

CHAPTER XIII

TWO DECADES UNDER CONFEDERATION (1867—1887)

	PAGE
Section I.—The Affairs of State	401
„ II.—Acquisition of the Great North-West	410
„ III.—A National Highway	416
„ IV.—Growth of a Military Sentiment	422
„ V.—Literature, Science, and Art	430
„ VI.—Religion and Morals	439

CHAPTER XIV

CANADA'S GREATEST QUARTER-CENTURY (1888—1913)

Section I.—Under Three Sovereigns	447
„ II.—Viceroys of Canada	450
„ III.—Canadian Loyalty	453
„ IV.—Public Men of the Time	468
„ V.—Dominion and Provincial Autonomy	479
„ VI.—Growth of Population	482
„ VII.—Organization of Western Canada	485
„ VIII.—Stirring Public Events	489
„ IX.—International Affairs	506
„ X.—The Bugle Call	509
„ XI.—The Iron Rail and Keel	514
„ XII.—Trade and Resources	518
„ XIII.—Education in Canada	526
„ XIV.—Canadian Literature	534
„ XV.—Science, Art, Religion	552
„ XVI.—Canadian Autonomy	566

APPENDIX A.—Provisions of the B.N.A. Act	571
„ B.—Authorities and References	585
„ C.—Table of Canadian Governors	590

CANADIAN ANNALS	593
INDEX	613