It was wanted for export to Newfoundland; $3 35, Montreal, was bid for it; American flour same grade which the order was filled, was obtained at the price bid for freights, and is equal to a bid of $3 43 previous. The Appearance of the Aged Pope While Conducting Mass.

Rome Correspondence, London Telegraph.

For most of the crowd in the famous chapel, the center of interest was, no doubt, the person of Leo XIII., who made his entry with all the pomp and display of traditional usage, borne aloft, the great fans on either side, preceded by dignitaries of the papal household, and attended by the Noble and Swiss Guards—an imposing spectacle, of which it is hard to believe that the Galilean fisherman had prescience.

Although the features of his Holiness and those of Mr. Gladstone have little resemblance, the illustrious veterans are like each other in two respects. son, at Glencoe, about one month ago, Both are pallid, and in both the eyes requesting that the reward of $50, are especially keen and brilliant. Word was could be no mistaking the vitality of sent to High Constable Schram at the glances that obviously took in the time the robbery was committed, and whole scene, and, it was easy to ashe tried to obtain possession of the sume, every person present. The mass proceeded in the usual way, the voice of the aged pontiff, though feeble, b ing distinctly heard, and the papal choir, grouped in front of a huge missal, doing their part with an earnest ness and feeling I have remarked upon as conspicuous in the Roman services.

With regard to the quality of the choir, it may be said that musical ears, accustomed to the accurate intonation been recorded, in which case the prize of English cathedral singers, could not approve without reserve. To put the matter plainly, the choir was sometimes distinctly out of tune, and the criticisms leveled against their music in past years are still, to some extent, applicable. I am told, however, that the papal singers appear at their best in the holy week music of Bai and Allegri, particularly the "Miserere" of the master last named, for the special effects of which they continue famous. Accepting the statement, it is needless to say how much I regret that actual of the question. But while the intonation of the choir in singing the mass might have been improved, some of work was exceedingly fine. leading soprano-possibly he of the Giulia Chapel-the principal tenor and the first bass displayed exceptional powers, and, as it may be assumed that the traditional rendering of the older church composers was strictly observed, the performance generally had the highest interest for every musical visitor. At the close of the mass the pontifical procession retraced its steps, and the congregation was free to depart. There was an unseemly scramble for overcoats on the way out.
