"What drove us to conscription was the existence of conscript armies on the continent that inevitably rushed the world into war. They could not have great military machines there without tempting the men at the head of them to try their luck with those machines. The Germans always felt there was nothing that could resist their perfect war machine.

The Germans always felt there was nothing that could resist their perfect war machine.

"If you want a permanen peace, if you want to prevent the horrors of this war being repeated, you must put an end to conscription on the continent of Europe.

Make Aggression impossible.

"The first thing to do is to prevent the repetition of the blunders of the past by making it impossible to have those great conscript armies in the future.

"We did not have the machinery for an offensive war, Our navy is a defensive weapon and not an offensive one; and that is why we do not mean to take no risk in the future."

Lloyd George declared that the decision which would be taken in the next few months in the peace conference was going to leave a mark upon the world. The guestion of indemnity.

The dominant note of the discussions was that the National War Savings plan should be made permanent, the general opinion being that the movement would fall to realize its full possibilities unless this was done. Pierre Jay, representative of the United States treasury, explained that war savings societies formed a valuable auxiliary in a campaign such as that being undertaken.

The hope was expressed by the conference that this year in giving Christmas gifts to their employees, employers should make the gift take the form
