

CAERLAVROCK, xvi
 Cameron, Richard, 425, 426
 Cameronians, xiii; Old Mortality an adherent of, 60. See also Covenanters
 Captain of the Popinjay, 14; Henry Morton as, 22
 Carmichael, sheriff of Fife, 415
 Carriage, nobleman's, in time of Charles II., 14
 Catechism, Shorter, 335
 Charles II., his breakfast at Tillietudlem, 17, 23
 Claverhouse, his horse, 109, 419; description of, 112; refuses to liberate Morton, 117, 130; condemns him to be shot, 129; lists as to Evandale's petition, 132; calls his officers together before Drumclog, 149; at the battle of Drumclog, 155; his retreat, 160, 167; returns to Tillietudlem, 187; his sorrow at his nephew's death, 188; leaves the dragoons at Tillietudlem, 190; driven out of Glasgow, 242; offers his protection to Morton, 285; gives no quarter at Bothwell Bridge, 296; rescues Morton from the Cameronians, 306; his observations on death, 309; conveys the Cameronian prisoners to Edinburgh, 312; reads from the Black Book, 314; accompanies Morton to Leith, 327; his history as Viscount Dundee, 331, 335; Lady Elphinstoun's double pun on, 418; proof against shot, 419; his letter to Lord Louthgow, 422; Dundee's Letters, quoted 422, 427
 Cleishbotham, Jedediah, his peroration, 411; notes by, 413
 Clock scene, the Cameronians and Morton, 303
 Clyde, view of, 107; swum by Morton, 360; death of Burley in, 405
 Clydesdale, upper ward of, 13, 107
 Common Prayer, Book of, hated by the Covenanters, 305
 Concealment of the face, 417
 Cooper Climent, story of, xvi
 Covenant, Burley's defence of, 46; Covenanters' zeal for, 332
 Covenanters, their tombs at Gandercleugh, 3; hostility to the Stewarts, 12; at Drumclog, 147-171; disunions among, 172, 196, 201, 243, 273, 286, 420; take counsel after Drumclog, 204; their leaders in council, 215, 276; approach Tillietudlem, 227; attack it, 232; overrun Glasgow, 242; day of humiliation before Bothwell Bridge, 287; led into Edinburgh, 317; their hatred of toleration, 328; policy under William III., 332; their gibbet, 423; exposure of their heads, 426; retreats of, 428; predictions of, 428
 Craignethan Castle, 107, 418
 Crichton Linn, 391, 428
 Cuddie. See Headrigg, Cuddie
 DALZELL, General, as lieutenant-general, 270; description of, 281; at Bothwell Bridge, 296; his inhumanity, 323, 425; his history, 424
 Death, Claverhouse's reflections on, 309

Defoe, his History of Apparitions, quoted 426
 Dennison, Jenny, enumerates her sweet hearts, 91; persuades Halliday to let her and Edith pass, 95; offers her plaid to Morton, 98; her opinion of Evandale and of Morton, 125; tells Edith that Morton and Cuddie have joined the Covenanters, 222; scolds Cuddie with the brose, 236; steals out from the garrison, 255; her adieu to Cuddie, 268; her conversation with the stranger (Morton), 335; altercation with Cuddie about him, 341; last news of, 408
 Dick, John, quoted, 420
 Dinner, locking the door during, 67, 416
 Doomster of court, 326
 Drumclog, battlefield, 147; battle of, 154, 420
 Duke, the, his carriage, 14
 Dundee, Viscount. See Claverhouse
 Dunnottar Castle, Old Mortality's visit to, ix
 EDINBURGH, entry of Covenanter prisoners into, 317
 Elphinstoun, Lady, her pun on Claverhouse, 418
 Evandale, Lord, shoots at the popinjay, 20; arrives at Tillietudlem, 115; asked by Edith to intercede for Morton, 120; his relations with Edith, 125; obtains Morton's reprieve, 132; counsels a treaty with Drumclog, 151; charges the Covenanters, 155; his life saved by Morton, 168; his portmanteau found by Cuddie, 211; reaches Tillietudlem wounded, 217; meets Langcale, 228; condemned to death by the Covenanters, 249; released by Morton, 259; agrees to present Morton's petition, 260; quells the mutiny in Tillietudlem, 261; escorts the Bellendens to Edinburgh, 263; is betrothed to Edith, 337; urges her marriage, 347; the conspiracy against him, 398; urged by Edith to remain quiet, 403; meets the conspirators, 404; is shot dead, 405
 FAIRY KNOWE, 334
 Family servants, old, 40, 60, 415
 French invasion, Peden's predictions of, 429
 Froissart, beauties of, 313
 Funeral charges of Old Mortality, xv
 GALLOWAY, scene of Old Mortality's wanderings, xii, 5
 Gandercleugh, 2
 Geneva print, 104
 Gilbertcleugh, Lady Margaret's cousin, 2
 Glasgow, Covenanters' attack on, 242
 Glossary, 431
 Goose Gibbie, equipped for the wappenschaw, 16; his mishap, 24; carries Edith's letter to Major Bellenden, 102; bungles