MIDWINTER CLOSING RECITALS

Of the many meritorious recitals which have been given in the last year by the pupils of the piano and violin schools of the city, the following are the most notable.

On Monday afternoon, the Junior Classes assembled, and as each pupil played, the following are the names: Misses Lillian Taylor, Paul McKeown, Helen Dawson, Myrtle Peterson, Jessie Cope, Maxine Morris, Margaret Pace, Lorraine Veal, Sadie McCrimmon, Ruth Nelson, Lena Secord, Ethel Goode, Nesta Mercer.

The intermediate pupils were heard at the evening, when the pieces played were of greater range and were of course more difficult and complicated. Among the numbers on the program were a Nocturne in G Flat (Chopin), Hied Ohne Worte (Mendelssohn) and a piece for two pianos, "Trot de Cavalerie" (Bach).

Among the names on the program were Jean Dawson, Maud Looby, Ethel Weeks, Nora Campbell, Lilian Grindley, Edith Arter, Eva Goode.

On Tuesday evening the third of the series was given by the senior students. The accomplishments in this class, which were very admirably displayed in their recitals, are worthy of the sincerest and highest praise.

As an opening piece, "Trot de Cavalerie" was repeated from the previous evening. Then in the following order came: "The Swan" (Chopin), "Arabesque" (Chopin), "Mourning Zephyr" (Franz Liszt), and "An Rouse" (Grieg).

Among the names on the program were Misses Jean Dawson, Maud Looby, Ethel Weeks, Nora Campbell, Lilian Grindley, Edith Arter, Eva Goode.

SCHOOL DEBENTURES PURCHASED

THE LAND FOR THE SETTLER:

100 MILLION ACRES OF IT.

By Our Own Correspondent.

Calgary, June 28.—Hon. F. Oliver moved the second reading of the new Land Act today, giving an extended explanation of its main features.

It was in some respects similar to the bill introduced last year, though the details had been carefully revised and there was one important departure from the former proposal.

When the policy of aiding railway construction by land grants was adopted, one half the land in the western country—the odd-numbered sections—had been reserved as an area from which the railway companies might select their grants. He was able to announce that all the companies had earned grants had selected their land, and it was patented or in process of patenting. The balance of the reserved land was now for disposal by the Government as considered best.

The Hudson Bay Railway Grant.

The existing Lands Act offered a land grant to a company building a line to Hudson Bay—rather than each section of the line, one running to the North Saskatchewan river and the other from the river to the Bay.

The southern line had been completed and the land grant for it made. The northern part had not been built, and it was not the policy of the Government to continue the offer of a land grant for that part.

To Lift the Mortgage.

By reason of the standing offer of a land grant for this northern section of five hundred miles, a mortgage was placed on the land of the West to secure the construction of the road. The Government proposed to lift this mortgage. But the road could not be abandoned in order to lift the mortgage. The road must be built and the mortgage lifted also. It was necessary therefore to put something in the place and stead of the mortgage, which was to be cancelled, if the road was to be constructed.

To Recoup Treasury.

This was the purpose of last year's proposal to sell pre-emption quarters—a new source of revenue was created to recoup the treasury for any burden thrown upon it by reason of the construction of the road. The bill had been made covering in the country with the fact that the source would recoup the treasury for all expenditure and thus disburse any apprehensions of the enterprise being too burdensome on the country.

Less Security Necessary.

It had been represented, however, that a less sweeping measure would be sufficient. The view prevailed that the compensation necessary could be secured by applying the pre-emption privilege to a smaller area. As the main purpose of the pre-emption was to secure the building of the road, the area affected had been lessened accordingly. If the road could be built without pre-emption he would not insist on any pre-emption area.

Former Pre-emption Area.

Last year's bill had provided for pre-emption being purchased in territory both north and south of the belt in which the railways had selected their land grants. This belt ran in horse-shoe shape, northwesterly from Manitoba and curving south in Alberta to the boundary. It was permitted, however, for settlers who had already exhausted their homesteaded privilege to take pre-emption within the railway belt—the central northern prairie country. This extends practically from Moose Jaw to Calgary and from the boundary north to the 44th township, the exact limits being detailed in the bill. Within this area a man who has not previously homesteaded may take up a homestead and also buy a pre-emption quarter at $3 per acre, on condition of doing settlement duties. Settlers who have patents may as before buy pre-emption wherever the land can be found.

All Crown Land Open for Homesteads.

The first clause of the new measure provided for throwing all odd-numbered, as well as the even-numbered sections open for homesteading. There was known to be 2,000,000 acres of crown land in the West. Thirty million acres had been given to railways and the same amount homesteaded.

Some people look upon this as a mere drink. It all depends upon the tea. Settlers who are not yet settled are not yet settled. Settlers who are not yet settled are not yet settled.

The Settler Benefits.

Under the proposed law the settler would be allowed to buy five million acres of land at a minimum price and to reap the benefit of its enhancement in value as the reward for their investment and labor.

This Was Why He Proposed the Bill.

It had been just because the settler was to get the benefit that the former bill had been attacked. It was represented that the bill would make the settlers rich. Well, if he knew of any measure which would accomplish that desirable result it would have his unqualified support. He asked the approval of the bill on the ground that the settler would get the benefit, and because he would get the benefit.

Expectations of 21,000 Per Cent.

Montreal, July 6.—The owner of a piece of property which has been purchased by the city for a police station has been told that the property is worth 21,000 per cent. profit on the deal. This was disclosed in a report of real estate experts presented to the city council this morning. The property was bought in 1905 and had been held for 21 years. It was in a prime location and was expected to be worth 21,000 per cent. profit on the deal. This was disclosed in a report of real estate experts presented to the city council this morning.
