About Mail Orders.

There's nothing local or provincial about this business. It is distinctively Canadian, with a reach as long as the postoffice and a constituency that extends the country over. We've a store that can serve absent customers just as well as though they shopped in person, but it takes time to educate some people up to the facilities of a full-fledged, wide-awake business. Such goods as these, for instance, are very easy to order by mail:

With half a hundred different departments under one roof, and prices universally below the market, we're able to be of good service to thousands of families east, west and north. It's part of our business to anticipate the wants and wishes of mail order customers, and anyone who knows enough to write a letter can send for samples and get what is sent for.

This applies to city people away from home for the summer. This particular system of shopping by mail is as nearly perfect as modern ingenuity can make it.

Who Wants Pictures?

Don't all speak at once! We've several hundred—possibly two thousand, that ought to be advertising this store and its housefurnishings. They're cheap enough as it is for ordinary business, but the enthusiasm we're after now is something extraordinary. Wish you had time to look at them. Pictures are always interesting and it costs nothing to look.

Imagine yourself in an art gallery and imagine such chances as these coming but once in an age:

- Pictures, Colored Pastels, in landscape and fruit subjects, framed in 14 inch fancy mouldings, assorted colors, size 14x17 inches, regular price 60c each..... .25

Of course you can't understand it—nobody can. Framed pictures are selling cheaper here now than the frames cost in the ordinary way, and yet we're satisfied.

STORM IN THE WEST.

A Terrible Hailstorm With Wind and Followed by Rain Passed Over Paris.

Paris, July 28.—The most destructive storm experienced in this part of the country for many years passed a few miles north of this place about 2 o'clock this afternoon, and with it went all the prospects of this morning for a bountiful harvest. Wheat and barley were nearly all stored, but oats, peas and roots were almost totally destroyed by the hail, which gave the ground much of the appearance of January. Farms were unroofed, while orchards were not only stripped of their fruit, but many trees entirely uprooted. The extent of the storm or damage done cannot at present be calculated.

At Brantford.

Brantford, July 28.—At 2 o'clock this afternoon a very severe rain and hail storm passed over the city. It has been very warm all today. About 2 o'clock clouds began to darken and suddenly there was a great peal of thunder, and the rain descended in torrents, accompanied with hail larger than cherries, and a strong east wind. In a few minutes the water tables along the streets were flooded over, and in some cases cellars filled with water from the street.

Lightning's Work.

Simcoe, July 28.—During the severe thunderstorm this afternoon the lightning struck a barn, which was struck and set on fire. It was extinguished before much damage was done.

To-night at Hanlan's Point.

At the Queen's Own Band concert to-night at Hanlan's Point, Mr. J. E. Furton, who made such a hit a few nights ago, will sing "Just Tell Them That You Saw Me." Only for These.

For depression of spirits, nervousness and general weakness, Miller's Compound from Wills are a sure cure. Doses, 25 cents.

SUBURBAN TROLLEY EXTENSION.
Another season is on the war, and still no serious effort has been made to extend the suburban lines running out of the city. The only suburban extension this summer has been the laying of two or three miles of track from Toronto Junction to W. and Lambton. We fully expected that by 18th Street the trolley would have been extended to Hamilton, Brampton, Newmarket and Whitby, at least. The suburban lines radiating from most of the large American cities seem to be extending rapidly, and it is expected that the trolley will have direct trolley connection with Pittsburgh, one hundred and fifty miles distant, and with Sandusky. These electric lines charge less than one-half the regular rate on the steam lines. The forty-three miles between Cleveland and Sandusky, made in about two hours. The trolleys have captured the bulk of the passenger business. One of the three steam lines has pulled out of the passenger business entirely between these two cities. We in Toronto know what a benefit cheap steamboat fares are to our merchants during the season of navigation. Hundreds of shoppers are daily brought to Toronto by the fleet of passenger boats that radiate east, south and west from Toronto. The extension of the suburban trolley would accomplish for the back and inland country what the passenger steamers do for the lake ports. The people of Brampton, Guelph, Newmarket and a score of other near-by towns ought to have a cheap rate to Toronto as St. Catharines or Hamilton possesses. The Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific are not disposed to adopt popular rates between Toronto and points within a fifty-mile radius. These rates are bound to come and the two big roads will then lose a good deal of their local business. This loss might be averted for years if the railways would issue half-rate tickets even for local points and a score of other near-by towns. As for the extension of the suburban trolleys there is nothing to indicate when or to what extent this desirable work is to be pushed ahead. As a leading citizen remarked the other day, there for the employment of his capital and energy than in Toronto, where half the people seem to have reached the limit of their ambition.

REMEDIAL LEGISLATION AND THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY.

The statements of Sir Charles Tupper, made to the press yesterday, go to show, first, that Remedial Legislation, as far as the Conservative party is concerned, is an issue of the past. The recent election has settled that. Personally, Sir Charles Tupper says he will support a bill if it seems to do what the bill is introduced to do. But every other man in the Conservative party is free to do as he sees fit on the question. So Remedial Legislation goes by the board, as far as the Conservative party is concerned. What a fine thing it would have been for the Conservative party if it had gone by the board eighteen months ago! The responsibility of dealing with this question rests with the Liberals. Mr. Laurier hopes to settle it in six months. If he can settle it in six months he can settle it in six weeks. Why doesn't he? Sir Charles made another significant statement. He says there must be a convention of the Conservative party to reorganize and improve the platform, and for purposes of re-organization. The convention will be held after the first session. The one common plank on which all Conservatives agree is the National Policy of protection, and this to-day is the bond which may soon re-unite the broken ranks of a once great party.

THE REAL ISSUE NOT SILVER.

Although protection was given first place in the Republican platform adopted at Chicago that issue has already been almost entirely eliminated from the campaign. Within a week or two it will drop out of sight altogether. The battle is being fought out on the money question alone. Even this issue is becoming obscured by the rumblings of a storm that threatens the very existence of the Republic. As a matter of fact the issue now before the American people is not that of free silver v. sound money. Free silver is merely a disguise. The fight is between labor, struggling for existence, dishonesty and anarchy on the one hand and the power of accumulated wealth on the other hand. In order that our readers may correctly understand the drift of things on the other side, we append some of the excellent arguments in favor of free silver as given by The Chicago Record, a prosperous daily with a large circulation. Under the heading of "Free Silver Colossal Debate," The Record says: "There is $150,000,000 of interest-sucking debt in Christendom. Every sucker of a creditor will now want to be paid in gold, since the R. O. P. of America says so. And must be paid with the $4,000,000,000 of the world's coined gold. "But look at the panorama. There stands the creditor class, snarling and showing its gold-filled teeth, and saying, 'pay or die, and pay whether you die or not.' They feel that they have the power to enforce this 'contract with death and covenant with hell.' "The gold rebels flatter themselves that, like the slave rebels, they have the army and navy and all the munitions of war.

"They have in the great cities those massive forts called armories, from which to shoot down the common people when they shall object to the tyranny of the uncommon.

"The followers of the Lamb are training their Sunday school boys to bear arms for the same holy use.

"On the other side stands the multitude of populists, silver democrats, silver republicans and prohibitionists saying: 'We will not bow down to this golden image that Nebuchadnezzar McKinley set up.'

"One hundred and fifty-five republicans in the past have gone down to death.

"Nothing can block the path of this republic on the 'facile descent' but a real victory of the plain people.

"No aristocracy ever yet gave up its grip without bloodshed.

"But if McKinley is elected we will be very close to the monarchy—as we have been before.

"We long ago ceased to have a republic, and are now under an oligarchy of rich men.

"In a real republic there are no hundred-millionaires.

"The people for whom such arguments are written are more than silverites. That is a mild term to apply to them. They are revolutionists. It is admitted by those who have studied the situation on the other side that the bulk of the silverites are now beyond appeal to argument. All the social and other discontent of the United States is enlisted under the Silver Banner.

DOGS AT THE JUNCTION.

A Large Number of Citizens Summoned for Harboring Unlicensed Canines.

Toronto Junction, July 28.—As a result of the vigilance of the police, over a score of citizens were cited before Magistrate Ellis yesterday and charged with harboring unlicensed dogs. A number of the defendants are not considering their canines worth the amount of the tax, had them destroyed. These were allowed to go, but others were fined several cases, which there was doubt as to ownership, were adjourned for a week.

Another case in this morning's court was that of P. Rafferty, owner of a dog which he had lodged. He had not yet registered his dog, which was a pointer, and the dog was ordered to be shot.
