Pony, mare or gelding.—The feature of this section was the wonderful exhibition put up by that grand little stallion, Plymouth Horace, that captivated the young and old alike. Graham-Renfrew Co., Ltd., took first in both the stallion and mare sections.

Drafters, in harness.—A good show was made of these horses, though entries were not so numerous as at previous shows. In singles, first and second went to Smith & Richardson; third and fourth to A. Scharf; fifth to John Minoque, and sixth to Thos. Clarey. In teams, Smith & Richardson took first; Scharf second, and Millar & Son third, and Clarey fourth.

BEEF CATTLE.

The Ottawa section of country found a remunerative and faithful ally in the dairy cow about twenty-five years ago, and the people have loyally espoused her cause ever since. As a result, there is only about enough beef cattle brought into the show to demonstrate the fact that there are excellent herds of beef animals maintained in that section, and that the people can produce show quality of stock. About sixty-four head in all were in the beef-cattle barns. Of these the Shorthorns predominated, and some unusually good things were forward. Not a few, however, of the show animals had come from Western Ontario. Peter White, of Pembroke, and W. A. Wallace, of Kars, upheld the credit of Eastern Ontario, against A. Armstrong, Fergus, and Jas. Leask, Greenbank, the chief Western contributors.

One of the most attractive Shorthorn offerings was the sappy, mellow, balanced calf of White's which led that class; followers of the breed will expect to hear from him in a year's time. But this good calf, which was first and junior champion at Guelph, and the Hereford offerings, which were first and breed champions at Toronto and Guelph, had to give way to the red heifer, belonging to Wallace, from Kars.

L. O. Clifford, Oshawa, made the Hereford show, and made one that should enhance the popularity of this unexcelled beef-producing breed.

Capt. Robson, Iderton, placed the beef rings.

THE DAIRY DIVISION.

That the people of Eastern Ontario and Quebec are ardent dairymen, is amply demonstrated by their participation in the dairy contest. Last year there were 26 cows entered; this year there were 62. Ayrshire, Holstein, Jersey and Shorthorn breeders were present in their strongest fighting form. One of the most gratifying features of the dairy section was that the breeders brought their show cows, demonstrating the fact that they do not keep one set of cows for exhibition purposes and another group for milk production. They are breeding and showing performers. At Guelph, the Holsteins have had a faculty of overwhelming all others with milk, but not so at Ottawa. The Ayrshires took their innings. James Bryson, Brysonville, Que., had charge of the contest. The exhibitors were: R. R. Ness, Howick, Que.; H. & J. McKee, Norwich, Ont.; Arch Cameron, Howick, Que.; H. Sangster, Ormstown, Que.; H. Bollert, Cassel, Ont.; R. A. Heron, Billings' Bridge, Ont.; C. SHEEP.

The sheep exhibit was certainly the best ever seen at this show, as well as the strongest numerically, the most remarkable feature being, however, the absence of Eastern exhibitors. This is not as it should be. There are many high-class flocks of sheep in the Ottawa Valley fit to compete with any from Western Ontario, and it would certainly enhance the interest of all concerned were they brought out to wrest their share of honors from the Western flocks.

E. Brien & Son, Ridgetown, and L. Parkinson, Eramosa, were the only exhibitors of Cotswolds. The exhibit was a most creditable one, Brien getting decidedly the best of it.

Again, in Oxford Downs, only two exhibitors were out: E. Brien & Son, and J. Lee & Son, of Simcoe. High-class type, quality and fitting was the order of the entries, Lee getting the lion's share of the awards.

Brien and Parkinson came together again for honors in the Lincoln classes, Brien getting practically everything hung up.

Awards in other breeds were:

Leicesters.—Wether lamb—1, 2 and 3, A. & W. Whitelaw, Guelph, Ont. Three wether lambs—1, A. & W. Whitelaw; 2, E. Brien & Son, Ridgetown, Ont. Ewe lamb—1, 2 and 3, A. & W. Whitelaw. Three ewes under 1 year—1 and 2, A. & W. Whitelaw; 3, E. Brien & Son.

Three ewes under 1 year—1, Geo. Baker; 2, A. & W. Whitelaw; 3, J. & D. J. Campbell.

SWINE.

The swine exhibit was exceptionally strong, the entries being more numerous and of better quality than in any previous year. Three of the leading breeders of Western Ontario were out with strong exhibits, which, with the well-fitted entries of several of the breeders from Eastern Ontario, made a splendid showing. Major Geo. D. Hood, of Guelph, judged all the classes, with satisfaction to all concerned.

Excellence of type and fitting was characteristic of the classes for export bacon hogs, and, while the bulk of the awards went to the Western exhibitors, the quality of the entries as a whole was remarkably uniform, and changes could have easily been made, and no harm done.

J. Featherston & Son, Streetsville; Brethour & Nephews, Burford; A. H. Foster, Twin Elm; Alex. Dynes, Ottawa, and Geo. Bradley, Manotick, were the exhibitors in the class for three pure-breds. Fourteen lots were lined up for comparison. The task of selecting the fittest was no easy one for the judge, and required both time and care, the awards being as follows: 1 and 3, Brethour & Nephews; 2, 4 and 6, Featherston; 5 and 8, Foster; 7 and 9, Dynes.

Another strong class came out in the grades or crosses, eleven lots lining up, Brethour & Nephews, Featherston, Bradley, Dynes, W. A. Wallace, Kars, and R. A. Heron, Billings' Bridge, responding to the call, the result being: 1, 3 and 4, Featherston; 2, Brethour & Nephews; 5, Wallace; 6, Heron.
