

between this resumed session, where time does not permit us to discuss with sufficient thoroughness the financial and administrative consequences of the new situation in which the Organization finds itself, and the Sixteenth Session when we hope that these matters can be examined with the attention they deserve. We would hope that all delegations will understand the spirit in which this resolution is tabled and that it will receive general support, since its purpose is not to point directions nor slant opinions but rather to bring out views with the purpose of reconciling them, after due examination and careful thought.
