A Skye Terrier Bitten by a London Mad Dog Died

Died of the Rabies.

Saturday. The Little Daughter of Mr. W. E. Rice, Who Was Bitten on the Cheek by the Same Dog, to Be Sent to the Pasteur Institute, New York. The question of sending another child to the Pasteur Institute, New York, will in all likelihood be brought up at the City Council tonight. It will be remembered that a few days ago a dog of the Great Dane breed, belonging to Alonzo D. Harvey, created a sensation on the Hamilton road by biting the little daughter of Mr. W. E. Rice, killing a goat and oiting two Skye terriers belonging to Mr. Kilpatrick, and several other dogs round the neighborhood. The Great Dane died at the city pound the fol-lowing day, and Dr. McDonald and Medical Health Officer Hutchinson exacted a quantity of spinal serum with Death of one of Mr. Kilpatrick's terriers has brought the matter forcibly to the front again. After the two terriers were bitten by Harvey's dog Mr. Kilpatrick took one dog to the pound, but kept the other at home locked up thief: "This di in a loft in his barn. All last week me in Paradise the dog was as well and playful as usual, but on Friday Mr. Kilpatrick noticed a peculiar flerceness in the brute's eye, and it declined to eat. When the dog had made all morning. Mr. Kilpatrick went out to the barn, and when he went to ascend into the loft the dog gazed down at him, covered with foam and frothing at the mouth. The dog was left alone and was found dead on Saturday morning. As soon as this news reached the home of Mr. Rice, considerable anxiety was manifested, and the family physician, Dr. that the child be sent to the Pasteur Institute immediately, and Mr. Rice signified his intention of sending the ittle girl away on the 4:30 train this afternoon. Mr. Rice purposes that the city shall pay the expense.

lev. G. T. Carr at the Southern Con gregational - A Farewell at St. James' - Pulpit Exchanges, Etc.

Rev. G. Trotter Carr, of Stratford formerly of this city), preached two able discourses to large congregations in the Southern Congregational Church yesterday, to further celebrate the opening of the new edifice. Rev. Mr. Claris preached in his stead in Strat-ford. Mr. Carr referred feelingly to former ties, when they worshiped in a large room in Spencer block, but now, through earnest work on the part of the pastor and congregation, they had a fine new edifice of their own. He also was happy to meet his old Lon-don friends on an occasion of this kind. Mrs. Carr accompanied Mr. Carr, and will remain for a short visit here.

Archdeacon Davis yesterday preached the last sermon in St. James' Church (South London), previous to the alterations to be made in the building. The work begins on Tuesday. The church has been erected 20 years. The arch-deacon told his congregation not to disperse to other churches in the meanime, as there would be room in the Sunday school.

Christ Church (Episcopal) was crowded at both services yesterday, and in the evening standing room wa obtained with difficulty. Rev. Mr Gunne, of Wyoming, occupied the pui pit on both occasions, and preached two eloquent and impressive sermons. The renditions by the choir were far above the average, and the baritone solo and chorus, "O, Tolling Bells," was the feature of the evening's musical programme. Mr. J. T. Dalton was the soloist.

Mr. Drummond's personal appearance betokens a well-balanced and thoughtful mind and a large reserve fund of spiritual energy and intellectual force, rather than physical vivaciousness. He is one who would ise in the estimation of a congregation the longer he remained in their nidst. His style as a preacher, whi not oratorical, is calculated to arrest and impress. He has few gestures, and these are not studied ones. They are the external way of showing the force of a soul that is greatly exercised by the burden of truth. His sermons are carefully prepared, and come with a freshness to the people that indicates a mind which is active in its morning was on Galatians, i. 4, and in points showed a liberality of theologi al thought that is always the out-
