

drops once again to his children tugging at his hands.
And then, with a reflective air, he steps across to the sidewalk, and walks sedately up to his door.

THE END