

A. D. of France and the King of England, they shall 1757. be sent to Pondicherry, and till then be entertained at the expence of the English company.

The admiral likewise agrees, with this difference only, that instead of sending the soldiers to Pondicherry, they shall be sent to Madras or to England, as the admiral shall hereafter think proper; and that such foreigners, who are not of the French nation, and chuse voluntarily to enter into the English service, shall have liberty.

IV. The Sepoys of the garrison shall not be prisoners of war, they shall have leave, on the contrary, to return on the coast in their country,

The admiral agrees to this.

V. The officers and men of the company's European ship St. Contest, shall be sent to Pondicherry in the first English ship, which goes to the coast.

The officers and men of the European ship shall be upon the same footing as the soldiers, and to be sent to Madras or to England as soon as possible.

VI. The French jesuit fathers shall have liberty to exercise the functions of their religion in the house, which has been assigned them since the demolishing of their church: the silver ornaments, and every thing that belongs to the church, shall be given them, and also their effects.

The admiral cannot agree to any Europeans residing here, but that the French jesuits may go to Pondicherry, with all the ornaments of their church, or wherever they please.

VII. All
