

Parliamentary Commission

(2) The Parliamentary Commission shall in any case follow the procedure in this Act and shall make a report on the result of the investigation.

Annual Report

13. (1) The Parliamentary Commission, within a year after the coming into force of this Act and thereafter in each succeeding calendar year, shall make a report on the proceedings of its office with its recommendations, if any, as to any measures that should be taken to better implement the intent and achieve the purposes of this Act and shall thereupon lay such report before Parliament.

(2) A copy of the report shall be laid to the House and Journals and Office of the Clerk and to the House and Proceedings Office of the House of Commons respectively; and such copies so delivered on any day during the existence of a Parliament shall be deemed to be laid all purposes for laying of the report before Parliament.

(3) Upon receipt of the report, an entry shall that day be made in the respective records of these Offices and, on the day following thereon, the report of the report shall be deposited in the Library of Parliament.

(4) The Parliamentary Commission may submit a report to Parliament at any other time.

Division

14. Every one who (a) without lawful justification or excuse, wilfully obstructs, hinders, or causes to be obstructed, the Parliamentary Commission or other person in the exercise of his powers under this Act, or (b) without lawful justification or excuse, refuses or wilfully fails to comply with any lawful requirement of the Parliamentary Commission or other person under this Act or

Parliamentary Commission

(3) The Parliamentary Commission shall in any case follow the procedure in this Act and shall make a report on the result of the investigation.

Annual Report

13. (1) The Parliamentary Commission, within a year after the coming into force of this Act and thereafter in each succeeding calendar year, shall make a report on the proceedings of its office with its recommendations, if any, as to any measures that should be taken to better implement the intent and achieve the purposes of this Act and shall thereupon lay such report before Parliament.

(2) A copy of the report shall be laid to the House and Journals and Office of the Clerk and to the House and Proceedings Office of the House of Commons respectively; and such copies so delivered on any day during the existence of a Parliament shall be deemed to be laid all purposes for laying of the report before Parliament.

(3) Upon receipt of the report, an entry shall that day be made in the respective records of these Offices and, on the day following thereon, the report of the report shall be deposited in the Library of Parliament.

(4) The Parliamentary Commission may submit a report to Parliament at any other time.

Division

14. Every one who (a) without lawful justification or excuse, wilfully obstructs, hinders, or causes to be obstructed, the Parliamentary Commission or other person in the exercise of his powers under this Act, or (b) without lawful justification or excuse, refuses or wilfully fails to comply with any lawful requirement of the Parliamentary Commission or other person under this Act or