AT ONCE! CLOGGED NOSTRILS OPEN
AND COLD-IN-HEAD OR CATARRH VANISHES

Instantly Relieves Swollen, Inflamed Nose, Head, Throat—You Breathe Freely—Dull Headache Goes—Nasty Discharge Stops—Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of Why Tears Flow.

All human emotions, however slight they may be, either decrease or increase the circulation of the blood. These emotions that bring tears cause the blood vessels around the eyes to expand, thus flooding the lacrimal or tear glands with blood. The tear glands always secrete a little to keep the eyes cool and moist and carry off specks of dust through the nasal passages, but the extra supply of blood increases this secretion to such an extent that it cannot go off in the usual way, so overflows.

Dead Suns.

We know that the universe contains many "dead" suns, those which have given forth all their heat. Some astronomers think they are much more numerous than the burning ones. It is believed that once a sun is "dead" it will fly through space until it comes in contact with some other sun, dead or alive, and the impact will set them both at a tremendous heat, create new star systems with attendant planets, and thus the process may go on throughout eternity.

Diving Bells.

The diving bell was not mentioned before the sixteenth century. Two divers in that century (1538) gave an exhibition before Charles V., descending into water of considerable depth in a large inverted kettle. They took down with them a burning light. The men returned to the surface without being wet. The light was still burning.

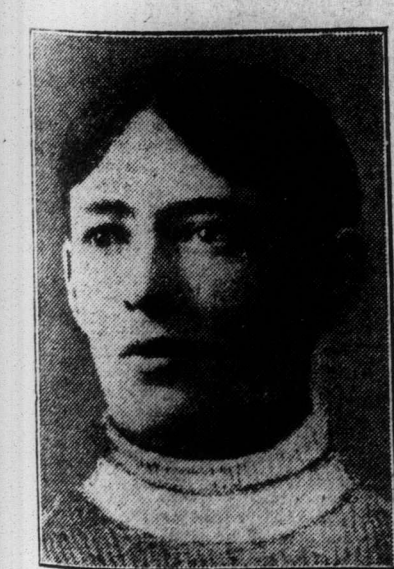

When Limbs and Chest Ache
ZAM-BUK GIVES EASE QUICKLY.

Have you got cold in your bones? Have you a bad attack of "general aching"? You know the feeling. Limbs ache, muscles seem to have become tired out, back aches, now and again a twinge of rheumatism strikes you here and there. Your chest feels tight, and there is a pain between your shoulders.

Cold is responsible for this condition, and a vigorous application of Zam-Buk will put you right. Take a hot bath, and then rub your chest and the aching limbs well with Zam-Buk.

Mrs. B. Gorie, 76 Berkeley St., Toronto, writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Zam-Buk. A few weeks ago I was suffering from a bad cold, which had settled in my throat, chest and limbs. I tried all kinds of remedies new and old, and found very little relief until I used Zam-Buk. On applying this to my throat and chest I found such ease and relief from the tightness and soreness. I determined to use only Zam-Buk. I rubbed it on my limbs where I had the rheumatic pains. In three days from the time I first began applying Zam-Buk I was free from the cold in throat and chest, and also the rheumatism in my limbs."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure remedy for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poison, various sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of 10c. Avoid harmful imitations and substitutes.

BABY OR PICTURE?

Which Would You Save From a Burning House?

"In case of fire it would be better to allow a live baby to burn than a Dresden Madonna. If the choice were forced upon me, I should certainly save the Dresden Madonna first. One can get another baby any day."

SIR GEORGE BIRDWOOD.

The Distinguished English Archaeologist.

We Value Bread More Than Art.

A very astonishing discussion has been aroused in England concerning the relative value of a great masterpiece of art and a baby. It was started by a letter written by Sir George Birdwood, a distinguished art authority, saying that if it were a question of saving a live baby or the Dresden Madonna from a fire he would unhesitatingly save the picture first.

The first shot in reply to this was fired by the Bishop of London, who indignantly declared that all the works of art in the world are worth the life of one live baby with its human soul.

Immediately a host of artists and art lovers rushed forward to proclaim the priceless value of great pictures and comparatively worthless pieces of human life beside it. It was perfectly astonishing how many harmless looking artists could view with unconcern the burning of any number of little babies.

Most of them dwell upon the apparent logic of Sir George Birdwood's argument: "A great work of art cannot be replaced, but one can get any number of new babies."

The other side said this argument might be logical as far as it went, but it was based on a worthless foundation.

The artists recalled authoritative expression, such as that of Pierre Loti, who said that it was a crime to destroy the ruins of Phylas for the sake of providing more food for the starving people of Egypt.

One artist, Mr. Wentworth Hunt, went so far as to say, "Art is the only thing that matters, and human nature, at best, is but a poor imitation of art."

The humane and sensible people analyzed the history of the picture stolen by Sir George Birdwood as worth more than a baby's life. The Sistine Madonna now at Dresden has been called the most perfect representation of maternal love ever painted. This Madonna was painted by Raphael for the monks of San Sisto, who in 1743 gladly sold it for $20,000 to Elector Augustus III. of Saxony, and put their monastery in good repair with the money. He made a great fuss over it and placed it first on his own throne saying "Make way for the royal Raphael." But this Elector was always a very bad character.

Many facts were cited to show that the old masters when they were actually painting masterpieces had no such exaggerated ideas of their work as their modern worshippers have. Mr. Pierpont Morgan has paid $500,000 to an art dealer for a Raphael, but the medieval popes and princes who had the ability to perceive the talent of the artist when he was alive could not have given such fantastic sums.

In this discussion the artists generally put pictures before babies.

Growth of Rocks.

Rocks do not grow in the sense that a plant grows. They may increase by accretion, and they may undergo chemical change. The old sea bed, being lifted up, becomes sandstone and limestone. The volcanic ash and lava strewn over the plains becomes tufa, hard enough for building stone. The pebbly shore of a river becomes conglomerate. The simple mineral does grow, however, when it takes a crystal form. The sparkling prism of quartz increases from an atom to a crystal as large as a forearm by a process of addition and assimilation, wonderfully slow, but beautifully regular, exactly as crystals of ice form on the window-pane.

A marriage has been arranged and will probably take place in London, England, in April next between Capt. T. H. Rivers Bulkeley, C.M.G., M.V.O., Scots Guards, Esquerry and Controller to His Royal Highness the Governor-General of Canada, eldest son of Coy. C. Rivers Bulkeley, C.B., and Miss Evelyn Pelly, Lady-in-Waiting to Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught, and daughter of Lady Lillian Yorke, and the late Sir Henry Pelly, Bart.—Toronto News.

Lord Francis Scott of the Grenadier Guards, youngest son of the Duke of Buccleugh, and Capt. R. Grant of the "Rifle" Brigade, have arrived at Government House, and will act as aides-de-camp to His Royal Highness the Governor-General for a short time.

The engagement is announced of Miss Robert Greer, daughter of the late P. D. Grear and Mrs. Grear "Dundee," to Herbert R. Gallagher of San Francisco, Cal. Owing to recent bereavement, the marriage will be very quietly celebrated at the end of the month—Hamilton Herald.

Miss Allen of Toronto is the guest of Mrs. James Cockshutt, Lorne Crescent, for a couple of weeks.

Mrs. W. E. Phin, formerly of Welland, but now of Hamilton, receives for the first time at her beautiful new home, Ravenscliffe Avenue, on Thursday afternoon, January 16th.

So that the two affairs may not interfere, Mrs. Mostyn Cutcliffe, Dufferin Avenue, has postponed her bridge from Thursday until Friday, a Thursday being the "Night of Plays" put on at Victoria Hall under Miss Gould's able directorship.

Mr. and Mrs. John Vary, Palmerston Avenue, entertained the members of the Men's Club of St. Paul's Church and their friends at a very enjoyable masquerade party last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Bisher, East Ward, left yesterday for California.

Mr. Joseph Ham, Mr. and Mrs. John Ham and Miss Rispin left today on a trip to the Coast, visiting Los Angeles, Portland, Victoria, and returning in the Spring via Winnipeg.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Walsh, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nema Davidson, to Gordon Sutton, late of Luceland, Saskatchewan. Marriage to take place late in January.

Mrs. Albertburg, graduate of Vienna Institute and New York School of Design, is opening a school of dressmaking at the Kerby House, Brantford, and will receive applications all of Thursday, also Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday morning only from then on.

A most interesting and successful meeting of the Tutela branch of Women's Institute was held on Thursday last at the home of Mrs. Robert Henry. Mrs. Hargreaves took up the proceedings of second day at the convention in Toronto in an able manner. Much interest was evinced in the debate. Resolved, that an untidy, good-natured husband is preferable to a tidy, ill-tempered one. Mrs. H. Kirkby was leader for the affirmative and upheld the virtues of an untidy, good-natured man in a pleasing and able manner, but was defeated, the tidy, ill-tempered man carrying off the honors of the day, with Mrs. Hird as supporter. By request this debate will be repeated at the next meeting. Mrs. Henry and Mrs. Turnbull took charge of the musical part of the programme, rendering several piano solos in a most pleasing manner. After all had partaken of the kind hospitality of Mrs. Henry, the meeting adjourned to meet at the home of Mrs. Orlo Fawcett, Newport road, on Feb. 4th. The program for the day is in charge of Mrs. F. Houlding and Mrs. H. Fitzgerald.

An interview with Mrs. Attenburg, at the Kerby House yesterday, brought many interesting facts to light. An American by birth, but educated at Loretto Abbey, Toronto, after her marriage, making her home again in the States. Left a widow with four boys to educate and support. Always fond of her needle, she took up designing, modelling and dressmaking. Graduating from Vienna Institute and New York School of Design, studying also with Bon Ton, Elite and La Mode fashion people. Now she has been employed by the Ontario Government, along the same line of work, but directly in connection with various Women's Institutes throughout Ontario, teaching others to take up their work as they engaged in herself. It is interestingly, at least so that they can be of service to themselves. The time given to Brant County is three months. Her headquarters, the Kerby House.

Her advertisement appears elsewhere in this paper and will be of interest to many, while not interfering at all with her class work in progress at the Collegiate Institute.

LAUGHTER LINES

The Truth About Old Age.

Geo. F. Baer, the famous Philadelphia railroad man, said on his 70th birthday:

"I agree with professor Metchnikoff about the wisdom of the old. Professor Osler made it fashionable to decry gray hairs, but my experience has been that the old not only possess wisdom, but they seek it also."

With a smile Mr. Baer added: "The only people who think they are too old to learn are those who really are too young."—New York Tribune.

"If love was a woman's whole existence, how idle many of us would be."

Miss—I shall want you to be dressed by 3 o'clock, Ellen, to receive any friends that may call.

Ellen—Oh, thank you, mum! Ain't you goin' to be in—Philadelphia Press.

A large German woman held up a long line of people at the money order window in a post office the other day, and all because her memory had failed. She wanted to send some money to her son, a sailor on a merchant steamer then in foreign waters, but when she presented the application at the window the clerk noticed that the address was lacking.

"Well, where do you want to send it," he asked, "We can't give you a money order unless you know the name of the place."

"Yah, dot's de trouble," she replied. "I didn't bring his letter and I can't remember der name of der town, but it's some place out by China dot sounds like der noise a motor car makes."

The two clerks looked at each other dubiously.

"What kind of a noise does a motor car make?" asked one.

"Honk, honk," suggested the other. "Yah, dot's it," exclaimed the woman. "Yonk, honk, dot's de place."

"Fill it in Hong Kong," said the clerk, and she paid over the money with a sigh of relief.—Weekly Telegraph.

She Didn't Know Mother

Boys will be boys except when they are the pretches, and Tommy was no exception.

He had broken one of the school rules, and the teacher told him to tell his mother about it, and also about the punishment he had received. This was foxy of teacher. She thought mother might thrash him again.

"Well, Tommy, did you tell your mother about your bad behaviour yesterday, and how I punished you?"

"Yes, miss," replied Tom quickly.

"Well, what did your mother say?"

was teacher's next question.

"Said she'd like to wring your neck, miss," replied Tommy calmly.

Don't Blame Him

Maud—I've just heard of a case where a man married a girl on his deathbed, so that she could have his millions when he was gone. Could you love a girl like that?"

Jack—That's just the kind of a girl I could love. What's her address?"

THE HOUSEWIFE

Air Bath for Hair the Best Tonic.

"I know of no tonics or lotions that will do the hair so much good as an air bath. I mean by an air bath to release your hair from all pins and rats, letting it fall around your shoulders, free to the fresh air. When the weather permits, sit in the open air and let the breezes blow your hair about your shoulders acting to the roots of the hair. Massage the scalp a little to open the pores to the air, and let them drink in nature's remedy for all their ills. Fresh air inside and outside will cure any ailments you may be heir to. (This is not a pun). Remember, it is a rebuke to your Creator to deny yourself fresh air." So says Lillian Russell, the beautiful actress.

The Velvet Stole.

A substitute for the expensive fur stole is one of velvet. The tint should be chosen to suit the costume, and the soft velvet, made with a lining of satin to match, can be finished with a silk cord all around and tassels to correspond, or a border of ratine or the new broadtail cloth.

Valuable Sewing Hints.

Beautiful buttonholes may be made in any material, no matter how thin if they are first marked and before they are cut out are stitched along each side on the machine. Cut between the two rows of stitching and there will be good foundation for the buttonhole stitches, with no danger of raveling. This makes the working of any buttonhole much easier and greatly adds to its durability.

The Waistline Once More.

With the return of the natural waist line, or one very little above the natural, detachable belts have, of course come back to us in many of our forms. Black velvet is the most popular material for these, which are in almost every case of a style approaching the sash. That is, although they fit closely around the waist, they are adorned with one or two ends, or loops.

According to the Fifth Avenue dress parades the huge fur neckpiece has had its day, for so overdone in cheap pelts, it has fallen into disrepute with the elect of fashion and now the most distinguished throats are kept warm by narrow furry collarettes instead of being bundled in huge animal skins which trail over the shoulder and down the back.

Handkerchiefs should match the hat, so Paris sends tiny ones of brown, taupe grey and blue, more for ornament than use, and others with colors combined with white, also some exquisite embroidered mouchoirs, which have taken months to achieve.

THIS WEEK'S ADVICE

is to order soon. These chilly days are finding work for us. Before long somebody will have to do some waiting. Then there will be a rush in earnest. So those who have promised themselves an overcoat will be ahead by ordering ahead here. Skilful tailoring for careful dressers, Harwood,

THE PROGRESS

In Connection With the Proposed Brant County Sanatorium for the Treatment of Consumptives—Encouraging Reports are Made.

A meeting of the full Board of Trustees of The Brant Sanatorium took place at the office of Mr. A. E. Watts, Court House, recently.

The Vice-President, Mr. C. Cook, was in the Chair in the absence of the President, Mr. E. L. Cockshutt.

The members present were: His Worship, the Mayor, Messrs. Gould, Coles, Dr. Ashton, Watts, Olive, and K. V. Bunnell the Secretary of the Board.

Mr. Barber, the Architect for the hospital building, was present and made a statement as to the present condition of the building. The building is now in the hands of the steam fitters, who promise to have the heating system ready for steam this week when the rest of the work will be rushed to completion. Mr. Watts, the Chairman of the Finance and Building Committee, submitted his report, showing that contracts had been let to the amount of $21,321.00, most of which contracts were nearly completed.

The financial statement showed that subscriptions to the Building and Furnishing Fund to the amount of $18,975.00 had been promised. This, together with the Government Grant, will make the amount at the disposal of the Committee $33,000.00. Mr. Olive, Treasurer of the Association, reported that the subscribers were making a generous response to the appeal of the Committee, and that those who the Committee should send in their subscriptions. At the same time, any subscribers who can conveniently pay the amount of their subscriptions and have not already done so, Mr. Olive will be very pleased to receive the amount of their subscriptions, as it will be necessary in a very short time to pay the contractors the full amount of their several contracts and to enable the Committee to meet their obligations promptly, it will be necessary that all the subscriptions should be in hand.

The Committee was authorized to make a change in the hot water system to make it more effective, as the change can now be made at a very small extra expense. Plans were submitted by the Architect for the building of a cow stable and garage or horse shelter, and after considerable discussion, the architect was instructed to prepare plans by which the laundry building would be extended to provide for a garage and morgue, and to prepare separate plans for a cow stable so that the stable could be located at some point at a considerable distance in the rear of the main building to avoid, if possible, trouble from flies going from the hospital to the stable or vice versa. The above changes will involve an extra outlay of $10,000.00 or more.

The question of putting in proper condition the road leading to the hospital building, and also the grounds, was laid over for further consideration and until finances for this work can be arranged. The Treasurer was instructed to pay an account of $473.84 rendered by the Water Commissioners for supplying the necessary mains, hydrants, etc., for the purpose of furnishing full City fire protection to the Sanatorium. On the suggestion of the Mayor, a motion was passed directing the Secretary to apply to the Council for permission to have the hospital building placed under the protection of the City Fire Brigade.

The question of furnishings and equipment and the appointment of the staff was considered and a special committee consisting of the Vice-President, Mr. Cook, Dr. Ashton, Mr. Watts and Mr. Olive was appointed to visit other Sanatoriums and report to the board on a complete scheme for supplying the necessary fittings and furnishings. The question of appointing the house
