

and told me, that for several weeks they had told him the same story, affirming it to be a truth, and that Egerly was so awakened by it, as to go again to mass every day; urging him, since God in such a miraculous way offered such conviction of the truth of their religion, and the falshood and danger of ours, to come over to their religion, or else his damnation would be dreadfully aggravated. He said he could have no rest for them day and night; but (said he) I told them their religion was contrary to the word of God, and therefore I would not embrace it; and that I did not believe what they said. And says he to me, one day I was sitting in the house, and Egerly came in, and I spake to him before the whole family (in the French tongue, for he could not speak much English) and asked him of this story: he answered, it is a great falshood; saying, he never appeared to me, nor have I ever reported any such thing to any body; and that he had never been to the Mass since Zachariah's death. At the hearing of which they were silenced and put to shame. We blessed God together for discovering their wickedness, and disappointing them in what they aimed at; and prayed God to deliver us and all the captives from delusions, and recover them who had fallen, and so parted. After which I took my pen and wrote a letter to one Mr. Samuel Hill an English cap-
