

70 YEARS OLD AND GETTING WELL

Thanks to Gin Pills

61 MADISON AVE., TORONTO.
APRIL 7TH, 1911.
During the past two years, I have been suffering with kidney trouble—severe pains in my back at times, and with feet, ankles and legs so very swollen that I found it difficult to move around the house even in slippers. I am pleased to tell you, since taking GIN PILLS, the pain has gone, the swelling has subsided, and I again wear my boots—which have not been upon my feet for nearly two years. I am seventy years of age, and am now using my sixth box of GIN PILLS.
—E. A. SCADDING.

Old people with lame backs—who suffer with Rheumatism, or Kidney or Bladder Trouble—will find welcome relief in GIN PILLS. Every box guaranteed and money refunded if not satisfactory. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50—sample free if you write National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada Limited, Dept. N Toronto.

Narrow Escape From War.

Special Evening Telegram.
LONDON, To-day.
Newspapers have spent a week investigating the truth of statements made in a speech by Capt. Faber, member of parliament for Andover Division of Hampshire, in which he told of the narrow escape of Britain from war with Germany over the Moroccan situation. The result is a remarkable consensus of opinion between the Government and the Opposition journals to the effect that although Mr. Faber has mixed up facts and figures, it is not to be questioned that both the Army and the Navy were warned to be ready for possible war, that the heads of the Army had planned to send 150,000 troops to help France in case of necessity, practically denouncing Britain of trained soldiers. The newspapers "court" exaggerated the Admiralty's charge made by Mr. Faber, and finds that the Admiralty knew perfectly the whereabouts of the German Fleet and that the concentration of the British Fleet was fully provided for.

Fire in Bunker.

Special to Evening Telegram.
MONTREAL, To-day.
Fire in the coal bunkers of the Dominion Glasgow liner, Cassandra, yesterday necessitated the flooding of the bunkers. The damage was slight but the sailing was delayed.

Borden Will Repeal the Naval Act.

Special Evening Telegram.
OTTAWA, To-day.
Premier Borden's speech in the House of Commons yesterday intimated that the present Naval Act will be repealed. The Conservative Government will formulate a new policy in regard to naval matters.

On the War Path.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, To-day.
The Suffragettes are preparing to renew attacks on Parliament with a battle to-night to surpass previous campaigns.

Policeman Stabbed.

Special Evening Telegram.
SYDNEY, To-day.
Police Sergeant McNeill, while arresting an Assyrian for burglary, was stabbed three times. His injuries are serious.

a well-fed brain and nervous system are essential to success.

Brain workers especially need food in the morning that will not overload the stomach.

Much depends on the start one gets each day, as to mental vigor and how he may expect to accomplish the work on hand.

He can't be alert and have a clear-working brain and steady nerves on a heavy breakfast which requires a lot of vital energy in digesting it.

Sensational Story.

Mother of Chinese Emperor said to have Eloped with Chinese Actor.
Special to Evening Telegram.
SAN FRANCISCO, To-day.
Princess Hai, mother of the baby Emperor of China, and wife of the Prince Regent, has eloped with a Chinese actor, according to Chinese newspapers received yesterday. The Princess is said to have taken a fortune in jewels, and is living with the actor in Mukden. An actor and a harber are classed with the lowest of castes in China. The Chinese here state that the elopement of the Princess is the greatest disgrace that could come to the Manchu dynasty.

More Money for Extensions.

Special to Evening Telegram.
MONTREAL, To-day.
At the meeting of the Directors of the Dominion Steel Corporation, the chief subject considered was the recommendation of President Plummer that the Company should not continue to provide for the expenditure on the new plant by the sale of bonds authorized in 1909, of which six million are still held in the Treasury, but that the capital should be obtained by the issue of preferred stock of the Corporation. The Coal Co. also entered upon important extensions which require greater facilities for transportation. The capital required by the Company will also be obtained through the Corporation. Nothing definite was done in regard to making it would be the best method of obtaining capital for building the various plants.

McMurdo's Store News.

TUESDAY, Nov. 21, 1911.
Here is something very dainty in the soap line: miniature cakes of Cashmere Bristle and Mouno Violet Soaps. These are Colgate's goods, and indeed are specialties of theirs. These two particular ones outclass any American soaps we know of. Price 12 cents a cake.
"Inhalazone" is the name of the latest apparatus for relieving cold in the head and catarrh. It is one of the Na-Dru-Co. preparations, and like all their goods, is a tried and approved remedy for the troubles in question. If a cold in the head threatens, better get a package. Price 25 cents.
We have a huge stock of toilet soap in tin, and shall have them open in a day or so. All kinds and prices.

Wreck of Rescue.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries had the following message from Collector Benning at St. Lawrence:
"Just returned from wreck of 'Rescue'. The vessel is a total loss. Only one side of the hull is remaining. The rigging, a couple of anchors, a piece of chain, and some pieces of canvas are saved. There is no vestige of cargo. It is all washed away. I held survey and condemned ship. I will sell all there is on Thursday morning. I am putting out notice here and at L'Anse."

When Gentlemen Was Lacking.

It was their honeymoon, and the young husband, anxious to show his skill, had hired a sailing-boat. Alone, he and his wife rode on the silent waters.
He told her how to handle one of the sails, while he attended to the tiller. Suddenly came a puff of wind.
"Let go that sail!" he called quickly.
There was no response, and again he called.
"Let go that sheet—quick!"
Still no movement. A few minutes after, when they were both clinging to the bottom of the overturned boat, he said:
"Why didn't you let go of that sail when I told you to, dear?"
"I would have done it," said his loving bride, "if you had not been so rough about it. You ought to speak more gently to your wife."

Hospital Patients.

Miss Parrell went to hospital this morning. Mr. Frank Miller, of the s.s. Fortia, who has a bad knee, was sent down this morning. P. Wreck at Isle au Morfe

Yesterday at 6.30 p.m. the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Mr. Piccott, received from the Wreck Commissioner at Channel the following telegraph despatch:
"Reported wreckage drifting about Isle aux Moris yesterday and to-day. It is said the schooner is on Western Islands. At that place a name board was picked up, marked 'Rowena'. Think crew have perished."
There are four vessels of this name on the Insurance Register, one of which belongs to R. Mouton of Burgeo and is employed in the service of freighting coal from Sydney to Channel and adjacent places. Mr. Piccott at once sent a wire to Capt. England of the s.s. Fiona at Burgeo to go to Isle aux Moris at once and investigate.

To One Bulb—$5.00.

Facts and Figures to Interest The Winter Gardener.
A potential little article is a bulb. To look at, one of these curious, wrappied-up forms of plant life is very much like another. What lies beneath the dry outer skin is a mystery concealed as only Nature knows how to preserve her secrets.
One thousand bulbs, carriage-paid, for five shillings is the current offer of a Wisbech firm of growers, yet the equivalent to five thousand sovereigns has actually been paid for a single tulip bulb.
You can purchase daffodil bulbs at two shillings per hundred, but the patrician varieties of the clan cost as many pounds apiece. A few years ago the Peter Barr daffodil changed hands at twenty guineas per bulb, and one firm in Covent Garden, London, offered a new type at fifty pounds for a single bulb, and kept their limited stock in the depths of their most massive safe.
Eclipsing the Potato.
Bulbs run a level race with orchids for the fancy prices paid by their patrons for single specimens. Quite recently we had the big potato boom, when solitary tubers were sold at £100, but the potato record has been eclipsed by that of the bulb family.
The biggest boom in bulbs was that which occurred in Holland in the seventeenth century, and ever since that time the Dutch have been in control of the world's market for this class of commerce. On that historic occasion a nation went mad over bulbs, and the Government had to step in and put a stop to the craze.
The boom—and the present vast industry, for that matter—owed its inception to the importation of some tulips from Turkey. The flowers from these bulbs were probably poor and colourless compared with the gorgeous creations of to-day, but they set a country aflame.
Everyone wanted to grow tulips. As the seasons came round new seedling varieties were introduced.
In those days bulbs were literally sold like gold and precious stones, for they were weighed in the balance, and their price depended upon the number of "azens" they scaled—the azen being a small weight similar to the grain we use now.
A "mother-bulb" set in the smallest of gardens would produce the required seedlings, and in many cases the bulbs were sold whilst in the ground at the purchaser's risk, to be delivered when the season came for raising and replanting them.
When Spies Stopped In.
For the time the inns became bulb-markets and clubs, or "collegiums," were formed. Buyers and sellers would meet, and with each group would be the arbitrator. If any entered who did not belong to the club the members would quack like ducks, as a signal that a spy had penetrated their circle.
It is a matter of history that during the craze in the neighborhood of Haarlem rare tulip bulbs were sold for the colossal sum of £10,000,000—ons bulb realizing £5,000, another twelve acres of land and so on. In those days the value of a sheep was ten florins, yet bulbs changed hands for nearly five thousand florins frequently.
Naturally, the skilful horticulturist who to-day introduces a striking new variety of bulb—any other flower, for that matter—sets a high price upon it, so that he may benefit from his astuteness; but it is improbable that there will be another mad, exhilarating boom like that which beset Holland.

The Kidneys Wear Out

But in advanced years you can keep these organs healthy by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.
As old age comes on most people suffer more or less from derangements of the kidneys. With some there are years of pain and aches, with others Bright's disease sets in and the end comes quickly.
Fortunately many have learned about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and are enabled by their use to keep the kidneys healthy and active.
Mr. Richard Preston, Ontario, Lambton County, Ont., says: "I was fifteen years ago I began to feel the kidneys healthy and active. My back was so bad that it stooped or rise was torture to me. The pills were in had condition, but these pills entirely freed me of back pains. I have used them ever since, and of ever the kidneys would get out of order, and now, at eighty years, my well and hearty, thanks to this grand medicine."
