A TALE OF WOMAN'S LOVE AND WOMAN'S PERFDY

He took it, and examined it through a magnifying glass which stood on the bench.

"Is there an expert in handwriting in court?" he asked. "But, indeed, I do not think we shall need him."

The twelve men bent their heads over it, and murmured among themselves; and meanwhile the marquis and Gerald were talking earnestly.

The judge looked down at the marquis' face, now working with an agitation that was doubly impressive after his long-sustained calm.

"My lord, I desire to say that the evidence given by all the witnesses excepting Fanny Inchley, is, so far as I am concerned, perfectly true."

"I ask, I pray her to forgive me" went on the marquis, his eyes resting on the beautiful face.

"Yes," he repeated slowly, and in a low voice. "My wife, the writer of that letter, died on the 1st of March, and it was not written in 1888, but in 1885, a few weeks before her death."

"It will be asked why the marriage was kept secret," he went on in a lower voice. "It was an unhappy one. My wife—she passed, and let his hand fall slowly on the rail of the dock."

A BLESSING TO CHILDREN.

"From the fulness of my own experience," writes Mrs. Samuel Hamilton, of Rawdon, Que., "I can say that Baby's Own Tablets are an indispensable medicine in every home where there are infants and children. They speedily relieve and cure all the common ailments incident to childhood. In fact, I think the Tablets are a blessing to children."

passed and been buried, one does not desire to dig it from the grave.

"I had wronged Miss Delaine by keeping my marriage secret from her. I loved her, and I ask her forgiveness for my selfishness and want of trust in her love and long suffering. I had resolved to tell her that night. The night when, as I thought—like a fool!—that she was false to me!"

Elnaie started, and the blood surged over her white, wan face. "What!" she broke from her lips.

"Yes!" said the marquis, as if answering her. "With shame I own it. I thought her false! And so, my lord, I show how utterly unworthy I was to win so sweet, so true a woman."

"I thought," went on the marquis, as if resolved to make full confession, and inflict upon himself in all its bitterness and completeness the punishment he deserved.

RHEUMATISM CURED

A Right Way and a Wrong Way to Treat the Trouble.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Rheumatism is one of the most common ailments with which humanity is afflicted, and there are few troubles which cause more acute suffering.

As an illustration of how even the most aggravated cases of this trouble yield to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the case of Mr. J. J. Richards, of Port Colborne, Ont., may be cited.

"I was afflicted with rheumatism for many years, and had tried every other disease except anæmia. These pills drive the rheumatic poison out of the system by their action on the blood, and the trouble rarely returns if the treatment is persisted in until the blood is in a thoroughly healthy condition."

"The woman who stole that letter stole that sent and it is she who should stand there, and not the Marquis de Nairne!"

"I call no witnesses, my lord," he said. "I have no speech to make. The witness has spoken for me. I do not call Lady Rose to the witness box, but Miss Delaine had not used it for days previous to the fatal one. I have not to defend her innocence; no one doubts it, and as he raised his voice a murmur of applause broke from the crowd."

"The marquis made a motion of assent. The sergeant sat looking hard at Gerald. The crowd grew restless in the moment or two of suspense; then it was known that some one was approaching the witness box, and as Luigi was recognized a thrill of excitement vibrated through the people."

VEGETABLES AND FLOWERS

Care in Growing and Selection of Seeds.

It should be unnecessary to urge upon the growers of garden crops the importance of using thoroughly reliable seed, or to defend the practice of testing seeds before sowing them.

For many years all the seeds used in this country were European grown, although as early as 1785 some attention was given to their growth in the United States.

Much of the work in connection with the growing has to be done by hand, so that labor is an important consideration. This system of "roguing" practiced by all reliable growers is necessary in order to maintain the type, and consists of removing by hand all plants that deviate from the required standard.

TESTS OF SOME COMMON SEEDS

Carrot, Cauliflower, Radish, Tomato, Cabbage, Parsnip, Moringa, Glory, Sweet Peas, Fanny.

The noteworthy point in the results is the great variation in the results of different samples of the one kind of seed. For while the average is in most cases fairly satisfactory, a considerable number of samples germinate so poorly that a poor stand would be inevitable.

It is important that a buyer of seeds should know at least approximately what per cent is likely to be obtained from the limited amount of seed. The case is different with the wholesale dealer, who has seed in bulk, and should know within at least five per cent the vitality of the seeds he handles.

OLD FASHIONED GARDENS

What has become of the old-fashioned garden?

"What has become of the old-fashioned garden?" said a suburbanite to his companion the other day as both were coming home from business on one of the suburban railway lines.

"The labor involved is a serious objection to the home-growing of seed, which is practiced by some gardeners. Very frequently, too, the quality of seed produced is inferior to that grown by professionals, unless proper precautions are taken."

Any Sore That Will Not Heal

Any Ulceration, Eruption or Irritation of the Skin is Curable by Means of

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

There is no guesswork about the results obtainable from Dr. Chase's Ointment. With all medicines taken internally there is more or less uncertainty as to the effect, because the condition may not be exactly as indicated by the symptoms, but if you have a sore or wound and apply Dr. Chase's Ointment and heal it you can see with your own eyes the definite results.

DR. GEORGE WYLD'S

Notes of My Life. A charming sketch of Prof. Blackie, of whom he writes that mentally his popularity was due to his affectionate, loving and perfectly truthful nature, his free and outspoken, but never bitter, speech, and his habit of frequently bursting into song, a custom somewhat alarming on occasions.

"The marquis made a motion of assent. The sergeant sat looking hard at Gerald. The crowd grew restless in the moment or two of suspense; then it was known that some one was approaching the witness box, and as Luigi was recognized a thrill of excitement vibrated through the people."
