PUBLIC OWNERSHIP AND THE GAS

The friends of public ownership are many of them mere expressionists. They do not favor doing anything when it is practical, or where the principle is at their own doors.

Sir William Mulock recently made a deliverance in favor of public ownership in New York and got great credit therefor in the American press and also in the Canadian press.

The citizens of Toronto have declared on two separate occasions that they desire to exercise the right to take over the gas works in this city, now owned by a private corporation, known as the Consumers' Gas Company.

Mayor Howland knows this to be the case. Mayor Howland at the present moment finds himself compelled to do something in regard to the scarcity of anthracite coal, and he proposes that the city should establish municipal fuel piles. This may or may not be good policy, but the one practical thing in the direction of public ownership and the one thing that would substantially lessen the fuel bills of the citizens of Toronto is public ownership of the gas plant and the production and the sale of gas to the citizens for 50c a thousand cubic feet, which public ownership would undoubtedly confer upon the city.

There is no doubt of the fact that gas can be made and sold for less than 50c a thousand. Public ownership would do it. Why doesn't Mayor Howland come out for placing Toronto in a position independent of labor strikes in the United States? American coal is not needed for the manufacture of gas. Soft coal is, and we have an abundance of soft coal in Canada, and all the other materials needed in the manufacture of gas are convenient to the city. Ten times the amount of gas now used in Toronto would be used if it was 50c a thousand instead of 90c as at present. It could be largely used for the production of power, and thus be a competitor of electricity.

The Globe newspaper professes to be in favor of public ownership and the municipalization of franchises. If the Globe newspaper is in earnest, if Mayor Howland is in earnest, and above all, if Sir William Mulock is in earnest, public ownership of the gas plant in Toronto can be realized in twenty-four hours. But Mr. Ross, the Prime Minister of Ontario, and Col. Gibson, the Attorney-General, must assist in the movement. They must tell the gas company that, as they have not carried out the agreement with the city, legislation will have to be passed forcing it on them. As we said before, none is in such a position to realize public ownership in connection with the gas plant in Toronto as Sir William Mulock. He knows all the internal workings of the company, and how the special legislation was obtained in the interests of the company. He knows, or he ought to know, why the Attorney-General refused to make any move in the public interest in connection with this matter.

We ask the citizens of Toronto who fear a coal famine and who fear being at the mercy of the coal strikes and labor difficulties and transportation companies in the United States what they think of municipalizing Toronto's gas plant and securing 50c gas for light, power and fuel.

It is the easiest way of realizing the principle of public ownership we know of. It is right at our doors. Some body has so far prevented it. Who is that somebody? Why is he not unmasked? Why is not the well-defined wish of the people of Toronto in favor of it not realized? This is practical politics, and it comes to the people of the city of Toronto, to every representative man, and to every representative newspaper that professes to be guardian of the public interest. Let us cease all this academic talk of public ownership and let us see where we are in its practical application to ourselves in connection with the gas plant.

Would you, as a ratepayer, not like to have an abundant supply of a first-class fuel gas for fuel, light and power at 50c a thousand? If you would, make the public men and the newspaper editors and the aldermen stand up and confess where they are.

THE PRICE OF THE FARMER PATTY CATTLE.

We must again return to the question of the centralization of the cattle and meat trade of Eastern Canada in Toronto. We believe that Toronto ought to be the Chicago of the Canadian beef trade. The latest contribution to the discussion is the report of City Commissioner Coatsworth, in which he asks that a portion of Stanley Park be wiped out as a park and added to the cattle market in order to increase the accommodation there. The commissioner gives many good reasons why this should be done. We understand, however, that portion of the city circumscribed in the west end against this extension, and that those circulating the petition have something to do with the new stock yards at Toronto Junction. We have also heard it stated that Hon. John Dwyer, the friendly trade in the stock yards at Toronto Junction. We do not at the present moment take a great deal of stock in these statements, but we do say that it is incumbent on Premier Ross, after the speech he made in Toronto some years ago, and after the recent deliverance of the Minister of Agriculture, Mr. Dwyer, for them to boldly tackle this question, not in the interest of the City of Toronto, but in the interests of the farmers of the province, who will benefit largely, according to Mr. Dwyer, and according to ourselves, by the centralization of the trade here, by the regulation of the slaughter of cattle and by the economical use of the offal. As Minister of Agriculture and as member of a cabinet whose main object should be to look after the farming interest in this province, we think these gentlemen are bound to investigate the situation. In fact, it would not be a bad idea if they were to appoint a commission to investigate the question and show that they really do take an interest in the welfare of the Ontario farmer. Such a commission ought to be able to reach a definite conclusion in four weeks. It does not take a live man long these days to size up a business proposition. What says Mr. Dwyer to say to this suggestion? The responsibility is on him, and it is necessary for the Ontario government and for the legislature in the interest of the farmer to make a move in the matter, then they ought to do it. In the meantime the City Council is bound to back up City Commissioner Coatsworth's report and increase the facilities of the cattle market that we now have in the west end.

In another column of this issue our readers, who have been following this discussion, will find a third letter from Mr. Webb, the English cattle dealer, who is now in this country, and who has several times explained that one of the principal reasons for the difference in the price of prime cattle at Toronto and Chicago is the difference in the way in which we handle the by-products. Mr. Webb's letter of this morning is well worthy of perusal. Whether the difference in price is as great as he says or not we cannot say. The farmer themselves are better judges. But certainly Mr. Webb is able to show that with better handling of the beasts and the offal the farmer ought to get better prices. Mr. Dwyer is bound to consider what Mr. Webb says, and he is bound by the duties of his office, will, when it comes to the question of expense, the farmers of Ontario are entitled to have a fair portion of the revenue of the province directed in their own interest, and if any commission of practical business men can reach some plan of reform that will lead to the centralization of the meat trade of this country Mr. Dwyer ought to appoint such commission. Or if it should be necessary for the government to establish stock yards or assist the City of Toronto in establishing them, it ought to do it. As Mr. Webb points out, it is not doing it for the city so much as for the farmer who breeds stock. It is up to Mr. Dwyer to find a way of getting the cattle trade here so that the Canadian breeder will get just as good a price for his finished cattle here as the breeder in the United States can get for his in Chicago. In fact, seeing that Toronto is 600 miles nearer an ocean port than Chicago the Canadian breeder ought to obtain more than does his rival in the Western States. The president and executive of the Board of Trade might well look into this question if he desires to see the business of Toronto greatly increased.

In the meantime Toronto can make no mistake in improving its cattle market. If Toronto is to hold the trade that it now has it must enlarge the present cattle market. There is only one way to do this, and that is by taking in part of Stanley Park. The plans that Mr. Coatsworth has brought forward will give the increased accommodation without any disfigurement of the streets of the locality, will not interfere with the park area of the city and will be a substantial contribution toward building up Toronto's business. The sentimental reasons that have been advanced against the enlargement of the cattle market in this way must not count in the matter. Notwithstanding all we have said that Mr. Dwyer ought to do, or that the government ought to do, it is certainly the duty of the City Council to realize Mr. Coatsworth's plan at the earliest possible moment.

ALBERTA CATTLE FOR THE EAST.

G. P. Ashe of Alberta marketed 44 head of 1204-lb. cattle at $5.75 yesterday. These Canadian cattle are coming pretty good but duty is an ever present handicap to marketing any but the best.

This little item from the Chicago Live Stock World of Sept. 18 contains a moral or two. It shows for one thing that they can raise good beef cattle out in Alberta, for cattle must be good to stand such a long haul.

Rev. R. Cameron, R.L., who preached in the Bloor-street Baptist Church a couple of weeks ago, writes interestingly in the World's report, by his sermon, which made him say the Lord will come before the millennium. He said the exact opposite. The millennium will not come until the Lord himself comes to establish his reign on earth. And this coming in the opinion of Mr. Cameron is not far distant.

PRICE OF PROSPERITY.

We suffer more than did our grandfathers who faced less sumptuously.

This is an age of luxury and self-indulgence. Prosperity has brought with it a disposition to take it easy and to live well, which has not been productive of the best results in the history of the world. We ride when our grandfathers used to walk. Machinery and inventions have gradually lessened the actual amount of physical work in every department of life. We eat and drink more lavishly and extravagantly than did our ancestors, who were content to live on simpler and often coarser foods. We must pay the penalty for our self-indulgence. It is a fact that tens of thousands are to-day afflicted with diseases which are the direct result of lack of exercise, over-eating and over-drinking, and about which, with their plain grandfathers, they know little or nothing.

Perhaps the most common result of this is Dyspepsia. It is a fact that indeed is this monster of pain and distress, leaving on the prosperous high life of the modern world. But if prosperity has brought with it pains, modern science has armed humanly with a sure defence against all these disorders. Dwyer's Dyspepsia Tablets never fail to instantly relieve and, if used perseveringly, according to directions, to permanently cure the most distressing cases of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Stomach, or any other derangement of the digestive organs.

Thousands of the very worst cases have been cured and have testified to the fact that Dwyer's Dyspepsia Tablets are an unfailing remedy for Stomach Diseases.

months ago we were discussing the question of Canadian tariffs, and pointed out that it was obviously the duty of Canada, instead of bothering about trifling alterations in the tariff of duty on paper, to make a stand in the direction of preventing the export of pulpwood to America. We pointed out that the other country in the world which favors protection which would allow its raw material to be carried a few yards across its border, the finished product to be returned again to compete with its own manufacture. Canada ought to—and probably will—within a very short period—make it impossible for this competition to exist, and as a natural consequence, will go one step further, and, in addition to sending over to us very large quantities of half stuff, will make a greater proportion of paper and sell the finished article.

Is it not a fact that we Canadians, in allowing the American paper manufacturers to denude this country of its valuable raw material, and in thus enabling them to compete with us in the world's market, are pursuing a suicidal policy? Hundreds of thousands of cords of Canadian pulpwood are annually going into the United States, for which, perhaps, $4.50 or $5 per cord is left in this country, whereas, were the paper manufactured here, and were a market found for it, the same amount of wood would realize to Canadians between $25 and $30.

RELIGION AND THE LABOR PROBLEM.

United States Commissioner Carroll D. Wright, who represented President Roosevelt in his visit to Canada, the antislavery strike strike, after a thorough study of the labor problem, from the most favorable vantage points, come to the conclusion that only in religion will his solution be found. Man's treatment of man is the measure of his advancement and Mr. Wright, perhaps, believes that the relations of capital and labor must be worked out thru the domination of an altruistic religion in industry and commerce. The golden rule that, man should do as he would be done by, will, when it comes to be universally observed, effect the abolition of strikes and lockouts; the general permeation of society by the Christian spirit of altruism will bring in a new era for both employers and employed.

An Important Subject.

Ignorance is no excuse in the eyes of the law, and a man's business to know certain things, and if he neglects to acquire that knowledge, he is punished. The law says that a person who fails to act upon his knowledge of such things, even though he is well aware of his neglect, is liable.

Have you carefully considered how your family will be left in the event of your death? Will your family live in the way you have kept them should you be called to your account? It is your bounden duty to provide for them, and the fact that you never thought of such a thing will not avail you one iota when you are on your deathbed.

Examine into your position carefully and if you find that your dependents are not amply protected act upon such knowledge and apply for a policy in the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada, Toronto. The payment of a premium will create an estate for your dependents, which will take care of them in the event of your decease. With an Imperial policy in your strong box you need have no fear of the future.

MOUNT ETNA ACTIVE.

Toronto Also Sweeps Over a City in Sicily.

London, Sept. 26.—A despatch from Rome to-day announces that a severe tornado had swept over Catania (a city on the east coast of Sicily). Catania is flooded, and many houses, including the villa of the king, have been damaged. The railroads have suffered seriously. The tornado also wrought havoc at Modica (a town 20 miles from Syracuse), where several persons were killed.

Mount Etna, a short distance from Catania, shows further signs of activity, and the volcano of Stromboli, off the north coast of Sicily, is still active.

Tale of a Dog.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Sept. 26.—Roy Swartwood, father of little Cornelius Swartwood, who disappeared from his home here a few days ago, writes that he is convinced that the dog that bit the boy was made of waste chemicals deposited by the company in an old cask which it was raining and was so badly burned by the damped chemical dust that it went mad from pain. An experiment made with another dog in this manner sent it mad in four hours.

Murderer Commits Suicide.

Bridgeton, N.J., Sept. 26.—The body of Samuel Brown, charged with the murder of Constable Harry Barks, was found in Seely's millpond in greenish swampy water to-day. He had committed suicide.

A LINIMENT FOR THE LOGGER

Loggers lead a life which exposes them to many perils. Wounds, cuts and bruises cannot be altogether avoided in preparing timber for the drive and in river work, where wet and cold combined are of daily experience, coughs and colds and muscular pains cannot but ensue. Dr. Thomas' Eucalypti Oil when applied to the throat or administered to the ailing works wonders.
