dood times and a good show proved to be a combination that easily overcame the bad weather last evening and filled the Grand Opera House House in every part. The show was "The Wizard of Oz," and so magnetic was its reputation that a only one "The Wizard of Oz," and so magnetic was its reputation that at only one day's notice it was sufficient to attract an audience of the S. R. O. class, so dear to the managerial heart. The extravagenza is somewhat changed from the production given a season ago, notably in the last act, but the main features remain the same. There are still the Scareerow, the most unique character in musical comedy, and the Tin Woodman, and they are again played by the clever pair, Stone and Montgomery, who really constitute the backbone of the show.

Along with the Scarecrow and the Woodman are sweet, little Dorothy Gale, played as brightly as ever by Anna Laughlin, the cow, Imogene, by Joseph Schrode, and the Coward-ly Llon, by Arthur Hill, who materially added to the entertainment. Other parts well taken were those of The Wizard of Oz, by James K. Wesley; the Lady Lunatic, by Alene Crater, who made a distinct success; the Poet Laureate, by Gertrude MacKeazie, who sang most tastefully, and Pastoria II., by Owen Westford.

"Price of Honor." To-night.
The "Price of Honor," a melodrama at popular prices, will be offered at the Grand to-night, and to-morrow matince and evening. The play is described as an original melodrama of contemporary life. Its theme hovers around the crime of phop-lifting, and one of the scenes is; laid in a New York department store. The author unfolds a plot wherein are depicted the adventures of a good woman and an honest man beset in all sides by villainy and treachery. Clever dialogue and sprightly action lead to thrilling climaxes, and these are in a measure effectively relieved by a series of humorous incidents.

Much depends upon the capacity of the boy and the size of the bag. The lowest number of apples that could be divided in this way is 79. To deal with this number the first boy would have to ent 26 in the night, the second boy 17, the third boy 11 and there would be 7 aplece for them in the morning. The annual banquet and enter-tainment of Concord Lodge, No. 291, A4 O. U. W., was held last evening in the society's hall, on MacNab street. There was a large attend-ance of members, and they spent a very jolly and pleasant time, the affair being the biggest kind of a success. Master Workman J. R. Toye, was chairman and looked af-ter his duties in a most capable manner. An excellent programme of songs and speeches was carried Every time 81 is added to 79 the result may be similarly divided.

One of the most pleasing incidents was the presentation to Bco. A. W. A coffee tale was told by a lady of East St. Louis:

"During the first five years of my married life my husband was constantly taking medicine for severe headsches every day, and he was always constition to the severy day, and he was always constition to the severy day, and he was always constition to the severy day, and he was always constition to the severy day, and the severy law of order. One doctor said the trouble lay in his kidneys, there were traces of too much albumen, but after taking several bottles of medicine without getting any relief, he changed doctors, going to a celebrated physician of St. Louis, who said it was his stomach, and gave him physic and a tonic to build up his system. But every effort failed, and he became discouraged.

"Then he consulted another doctor, A coffee tale was told by a lady of One of the most pleasing incidents was the presentation to Bro. A. W. Charlesworth, P. M. W., of a beautiful combination sceretary and book case, Bro. Jos. Ross, on behalf of the lodge, made the presentation. He told the recipient how much they appreciated his services. Mr. Charlesworth, although greatly taken by surprise, managed to express his gratification in a few well-chosen remarks.

George Buskin, of International

Colportage Mission, Here. Goo. Buskin, agent of the International Colportage Mission, is visiting Hamilton and Dundas on behalf of the work. He has issued the twentieth annual report of the Mission's work, thankfully acknowledging the support accorded it through another year. Two thousand, two hundred and fifty copies of Scriptural books were supplied during the past year in four languages by its agency, also a multitude or religious tracts, periodicals, etc. The money received for the books was $199.55, and those given to camps, etc., were 997 copperiodicals, etc. The money received for the books was $199.55, and those given to camps, etc., were 997 coples, value $98.72, not including tracts and periodicals. The donations from 92 towns and villages were $1.918-95. Hamilton's contribution to the work being $68.25, and Dandas $22-75. both of which are gratefully acknowledged. The entire receipts and paid accounts were $2.273.76, liabilities being $8.361, and assets $5-177. Thirty-five thousand copies of tracts, books and booklets were published during the year, among them a dictionary for the Offbway Indians, in the English and Indian languages. The second part will be undertaken some time later. The mission still relies upon Divine Providence and the Christian public to be englabed to continue, improve and enlarge the work, and also to discharge its many liabilities. The depot is at 202 King street east, Toronto, and all are invited to visit and inspect the stock.
