Then placing the egg on the table he sat down to read till the time was up. At the end of five or six minutes he was surprised to find the egg lying there before him, but supposing that he had himself taken it from the kettle and cooled it, he proceeded to crack and peel it. The consequence may be imagined. Finally he missed his watch. The house was searched high and low, and it was not till the following morning that the cook found it in the kettle, where it had been boiling for hours.

The placing the egg on the table he sat down quite the greatest railway contract on record within the stipulated time. Sir William Van Horne is recognised as a man of great foresight, sound judgment and splendid courage. He has the faculty of dealing with men, winning them over and making them co-operate with him to reach the goal he has in view. In many instances the honor of knight bood has been more lightly bestowed. If ability, resolution and brains be the prime tests, the new knight deserves the honer which he has just received.
