Most Men Have It.
"That man who turned the corner a moment ago will probably go into No. 149," said the lazy man on the front steps.
The woman stood up to look.
"It was 147," she said.
"That is near enough," said the lazy man. "I knew he would stop some place in this part of the block."
"But how could you tell?" asked the woman.
"I could tell by the door key grab," was the reply. "Most men have it. Not one man in a hundred walks till he gets to his own door to take out his latch-key. The minute he turns into his own block he unconsciously digs into his pockets."

Bees Comb.
Bees comb or beeswax, the material of which the honey cells in the beehive are composed, is a wax produced by a system of chemistry carried on in the "wax pockets" which are located in the abdomen of all working bees. It is a peculiar substance and is said to be analogous to the fats of higher animals. Originally it was supposed that this wax was taken up in an almost pure state from the flowers by the bees, but recent experiments carried on by the leading botanists and chemists of the world conclusively prove that the bee is capable of elaborating his peculiar wax, although confined to a diet purely saccharine in its nature.

How He Got the Moon.
John Henry Maedler, the astronomer, whose favorite study was the moon, having learned that Frau Witte, the wife of the state councillor, owned a wonderful model of his pet luminary, spent years trying to gain possession of it. As her husband was living, he could not marry the owner of the model, so he married her daughter, and at the death of his mother-in-law the coveted moon became his.

REMOVE PRESENT PLAN

Recommend Another Scheme of University Management.

"Commission," Says the Premier, "Is Not Expected and Has No Power to Investigate the University."—Mr. Whitney Tells Why Choice of Individuals to Serve on Commission Is An Admirable One.

Toronto, Oct. 4.—The new University Commission was formally appointed yesterday afternoon by order-in-council. The chairmanship will be offered to J. W. Flavelle, when the committee meets for organization and will accept. The secretary is I. H. N. Colquhoun.

The personnel of the commission as officially appointed is: J. W. Flavelle, chairman; I. H. N. Colquhoun, secretary; Sir William Ralph Meredith, Prof. Goldwin Smith, Rev. Coady, Rev. J. B. MacDonald, Byron E. Walker.

Mr. Whitney's Explanation.

Mr. Whitney said: "I wish to emphasize the fact that the commission is not expected, and has no power, to deal with what has occurred in university circles in the past, or in other words, 'investigate the university.' The past is a closed book, so far as the Government is concerned, and the instructions to the commissioners are simply to remove the existing scheme of management and government of the university, and recommend another in its stead."

"As the days go on it becomes more clear that the choice of the individuals to serve on the commission was an admirable one. Of course there are many very estimable gentlemen of culture and experience in the Province who would have done good work on the commission, but it was absolutely essential to success that the number of members of the commission should not exceed six or seven."

Why Are They Called?

"No reason need be given for the choice of Mr. Goldwin Smith. 'It was thought well to have one gentleman, namely, the chancellor, to represent the university. Several reasons could be advanced in favor of this idea, some of which are obvious. Then it was thought desirable to have some representative business men, and Mr. Flavelle and Mr. Walker were chosen, both of whom have taken great interest in university matters and have given more or less time to the consideration of them."

"It was also thought proper that the younger graduates of the university should be represented and Messrs. Coady and MacDonald were chosen from that class. Both of these gentlemen are well-known as taking great interest in the welfare of the university. Mr. Colquhoun was chosen as being a graduate of McGill University, and a man of wide information and knowledge on educational matters and subjects of a similar nature. He was assigned also to the position of secretary of the commission."

"The commission is to let the past severely alone, and having regard to the various systems of management in force in other similar institutions, as well as the conditions surrounding our university, to devise or formulate a new system of management and government for it. It goes without saying that in doing this the commission will avail itself of the knowledge and experience of a large number of gentlemen in Canada and the United States, who may be called experts on the subject."

Regrets Creed Cry.

"I regret exceedingly to have seen it suggested that a certain church should have more than one representative on the commission. I desire it to be distinctly understood that no church has any representative on this commission, and that the members of it were chosen without any reference whatever to their church connections. It is satisfactory to know that so far no objection has been heard from those churches that have no apparent representation whatever on the commission."

"I regret more than I can express that a question like this should be brought up in a way calculated to seriously damage the usefulness of such a body. I certainly hope that the public mind is not in the condition which this suggestion would seem to indicate."

HUNGARIAN ELECTIONS.

King Agrees to a Form of Modified Universal Suffrage.

Vienna, Oct. 4.—According to Hungarian reports, the reappointment of the Fejervary Cabinet, empowered to carry out the elections in Hungary on the basis of a modified universal suffrage, is the outcome of a prolonged audience which the King-Empress granted to Premier Fejervary and his colleagues yesterday.

Troops Clear the Streets.

Breun, Austria, Oct. 4.—Fresh disturbances between the Germans and the Czechs broke out here last evening. Gendarmes fired on the crowd, wounding one person, whereupon the mob wrecked a number of shops. Infantry and cavalry cleared the streets.

Berlin Strike Spreads.

Berlin, Oct. 4.—The strike of the electrical workers has extended to two more factories. The total number of men out is 35,000. No disturbances have occurred. Enough men have been obtained to supply a current sufficient to keep two-thirds of the streets cars going.

Customs Increase.

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—The customs revenue for the three months ending September 30 amounted to $11,829,570, an increase of $503,936 as compared with the same period of 1904. For the month of September only, the revenue was $3,916,018, a gain of $13,569 over the same four weeks of last year.

Cholera Record.

Berlin, Oct. 4.—Two fresh cases of cholera and two deaths were reported in the past 24 hours. One of the deaths occurred at Martensburg and the other at Georgenburg. The totals are 261 cases and 89 deaths.

A Lesson Wanted.

A mother was showing her dear little Joe a picture of the martyrs thrown to the lions and was talking very solemnly to him, trying to make him feel what a terrible thing it was.

"Ma," said he all at once, "oh, ma, just look at that poor little lion right behind there. He won't get any."

A Harsh Order.

"Notice.—Any person passing beyond this point will be drowned. By order of the magistrate."

Young Husband—I wish I were single again. Wife—What for? You monster! Young Husband—To have the joy of marrying you again. Wife—You darling!

The woman of the office or shop has more cause than the housekeeper to wear loose clothing, while the business woman must fight it out until the end of the day's work. The tired woman comes home from the office completely fagged out. She is nervous; she finds she cannot rest; she rolls and tosses through the night, a victim of insomnia. The housewife, perhaps the mother of a large family and doing her own housework, should take some little leisure in the middle of the day, if it only be for ten minutes. Slip away from cares and duties and throw yourself down on lounge or bed for a little while. Try to relax every muscle until your body feels heavy. Then try and stop thinking; relax your mind; throw off worry. For those ten minutes or half an hour, lie perfectly still.

"I had been a sufferer from inflammation of the ovaries for six years, and doctored with good physicians, receiving only temporary relief. I wrote Mrs. B. W. Starkweather, of Despatch, Monroe Co., N. Y. For nearly two years of bad time, the billings of uterus and general female weakness. In December last I was obliged to go to bed, and suffered everything for about ten weeks. The doctor said the only help for me was an operation, so my husband wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice. He advised my taking his 'Favorite Prescription,' and in about three days I was sitting up in bed, and to relax every muscle until your body feels heavy. Then try and stop thinking; relax your mind; throw off worry. For those ten minutes or half an hour, lie perfectly still."

Sick women, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address: Dr. E. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. You should read a complete "Doctor" book, called "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." Sent to Dr. E. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. 31 one-cent stamps, for this book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for a copy in cloth binding.

THE STAGE

"All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players."

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

At The Grand—On the Bridge at Midnight—Oct. 5, Pollard Australian Juvenile Opera Co.—Oct. 7.

(Supplied to The Planet by Press Agents.)

"ON THE BRIDGE AT MIDNIGHT"

The widely known scene which made "On the Bridge at Midnight" one of the most talked-about plays before the American public, is not the only attraction of the play. It has a remarkable story in which a blind mother seeks in the highways and byways of a great city, for her stolen child, and a villainous brother plots the destruction of his own kin. In comedy, "On the Bridge at Midnight" excels as much as in scenery, the two leading characters, the professor and the bootblack, being humorous creations that always make a hit. The bridge scene illuminates one of the climaxes, besides giving a faithful and realistic glimpse of a characteristic river scene in the heart of Chicago with the lifting drawbridge and the passing ships.

The above attraction appears at the Grand to-night. Prices 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents; no higher.

Pollard's Australian Juvenile Opera Company, one of the big attractions booked for the Grand Opera House, begins its engagement of four nights and Wednesday matinee, on Saturday, October 7th, when the popular success, "A Runaway Girl," will be presented by this clever aggregation in their inimitable manner. The Pollard's are the most remarkable musical organization in the world. It has toured Australia, South Africa, India, China, Japan, New Zealand, the United States and other countries, a record of which no other opera company has ever attained. This will be the first appearance of the company in Eastern Canada. The organization is composed entirely of Australian children, no other nationality being represented whatsoever. They are professional in everything but size, and their performances are among the cleverest operatic offerings on the stage. These remarkable youngsters were schooled in Melbourne, Australia, in an Academy especially equipped to educate them for their operatic careers. The repertoire includes "The Belle of New York," "A Runaway Girl," "The Geisha," "A Gaiety Girl," and "H. M. S. Pinafore."

Popular prices will prevail, 25, 35, 50 and 75 cents.

Women and Pins.

It seemed as if it would take a whole paper of pins to mend that torn dress. The wearer appealed to her car neighbor.

"Have you any pins?" she asked. The woman had none, but passed the query on, and in a little while every passenger was feeling along concealed edges and turning back laps. At last sixteen pins were produced. Fourteen of them were contributed by men.

"We never need them as much as the women, but somehow we carry them and they don't," said one of the latter.

PETER THE GREAT.

History Shows That the Old Ruler of Russia Was a Monster.

Years ago, when a low standard of morals prevailed, the epithet "Great" was bestowed upon any monarch who won battles and enlarged the territory and resources of his kingdom. It mattered little then to the historian what might be a king's private character, provided he made his nation formidable by his brute strength and full treasury. Even if he was a bad man they eulogized him as a good ruler. Peter I. of Russia is called Peter the Great because he transformed a barbarous into a semibarbarous nation. But no one can now read the following summary of his character without a feeling of disgust. Voltaire, in his "Philosophical Dictionary," says that "Peter was half hero and half tiger." Macaulay declares that "to the end of his life he lived in his palace like a hog in a sty, and when he was entertained by other sovereigns never failed to leave unequivocal proof that a savage had been there."

Peter, when the fit was on him, literally caned everybody—from his cook to his counselor, from the meanest peasant to the highest noble—sprang neither age nor sex. He would get up from the table and flog the host who was entertaining him. He would stand at the door of the senate house and flog each senator that went in. Lefort was an intimate and trusted friend, yet on slight provocation he was knocked down and brutally kicked by his imperial master. But all this flogging was in the way of recreation. When Peter "meant business," it was a more serious matter. Incredible as it may seem, it is nevertheless well authenticated that one of his own sisters—it is said more than one—received 100 strokes of the whip on her back in the presence of the whole court.

In 1713 Alexis, his only son who outlived infancy, was for some offense of no great seriousness several times tortured in the presence of the diabolical father and in the end died either from the effect of the torture or by assassination. For sympathizing with Alexis the Princess Golitsyn, the bosom companion of the Empress Catherine, was publicly whipped by soldiers. For the same reason the brother of his first wife, Eudoxia—whom he had thrown into prison—was tortured and then torn in pieces on the wheel. Nothing over told of Peter is more horribly grotesque than this, yet this man, or monster, rather, is paraded before the world as Peter the Great.

Early Railroad.

In the pioneer days of railroad it was sometimes necessary for the freight conductor to run forward over the roofs of the cars to shout orders to the engineer. Traveling at night was generally avoided, though one road adopted the expedient of running ahead of the locomotive a flat car loaded with sand, on which a bonfire was kept burning as a headlight.
