

A DEDICATION

THE Publisher of the following Dissertation, and indebted for the information it contains, principally to D. W. Smith, Esq. the very able and judicious Editor of the London Review, who has been the means of publishing it in a new form since.

As neither the Review nor any other offered for sale in the United Kingdom, and as the tion of country which it is particularly de-now become very interesting, the London Review has induced to re-publish it with material alterations and improvements furnished them by several gentlemen more acquainted with the country.

An extract of part of the story and words of George and a description of the principal places in the country are added, which the former edition did not contain, and which was not contemplated at the time of the first publication.
