SYNOPSIS—ACT I—Grounds of Mrs. Hildebrand's cottage, Newport. Arrival of the Irish Cook, Mary meets her father. Lie there until you learn the respect due a lady.

ACT II—Drawing room of Mrs. Hildebrand's cottage. Sale of the mine. Grump wants his supper. Mary gets a letter. Robbery of the diamonds. I am guilty—I stole the diamonds.

ACT III—Same line as Act I. Grump gets a case. Mother and son disagree. Mary doubts Julius. (Money always wins). Brains will give you a hard tussel. Julius leaves home. Grump in disguise. Brains win this time.

ACT IV—Office of the Palace Hotel, Hambolt Link, Nevada. Julius as a miner. Arrival of the stage coach. Grump turns detective. Pauline in a new role. Grump learns where Brandon pawned the diamonds. I'll have him there, or my name isn't Peter Grump.

ACT V—Same as Act II. Grump arrives just in time. My son alive and well. Grump gets spoony and pops to Polly. Where is the safe you wanted cracked? Mary and Julius united. Arrest of the villains. A $20,000 cheque. That's the law, and if you don't believe it I'll show it to you.
