Crippled But Not Feared.
St. Thomas, Ont., Aug. 22, 1895. E. S. Miller, Esq., Secy. T. P. P. L.

Dear Sir,—Having just received your cheque for five hundred dollars, I may say that I am a fortunate fellow for I was prevailed upon eight years ago to take a public office of $2000 P. P. L. I was then in robust health, and with nothing in the world to depend on in my old age, the company has completely ruined me. The entire cost of the insurance from the beginning had been only $140. Had the rate been high, I could never have kept it up, especially since my health failed me. I am begging you for your promptness and courtesy. I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
S. J. STEVENSON,

POBABLY FATALLY HURT.
Elisha Hamilton, a Laborer, Fractured His Skull by a Fall at the Simpson Building.

A serious accident occurred at the Simpson building last night, the victim being Elisha Hamilton, a laborer, 28 years of age, who resides at 1166 Queen-street west. Hamilton was employed by the Columbia Fire-proofing Company, and while working on the fifth floor of the building about 8 o'clock, he endeavored to kick away a piece of scantling that was nailed to the floor at the edge of an opening. The part of the scantling that Hamilton kicked broke off before he expected it would and he fell through the opening to the flat below, a distance of 15 feet, alighting on his head on the concrete floor. He was displaced unconscious, and Dr. E. H. Adams was summoned, who ordered his removal to a hospital. There are no steps yet in the Simpson building, and it puzzled those present as to how they would get their inebriate burden down to the street.

The injured man being placed upon a stretcher and taken to the hospital. Hamilton was taken up by a rope from the basement. Dr. Adams then accompanied him to St. Michael's Hospital, where Dr. Dwyer attended his injuries, consisting of a fracture of the base of the skull and two scaling of the eye. It was his but a faint chance of recovery.

FUGITIVE PALMER JAILED.
Hamilton's Absconding Cashier Caught at Jordan.

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 27.—W. B. Palmer, the cashier of the Bank of Commerce, who absconded on Wednesday afternoon with $10,000, was caught at Jordan by Detective Reid at the city tonight. He is now securely behind the bars at No. 3 Police Station, and will be returned to his morning's police Court to answer the serious charge hanging over him.

The defaulting cashier took rather a peculiar method of getting out, for he footed it to Jordan.

When he left the bank he made for the Mountain and through fields of staked sidlocks he journeyed eastward in his wild flight for safety, while the bank officials were driving to the different stations to discover what train he had taken.

En route he had his moustache cut off and his hair cropped to his scalp and this was almost sufficient disguise to make him unrecognizable to his friends. He looked more like a T. H. & B. laborer than a bank cashier.

When Detective Reid walked up and arrested him for flight from his job, he found in his pockets made and about $2500 in bills was found, which was handed over to the police. Besides the money taken it was discovered that a big deficiency will be discovered. Palmer is being held for the States.

The company is willing to accept a big regulation, in the meantime the third apprentice will be laid off till the next meeting of the union, when the matter will be settled.

NO OFFER MADE TO MR. CALLAWAY.
A VERDICT IN THREE MINUTES.

The Report That He Declined the G. T. H. General Management Deed—No Changes Looked For.

Montreal, Sept. 27.—The press despatches from Chicago saying that Mr. Callaway had been offered and declined the general management of the Grand Trunk Railway is an invention pure and simple. Mr. L. J. Seargent, the present popular general manager, is still on deck and will probably remain there for some time to come. In conversation with a high official of the G. T. H. it was expressed that it was quite uncertain whether any real important changes in the management of the line would take place, but if so, such changes would not certainly come about until after the next meeting of the board of directors, which will not meet until sometime in the future.

THE FAMOUS ALERT BURNED.
Had Anchored Nearer the Pole Than Any Other Ship.

Quebec, Sept. 27.—The steamer Alert, one of the most famous of the vessels that were engaged in Arctic exploring, has sailed her last voyage. Bought in England for less than $5000 from the Canadian Government a few weeks ago by a shipbuilder in New Brunswick, the Alert was beached on the Beaufort shoals, in this harbor, by her purchaser, and after being dismantled was fired for the sake of her old metal.

The Alert has the record of having anchored latitude 82 degrees 32 minutes, nearer to the pole than any other ship. At that time she formed part of the Navy's expedition of 1875 and 1876, and was commanded by Captain George Peary. Her sister ship was the discovery. For over four months the members of this expedition were in the vicinity of the pole, and the Alert was the only ship that reached the grave of Captain P. C. Hall of the United States ship polaris, and the memorial plaque over his grave.

SCOLLIE NOT MURDERED.
JUDGE AND JURY ACQUIESCE IN THE FINDING.

The Case Taken From the Jury by Chancellor Boyd, Who Expresses the Conviction That No Crime was Committed.

The Court directed with Lead Appearance by the Spectator.

Peterboro, Sept. 27.—The trial of Hester Gray for the murder of David Scollie came to an abrupt termination here this morning. The Crown's case against the prisoner failed completely, and after several hours of testimony heard in behalf of the defence, Chancellor Boyd ordered the case to be closed, and directed the jury to record a verdict of not guilty.

When the court rose last evening several witnesses yet remained to be called for the Crown, but when this practically announced the abandonment of the prosecution, when he arose and stated to His Lordship that he would offer no further testimony, "Do you purpose calling any witnesses?" was His Lordship's significant question to Mr. Stratton, counsel for defence. "I have a few, whose testimony would like the court and jury to hear," replied Mr. Stratton.

No Blood on the Clothing.
With the testimony of William Leahy, a neighbor of the Grays, the defence opened their case. Leahy swore to having seen the morning of Scollie's death when it was taken from the house. The neck and shoulders bore every appearance of having been in a severe struggle. The neck was marked, the bones protruding out from the body. He saw no blood on the clothing, though there were a few drops on Leahy's neck when the body was removed.

Annie Gray's Story of the Fire.
Annie Gray, the 13-year-old daughter of the prisoner, a slight little thing, bearing many of the characteristics of her mother, gave her evidence in a manner that was remarkable. From a girl so young and placed in so peculiar a position, she had seen Scollie in the house when she retired the night of the fire. She and her sister, Hester, were in the room, two closets in the house, one in the bedroom and another in the room where they slept. On the morning of the fire, the witness said she was awakened by her mother, who she saw at the door, and started toward the door. She saw the flames and heard the shouting, and she saw the flames and heard the shouting, and she saw the flames and heard the shouting.
