Jess Willard Will Not Go the Way Of So Many World's Champions

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—Mrs. Jess Willard made her husband champion of the world. In a letter she received from the world, he gave her credit for having prepared him for the triumph. "Jess gives me too much credit for his success, but I am glad to share the championship with him, if he wants it that way," said Mrs. Willard. "I am glad that I have been able to help him, but I just remember that Jess is naturally a good, clean-living man, and it hasn't taken any effort on my part to keep him in the right path. "There is never any danger of Jess going the way so many champions have gone. He will not be led into fast company just because he has to associate with a lot of sporting men. Jess has a good, sturdy stock in him, has lived a simple, honest life, but, best of all, he loves his wife and children, and will keep his home clean on their account. "Jess has never cared for the fast life that has spoiled the careers of so many fighters. He and I have talked that phase of the fighting life over many, many times, and he has agreed with me that we must just remain plain, simple folk, as we have been ever since we left the farm in Kansas after he took up pugilism. "It do not object to his being a fighter. I have always been confident that he would win the championship, and he has won it with his confidence in him that he would go up if he saw them in the sun. I did not expect the next best thing—I swallowed them."
