"Why is money so hard to get from the banks ?" asked a young business man from an older head. " older head. " Because the directors first help them-elves, and then the public, made of busi-

One time the manager will tell you that there is a by-law that interferes with your application, or that you will have to wait till the manager can submit with your application, or that you will have to wait till the manager can submit it to the board, etc., etc. Bat the fact is the money ian't always there—the directors have hormore directors the directors the directors the source of the sou have borrowed it either themselves or their

"Or better still," said the young man, "I'll become a bank director." "You have reason," said the old man. All of which conversation leads up to an article which appeared in the Monetary Times on Saturday, and which has financial circles by the ear : THE BANK RETURNS—AN IRREGULARITY. The fact that the directors of one bank, whose headquarters are in Ontario, had in their private capacity, in August last, bor rowed, from themselves as directors, MORE TRAN THE WEOLE CAPITAL of the institution whose affairs they add minister, has entirely escaped public notice. The capital is $1,560,000, and the amount for which the digetors were liable was $1, 596,000. In September the amount for which the digetors were liable was $1, 596,000. The capital is $1,560,000, and the amount for which the directors were liable was $1,-596,000. In September the amount of paper on which there were directors' names had been reduced some $200,000; making the whole amount of their indebted-ness to the bank a little less than the whole capital.

It such a stretch of authority by the directors in favor of themselves were legal, it would be highly improper. BUT IT IS CLEARLY ILLEGAL. By the charter of the bank the directors are not permitted to have their names on more than one-tenth of the paper discounted. To bring this borrowing within the charter the discounts ought to be $15,000,000, while they are only about half that amount. In similar cases the comptroller at Washington assumes that the penalty for this over-borrowing of directors is forfeitners of the charter. At the very time when this excessive horrowing by directors was at its highest, the stock of the bank sold the highest of any on the Canadian list. norning Sheriff Temple declared the Scott act sustained by a majority of 41. Historical traditions of the nations past as well as present generally agree in the be-lief of a golden age in time long ago-an age as well as present generally agree in the be-lief of a golden age in time long ago-an age that implied human periocotor, and a loca-tion of supreme grandeur where the needs of man were plentifully met, and where special privileges of intercourse between the creature and the oriestor were allowed. The voice of mythology, of history and of human experience declars that man once walked and talked with god or gods. The bible sustains these traditions, stripped of their mythology, in the simple story of Arkit, Eve AND TARADISE. Who that believes in the existence of a supreme being could think less than that he began man in a suitable condition properly endowed to take care of himself ? The idea held by some that man had every-thing to learn is one that has no sustaining argument in any department of mature. What passages of scripture Inspector Hughes and clergy agreed upon with such singu thing to learn is some that has no sustaining argument is any department of nature. Look at the world, if you please, ponderons and mighty, with its laws and order. Look at the sun and see the sublime mechanism of heaven tuned to time and made subser-vient to earth. See the day open and the gates of morn swing silently aside. The sun cometh forth to ran his race like a strong man. How stately his stepping! How majestic he moves! He holds the night-shades, he dispenses the gloom of the valley; paves his way with beams and covers his trail in cloud-mantles of crim-son and purple, touching the mountain top with its glory, flooding the cottage and pai-ace with his rays. Peerless and grand he rests in mid-heaven—the monarch of day, the lord of night, the light of heaven, the glory of earth !

rests in mid-heaven—the monarch of day, the lord of night, the light of heaven, the glory of earth 1. How can man look at the provisions in earth and sky and air and conclude that the Divine would not make absolute provi-sion for man in his first home? What a timished and complete world this is! Even its Creator declared "it was very good." He would not have said that if man had been groveling like a worm in the dust or TWFING ON ALL FOURS 'INE A MONXEY. "Everything is very good"—this monkey ? Just think of the jar upon man's conscious-ness of good at such an idea.! When you go to Eden and think of crea-tion, you must remember three depart-ments : the world, rough and unreclaimed ; Eden, inside of the world, a superior tarri-tory in climate; and paradise, which is again superior to Eden ; in fact, paradise simply means the culturation and epitôme of all that is gool in nature, just as we are the epitome of the earth. The outer world is is in my body; my soul stands for Eden, and my spirit for paradise. Man himself is thus a trinity.

A WEEK'S DEVELOPMENTS. From the Montreal Gazette, Oct. 27.

The past week has brought about some rather important changes in the financial situation. Comparing the prices of leading stocks with those of six days ago, we find a decline of 61 per cent in the Bank of Montreal, 6 in Commerce 51 in St. Paul and Manicoba railway, 5 m Federal and City Gas Company, 4 in To-ronto, 3 in Merchants' and 2 in Molsons'.

The causes producing these results are vari-ous. Primarily is to be ranked THE STRINGENCY IN THE LOAN MARKET,

THE STRINGENCY IN THE LOAN MARKET, brokers having found themselves this week practically cut off from the banks as a feeder of stock operations, and although the rate of call loans was run up to 7 per cent. the money was still not forthcoming. With very great difficulty in carrying stocks, with the expense greatly increased by reason of the advance in rates for call loans, with no prospect of an early relaxa-tion from the prevailing stringency, and with sundry hints afloat that BANK SHARES HAD BEEN INFLATED
