

THE NEW FACE OF TERRORISM
REPORT FROM THE ROUNDTABLE

October 26, 2001
Ottawa, Ontario

Dept. of Foreign Affairs
Min. des Affaires étrangères

NOV 10 2005

Return to Departmental Library
Retourner à la bibliothèque

The Canadian Centre for Foreign Policy Development organized a Roundtable on The New Face of Terrorism on October 26, 2001, to discuss intelligence and security issues and government officials' views on the long-term policy implications of the September 11 attacks on Canada and re-examine its international relations. Among the participants were: William I. Hitchcock (University of Toronto), Thomas Basley (Rando-Robinson College), Jocelyn Coulson (Center for Peacekeeping Training), John Higganbotham (Assistant Deputy Minister, Communications, Culture and Policy Planning, DFAIT), Peter Jones (Department of National Defence), Bill Galbraith (Office of the Solicitor General), Paul Tullon (Canadian Security Intelligence Service), Steven Lee (Executive Director, Canadian Centre for Foreign Policy Development, DFAIT) chaired the meeting. The Roundtable consisted of a series of discussions which will take place in the following areas:

THE NEW FACE OF TERRORISM
REPORT FROM THE ROUNDTABLE

Marketa Geislerova

Canadian Centre for Foreign Policy Development

October 26, 2001

1024.1E

The mandate of the Canadian Centre for Foreign Policy Development is to help Canadians contribute to foreign policy making.

This report is divided into 7 parts:

1. Historical Perspectives
2. Challenges for Canada after September 11
3. Defining Terrorism
4. The New Face of Terrorism
5. The Implications of Responses to Terrorism for International Relations
6. The Impact of Terrorism on Peacekeeping
7. Summary of Policy Options

ISBN: 0-662-31302-X
E2-432/2001E

Canada's experience with espionage and intelligence originated during the Second World War.