25 names, and moved that they be elected to the executive.

Mr. Lantalam said some sections of the electorate were not sufficiently represented. He moved that 25 more names be added to the list read by Mr. Knowlton.

The chairman--The committee has power to add, Mr. Lantalam.

A suggestion was made that a small committee be appointed to select the list.

Mr. Hennessey objected to this suggestion, saying that the committee was not a committee, and declared it carried.

Mr. Lantalam then suggested that a committee of three be appointed to select the campaign executive.

Mr. Hennessey contended that the 25 should be selected by the house.

The chairman urged the acceptance of Mr. Knowlton's list.

The speaker complained that the list was about the same as last time proper representation.

Jack Barry complained that the Young Liberal Club was not represented in the proposed executive.

The chairman said the executive would have power to add.

Mr. Barry--Then let us add them now. We've been fighting for five years for representation on the executive for the Young Liberals.

The chairman said the better way would be for the Young Liberals to select their men themselves instead of allowing the house to do it.

Another speaker complained that some of the workers, the men who went to the polls and did the fighting, were on the executive.

Mr. Pugsley as Peacemaker.

Mr. Pugsley then stepped into the breach and suggested that the meeting authorize the executive to add members which would be selected by the Young Liberals and other organizations.

A motion was then adopted authorizing the Young Liberals to add 16 men to the executive.

The chairman then asked the meeting to accept or reject Mr. Knowlton's proposed list for the executive as the candidates wanted a chance to speak and a motion to accept the names was then adopted with the understanding that others should be added.

W. J. Mahoney then proposed a resolution endorsing reciprocity which was carried.

W. H. Barnaby then made a speech, he said Mr. Pugsley had looked after the interests of St. John and would do better in the future. St. John was on the eve of great developments, thanks to its own expenditures mainly, but now that they had Pugsley they could look forward to the realization of their expectations. He then moved a resolution expressing confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his associates, which was also adopted unanimously.

Walter Foster moved another resolution expressing confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Pugsley and this was also adopted.

Mr. Pugsley was then called upon for a speech. On rising he was given an enthusiastic reception. He spoke for some time, dealing with the reciprocity issue. He hoped the time would come when time would enter the American markets at a lower rate of duty and claimed that the Liberals had secured reciprocity in all other natural products of N. B. in regard to Courtenay Bay he said that in his great enthusiasm he expected that work would be started sooner, but his colleagues wanted information, and the work of convincing them of the need of providing for the export trade of Canada had been somewhat difficult.

He said he had just received a telegram from his deputy minister, stating that tenders for the work at Courtenay Bay had been received from three of the greatest construction companies in the Empire, but until they were considered by the cabinet he was not at liberty to disclose the names of the tenders or their estimates of the work.

Mr. Pugsley as a Knocker.

In conclusion he said he did not believe in the let well enough alone policy of the Conservatives. "As a citizen and property owner of St. John, I am not prepared to say that we are well with St. John," he said, "in spite of the great increase in the value of real estate due to the great developments projected by the Liberal government, the value of real estate in St. John is not within 50 or 100 per cent. what it ought to be. In many cases property is worth less than it was 30 years ago. The government was offered a building for a post office in St. John for $40,000, hardly one-fifth of the value of land in Calgary. I understand the census will show a material increase of population in St. John, while in some of the counties in this province there has been a decrease of population."

When Mr. Lowell rose to speak, Dr. L. M. Curran, on behalf of the candidate's friends in the county presented him with an address.

Mr. Lowell spoke briefly, promising to support Mr. Pugsley like a little man.

After singing the National Anthem, the meeting broke up.

BRITISH PRESSMEN ARRIVE IN CANADA

Ottawa, Aug. 10.—The Dominion Immigration branch was notified today of the arrival of the members of the British Press Association at Rimouski. They will spend two months in Canada as guests of the government and under the guidance of J. Obed Smith, assistant superintendent of immigration for Canada in London, all the provinces will be visited.

They will be in the Maritime Provinces until the 19th, Quebec until the 22nd, Ottawa the 23rd and 24th and thence go to Toronto and Western Ontario, being due in Winnipeg September 3rd. A month will be spent in the West and they will sail from Quebec on October 7th.

HON. J. D. HAZEN HONORED LAST EVENING

Rhodes. There was also present at the banquet tonight a New Brunswicker who had achieved prominence in the financial world. It was the person of Mr. Dunn, of the banking firm of Dunn, Fisher & Co., of London.

Turning to the record of the provincial government he referred to the motto on the wall, which called attention to the promises kept and pledges redeemed. This was applicable to the present government, as they had kept all the promises made while in opposition. They had a hard task to take up on coming into power, for they found things in a terrible shape, but as soon as they could get straightened away they started on the work of cleansing the Augean stables.

They incepted a systematic plan of book-keeping by which the money which had been nominally accounted for, and such things as suspense accounts made impossible. At present, and ever since his government took control, every dollar was honestly expended and accounted for. They made the auditor general an independent official who can only be removed from office by the vote of three-quarters of the house, and they did away with the former loose methods.

Pledges Redeemed.

The government promised to reduce the price of school books and this pledge had been kept. It was with mingled feelings of gladness and regret that he had learned that his friend T. A. Hartt, of Charlotte county, had been nominated by the people of Charlotte for the Dominion House for Mr. Hartt more than to any other man in the province was due the breaking up of the school book ring in St. John. The people of the province now got a reduction of 50 per cent. on their school books from the prices paid under the former government.

had resulted in an increase of the revenue collected from stampage until at the close of the year on Oct. 31, 1910, the amount collected was $173,000 in excess of the amount collected in 1907 although not one stick of lumber had been cut in excess of the season of 1907. The difference was made up through honesty in collection. This was largely due to the splendid work of Mr. Grimmer, and the manner in which he had administered his department.

Wharves and bridges had been found in shameful shape when the government took charge but through the good work of Mr. Murray they had been repaired and rebuilt until he could say that by the end of the present year practically every bridge would be in good condition. The wharves had been improved until even political opponents had congratulated him on the good work done in this respect.

The Highway Act.

The government had repealed the old highway act and had framed a new one through which the road money of the province was placed under the control of a highway board appointed from the country and was spent for the good of the roads instead of for the political advancement of the parties in power. The introduction of the motor car had made better roads necessary and they would be provided as soon as possible. Motor car owners were taxed this year, and the tax produced a revenue which would be applied to the roads.

The cry had been raised for permanent roads as they had them in England, but to build roads in this province up to the standard of the English roads would entail an expense which would be more than the province could bear. In the province there are 14,000 miles of roads. With the cost of permanent roads at $4,000 per mile, it would be easy to see what the expense would be upon a province like New Brunswick.

The Valley Railway.

Mr. Hazen then dealt with the negotiations in connection with the Valley Railway. While in England he had negotiated with a company which was prepared to undertake the building of the road if they got the Dominion subsidy of $6,400 per mile, but the Dominion government had refused to grant this. Finally, however, they had agreed to some modifications in the contract under part 3 of the agreement, and to the operation of the road as a part of the I. C. R.

These negotiations had proven satisfactory. He could assure his hearers that the financial end of the matter would be well looked after. The construction of the road would be of the greatest importance to St. John as it would give a shorter line to Quebec and the West than by any existing route.

In conclusion, Mr. Hazen referred to the coming election and the opportunity afforded to strike a blow at the reciprocity pact. He had been asked to be a federal candidate in several constituencies, but while he would under other circumstances be quite willing to step in and fight the battle of British Connection, he felt that it would be unfair to the people of the province if he were to resign his present trust to enter Dominion politics until he had seen the St. John Valley Railway assured and in operation. (Applause.)

George W. Fowler.

George W. Fowler proposed the toast of the Dominion and provincial legislature. In reference to the Dominion legislature he said it was an old and classical saying, to speak no evil of the dead. Of the Dominion legislature half of it was dead and the other half moribund. The provincial legislature, led by Mr. Hazen, was, however, very much alive. He coupled the toast with the names of the members of the Hazen government, Dr. Daniel and J. A. Murray.

Dr. Daniel.

Dr. J. W. Daniel on rising to reply thanked those present for the honor conferred upon him. He agreed with all that had been said regarding the ability and the honesty of the Hazen administration. In reference to the Dominion parliament the toast was a very hollow one to respond to, as parliament had been dissolved. In response to his visit to the Coronation he had the pleasure of meeting the Duke of Connaught who will be Canada's next governor general and who the speaker had listened to in a most eloquent address. When the Duke of Connaught came to Canada he would not be put in the shade from any of the illustrious governors general who had preceded him. The Duke of Connaught was the most popular man in England and Dr. Daniel felt sure that after a term of four or five years he would be the most popular man in Canada.

Mr. Landry.

Hon. Dr. V. Landry, commissioner of agriculture, spoke briefly. He corroborated what had been previously been said as to the pride which the people of New Brunswick felt in the manner in which Mr. and Mrs. Pugsley were chosen as candidates to represent the province at the Coronation ceremonies.
