Mr. J. E. Arsenault, a Justice of the Peace, and station master at Wellington, on the Prince Edward Island Railway, says:

Four years ago, I slipped in the station and fell on a freight truck, sustaining a bad cut on the front of my leg. I thought this would heal, but instead of doing so it developed into a bad ulcer and later into a form of eczema which spread very rapidly and also started on the other leg. Both legs became so swollen and sore that I could only go about my work by having them bandaged. My doctor said I must stop work and lay up. After six months of this trouble I consulted another doctor, but with no better result. I tried all the salves, liniments and lotions I heard of, but instead of getting better I got worse. This was my condition when I got my first box of Zam-Buk. Greatly to my delight that first box gave me relief. I continued to apply it to the sores, and day by day they got better.

"I could see that at last I had got hold of something which would cure me, and in the end it did. It is now over a year since Zam-Buk worked a cure in my case, and there has been no return of the eczema or any trace of it. It would be impossible to find a case where the sores were worse than those on my limbs, and I think Zam-Buk is a marvellous healing balm or it could not have cured me as it did when all else failed.'

She watched their effect on her enemies, I noticed, with a scared, anxious look, and even condescended now and then to offer explanations or excuses, which made me dimly suspect that there was something more than met the eye in her poor sister-in-law's untimely visit, some unfortunate family mystery that threatened to shake her already feeble tenure of power over her son-in-law.

now? In a month or two my life in this troubled world was to close forever. I had made up my cowardly wavering mind at last that, as soon as my master's marriage was announced, I would return to the convent. I had written to the reverend mother, telling her I was longing to re enter the holy home of struggles and vain surmises to me longing to re enter the holy home of my childhood for good; had received my childhood for good; had received nicces for whom she had no use and her answer, warmly welcoming me, and the first of May was fixed for my entry into the novitiate.

I tried to tell Sir Richard of it several times, but somehow I cou'd not; a look, a kind, careless smile from him would make me falter. I felt I could never leave him, unless he sent me away; never have the courage to loosen the hot clasp of his child's wasted arms as they c'ung round my neck.

Oh, why did I mind-why did it hurt me so? I asked myself for the hundredth time. Should I never get away from the fiery, senseless pain of jealousy that was torturing me? Would years of absorbing routine, of unceasing prayer and devoted struggle, drive it out of my heart? Should I forget him when I had grown grey and wrinkled i the service of my Master?

'Oh, Jessie, Jessie!' I murmured, piteously, as I rested my hot face against the framework of my open window and gazed at the white stone that stood out distinctly in the moonlight, beyond the dark belt of trees that marked her bed, 'if you trees that marked her bed, 'if you wild only tell me it is all over Mrs Massey as she re-entered the room—'to fall from the moon, because concussion of the brain or appolexy would be likely to set—

A Clean Man

Ourside cleanliness is less than half the battle. A man may scrub himself a dozen times a day, and still be unctean. Good health means cleanliness not only outside, but inside. It means a clean stomach, clean bowels, clean blood, a clean river, and new, clean, healthy tissues. The man who is clean in this way will look it and act it. He will work with energy and think clean, clear, healthy thoughts.

He will never be troubled with liver, lung, stomach or blood disorders. Dyspepsia and indigestion originate in unclean stomachs. Blood diseases are found where there is unclean blood. Consumption and bronchitis mean unclean langs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

prevents these diseases. It makes a man's insides clean and healthy. It cleans the digestive organs, makes pure, clean blood, and clean, heaithy flesh.

It restores tone to the nervous system, and cures nervous exhaustion and prostration. It contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs.

Constipation is the most unclean uncleaniness. Dr. Pierce's Pieasant Peletts cure it. They never gripe. Easy to take as candy.
