

Health—A Live Subject At Afternoon Teas

It is under such circumstances that experiences are exchanged and women tell one another what treatments have been of most benefit to them.

It is a pretty safe guess that in these tete-a-tetes no medicine is so frequently mentioned as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and there is a very good reason why.

Any physician will tell you that most of the ailments which most bother women are due to lowered vitality.

In these days of surgical specialists the operation is too frequently the first thing recommended whereas in many cases restored vitality would enable nature to restore the natural functions to the deranged organs.

Lowered vitality may come from the strain of irregular hours, loss of rest and sleep, too much excitement or worry.

It may also result from lack of proper nourishment, from over-eating or from sedentary habits.

When vitality runs low there is no end to the troubles that may arise and you are an easy prey to colds, pneumonia and all sorts of germ diseases.

Restorative treatment is demanded and because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has proven to be the greatest of restoratives of the blood and nerve force is why it is so greatly appreciated by women everywhere.

At this season of the year particularly, almost everybody is in need of such assistance as is found in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Put this popular restorative to the test when you find yourself nervous, irritable and sleepless or suffer from indigestion, headaches or tired, depressed feelings.

You will soon be convinced of its merits and will realize then why so many thousands of women find a joy in telling their friends of benefits received.

Dr. Chase's Medicines are for sale in Newfoundland by all druggists and dealers in medicines.

If your local merchant cannot supply you write direct to Mr. Gerald S. Doyle, Water St., St. John's, as he is sole agent for the Dr. Chase Medicine Co., in Newfoundland.

Just Folks. By EDGAR A. GUEST

MYSTERIES.
Oh, there's much to think about—
So much to try to figure out.
So many mysteries profound.
That everywhere we look around
It seems in sky, or sea, or land,
Are things we do not understand.

With all our wisdom, still we lie
And gaze into the open sky
And wonder at the stars which race
Across that boundless sea of space,
And who conceived so vast a plan,
And was it only made for man?

What caused the rivulet to flow,
And when did grass begin to grow?
Who shaped the bird with graceful bend,
Or thought about the whippoorwill?
What vast imagination planned
The countless insects of the land?

A robin sings. His note is heard—
Who knows the secrets of a bird?
And who can tell us how or why
God sent to earth the butterfly,
Or tell what marvelous mind conceived
The first frail web a spider weaved?

How far our little dreams may run!
With questioning we're never done.
No moment of the day but brings
Us face to face with wondrous things,
All mysteries which have baffled man
Since the far day when life began.

An Endorsement

Editor Evening Telegram.
PORT AU PORT, April 23.
The inspiring address of Lt.-Col. Nangle, Dominion President of the Great War Veterans Associations delivered to the Veterans gathered at the Star Theatre in the city on the 15th, strikes a responsible chord in the breast of every returned service man, and has the true ring of the soldier and sailor's advocate and friend, and is characteristic of the Padre as we knew him over there. We enlisted for the defense of justice, right and freedom, and it is true as our president said in his address to the comrades that the principle exists just as strong to-day as ever it did, but it has to be fought for, and it has to be fought for with the same courage, the same determination, and the same sacrifice. The ex-service men have been appealed to take part in this fight. They are, I believe, willing and ready, and if they remain loyal to their association and its ideals and to one another as well, they can do much to make Newfoundland safe for right and truth and justice—qualities for which her people were justly respected in the past.

HIGH PRICES.

WALT MATSON

The booze they sell is priced so high a poor man can't get drunk; a hecker of their deadly rye will cost you half a plunk. A man must be absurdly rich if he'd acquire a buzz, and roll around in yonder ditches and have all kinds of fun. They used to make their booze of grain, of barley, corn and rye, and one could take his bitter-plain, and not go blind or die. The barley and the rye and corn were experienced stuff, and fifteen cents would buy a horn, and that seemed dear enough. But now they're using costly dyes, and drugs of noxious smell, to make the bourbons and the ryes the boozies dealers sell. It costs to manufacture booze, the way they make it now, to gather up old over-shoes, and horns of goat and cow, to boil tin cans and cast-off hats, to get the rinds of rancid cheese, to get the blood of vampire bats, the sap of upas trees. One cannot get without expense, an alligator's nest, the rusty barb wire from a fence, that gives the bitters zest. One cannot without money buy a vat of purple ink, a crosscut saw, a keg of lye, to make the modera drink. And so the price of flaying howls is up, and up to stay, and only men with ample rolls can kill themselves that way. But one may to the hydrant truck, in peace and great content, and pour three gallons down his neck, and not cough up a cent.

Fads and Fashions.

Many of the prettiest spring coats have short shoulder capes.
The veil is rarely used except as a trimming or to soften an edge.

Some of the new hats have large brims all around except in back.
Peb ornaments are even used on the crowns of small tailored hats.

The small mantilla is worn in schu style with the evening gown.
A touch of summer fur is used on almost all the new spring coats.

White, beige and sand color are smartest for early summer frocks.

Some of the loveliest of the new informal evening gowns are of lace.

A silk underslip of pale rose and white is used for a frock of gray lace.

BRANDRAM'S GENUINE B-B WHITE LEAD

ANY product that successfully survives the critical tests of ten generations must possess unusual merit. Brandram's Genuine B-B White Lead has just such a record. Since 1729 it has stood alone as the World's Standard White Lead.

It breaks up easily and works readily into a beautiful snowy white paste which thins to just the right consistency for economical brush work. Paints mixed with Brandram's Genuine B-B White Lead spread further with less effort and greater smoothness than any others. They form a tough, elastic coating that offers wonderful resistance to the wear and tear of time and the elements.

Use Brandram's Genuine B-B White Lead when painting and give your property the protection it deserves.
