EDUCATION BOARD NEW YEAR BREAKS PLEDGED TO UNIT COLLEGIATE PLAN

In Opinion of Secretary R. M.

HISTORY OF STRUGGLE

Board Will Hold First Meeting | Three Brothers Are Fined for of Year Thursday.

That the board of education, by its own action, is definitely pledged to the unit, or three school, plan in connection with the Collegiate Institute controversy was the opinion expressed today by R M. McElheran, secretary of the board of education. He is also of the opinion that this stand of the 1920 board canno he changed without a notice of motion presented at the first regular meeting of the new board and which will require to be passed by a two-third vote of the board at a subsequent meeting.

The history of the struggle over the system to be adopted in the provision of Collegiate accommodation briefly is that at a regular meeting of the board on Cottober 5, 1999, if was decided to prober 5, 1920, it was decided to pro ceed with the erection on the old Col-legiate site of a 26-roomed, three-floor building. Following this, considerable inlegiste site of a 20-roomed, three-floot building. Following this, considerable in-formation with regard to a unit system was secured by members of the board, who were also informed that as a result of experience the department of education favored the unit system. As a result of the securing of this data. Trustee Rowe, on December 7, at a regular meeting gave notice of motion, that at the next meeting of the board, he would move that the action of the board on October 1 he receipton. the board on October 5 be reconsidered and rescinded, and that the board adopted the unit system, providing for a 16-roomed high school north of the Cana-dian Pactific Railway; a 10-roomed build-ing to be erected in South London and provision for a ten-roomed school in East London when required.

meeting of the board held on December 10, and Trustee Rowe, seconded by Trustee Coleridge, moved the reconsideration of the action of the board on October 5. The motion was carried, and on the yeas and nays being called for, it was declared carried by 11 to 3. The motion to rescind the previous motion of the board was then moved by Trustee Rowe, seconded by Trustee Coleridge, and carried by the same vote. Mr. Rowe's substitute motion, seconded by Mr. Coleridge, approving the unit system, and the erection of three onded by Mr. Coleridge, approving the unit system, and the erection of three schools, one of 16 rooms north of the C. P. R.; a 10-room school in South London, and the provision for a 6-roomed school in East London when required, was adopted, and the board's architect was instructed to proceed importantly with the preparation of plans architect was instructed to proceed immediately with the preparation of plans and specifications for such buildings.

Answering a question, Mr. McElherar. said that the only way in which the motion of December 10, which has set the policy of the board, can be undone is by notice of motion presented at the first regular meeting of the board. otion of December 10, which has set the policy of the board, can be undone is by notice of motion presented at the rest regular meeting of the board, which will have to be approved by a wo-third majority if the present deslared policy of the board is to be again reversed.

Asked whether the meeting of the board which will take place at 8 p.m. on Thursday next, would be a meeting at which such a notice of motion could be received. Mr. McElheran said he did not think so. 'It is very doubtful to me whether that meeting is a 'regular' meeting in the sense of the act. Thursday's meeting is set by statute for the inauguration of the board and the election of a chairman. The act says that this shall take place on 'the first meetings' after the first Monday after the first Monday after meetings this shall take place on 'the first Thursday after the first Monday after the election.' The regular meetings of the board are set for the first Tuesday of each month," said Mr. Mc-Eiheran.

It is thought that the thief mus have been someone who had knowledge of the location of the money, for the robbery occurred within 29 minutes after the place had been closed for the night. The police are working on the case.

THREE-DAY SPELL OF CRIMELESS CITY

Eighteen Persons Faced the Magistrate At First 1921 Sitting of Court.

BRUTAL ASSAULT

Assaulting Companion Following Card Game.

Although the year 1920 became absolutely righteous, so far as this city was concerned, during the last few feeble days of its existence, 1921, as an infant, with violating section 55 of the O. T. Although the year 1920 became absogave many indications of inherent wild- A. ness and immorality in the local police court today. In contrast to the old year, which established a city record of three straight days without a crime immediately before it passed into eternity, the new year brought eighteen persons charged with various offences committed during the first two days of committed during the first two days of its existence to the first sitting of police court.

On the very day of its birth it gave evidence that it did not like a crimeless city such as 1920 had made London, for two drunks and one vagrant fell into the clutches of the police during New Year's Day. Not, however, until the second day did it really kick over the traces, and although it was Sunday, sixteen people were lodged in the cells.

Three To One.

Thomas Anderson, 480 Charlotte street, James Anderson, 493 Talbot street, were fined $5 and costs each for demolishing the countenance of Allen Benedick, as the result of a dispute arising over a card game played in Simon and the last day of the old was paid on ing over a card game played in Simon Anderson's room in the Talbot street house. They pleaded not guilty, but the magistrate absolutely refused to believe their stories, each of which were different.

According to the evidence given by Benedick, he was playing cards with the other three. James Anderson claimed that a pair of aces beat two pair, and so he grabbed a five-dollar bill which had been put up as stakes. Benedick claimed that he won the money, so he struck at Anderson, whereupon the three Andersons piled on him. They cut his eyes, blackened both of them, and generally bruised his face. He escaped from the house, and went to the police station, where he laid a charge of assault, occasioning bodily harm, against the three of them. hree of them. Police Sergt. R. Monteith and Constables J. Oakley and T. Tomlin went to the house and put the three Ander-sons under arrest. To the police the trio admitted the assault, but when they appeared in court today they de-nied the charge. They claimed that Benedick was drunk when he came to the house and that he fell over and cut his face. As one of them, however, said the plaintiff, had cut his face on the dresser, and the other two claimed the wash stand, respectively, the magistrate would not believe any of Benedick's face was in a terrible condition when he appeared in court. His eyes were nearly closed, his nose swollen, and his face and clothing covered with help in the covered with the cover Created a Disturbance.

He then proceeded to carry out his threat by seizing Wyatt, who is lame, by the throat and throwing him to the ground. TRIBUTE TO CARDINAL.

Boston, Jan. 3.—A glowing tribute to Cardinal Gibbons and a warning to reformers to cope with present-day problems in a practical and humble fashion, were contained in the New Year's message delivered by Bishop William Lawrence, Episcopal, at St. Paul's Cathedral yesterday.

"The idea that supreme Christians must be Puritanical and supremely serious antagonizing and stirring up things, is wrong," said Bishop Lawrence. "Christ won his way full of truth and grace. Let us work out our Christian problems in humble, impersonal acts."

Referring to the serious illness of Cardinal Gibbons the bishop said: "He represents a great Christian church, and has been a consistent spokesman for his church throughout years of great problems in both national and international affairs. He has always been full of grace and truth. He has dwelt among the people and earned their high regard and affection. Should be pass to the Beyond, he will always live in our memory as a man of grace and truth."

"YOUR VICTORY, NOT VANDALS SET FIRE MINE," SAYS MAYOR TO L. & P. S. STATION

Mid-day Luncheon.

Mayor E. S. Little was accorded an ovation marked by the greatest possible enthusiasm when President James Gray of the Rotary Club called upon him to make a five-minute speech at the club's Monday noon luncheon in the Tecumseh House to-

In take no great credit for it," said Mayor Little, referring to his big majority on Saturday. "It wasn't my victory, but your victory. I have merely been the instrument of carrying out wishes of the real citizens of London—the citizens who recognize that now is a critical time when a change of civic administration would be inadvisable. It is also a great vindication of the Rotary principles that the profits most who serves best."

Lieut.-Col. W. M. Gartshore, jocularly introduced as "the man who just squeezed in," said he was glad he was not depending this year on the vote of the city clerk, the unspoken but understood reference being to his loss of the mayoralty election several years ago when he tied with Dr. H. Bridge thanked the businessmen especially who, having votes in the business districts as well as in their residential wards, took the trouble to vote for aldermen in more than one ward.

C. B. King drew the weekly prize, donated this week by Will Young.

W. E. Saunders gave an interesting talk on birds, mice, bats, moles- and other small creatures of the woods and fields. Different localities in the same latitude have different birds, he explained, because of the different altitudes. Around London one finds many to species not found at Woodstock, and vice versa, because London has a higher altitude than Woodstock. Specimens of cardinals, Louisiana water thrushes, summer tanagers, cross-bills, jumping wood mice, many varieties of moles, Arctic tern, and other birds and animals were exhibited.

The Arctic tern is a remarkable little fowl of the gull family, which loves daylight so well that when the Arctic day begins to dim into Arctic tillight this tern migrates by some unknown route all the way to the other end of the world, the Antarctic regions.

To the successful board of education candidates, Mr. Saunders made the suggestion that if the school children, Rotarians, and other people who love birds, would pick up the dead specimens they find and take them to a taxidermist, doing work for the school board, it would be possible to build up collections for the schools and other institutions without trapping and killing any birds.

ANNUAL RALLY HELD IN NEW ST. JAMES'

Large Attendance of Presbyterian Sunday School Children.

On New Year's Day the annual rally of the Presbyterian Sunday Schools of the city was held in New St. James Presbyterian Church, when a record number was in attendance. The service number was in attendance. The service was mostly given over to devotion, followed by a "chalk talk" by J. W. Bengough, cartoonist, of Toronto. The cartoons were both amusing and instructive, and tended to teach the young people to follow out the resolutions made at the beginning of the year.

Cecil Snelgrove of the King Street Presbyterian Church acted as leader of the gathering, and Rev. W. J. Knox led the praise service. Miss Erie Mitchell and Miss Kathleen Easterbrook of St. Andrew's Sunday School sang a Christmas Carol, and Helen and William Young of Chalmers Presbyterian Church rendered a duet. Walter Rennle added to the musical program by giving several violin selections.

The special offering which was taken up will be given to the Children's Memorial Hospital Fund.

Measure all things by a yardstick of material worth. We stand in need of a spiritual awakening to a realization that material things do not make a full life."

Would Regret.

The second attitude was one of levity and thoughtlessness toward life. As an illustration he told of crowds of young people who recently in New York City paraded the street, crying: "To hell with the old year; hurray for the new." Underlying those cries he said there was a great fallacy. It told of a wasted year. Those young people who entered the new year under a curse should regret 1921 before its end.

"We should." Dr. Peever said, "enter the new year with praise and thanksgiving towards a kind Providence who has brought us through thus far in life." He urged his auditors to carry out their program of life with fidelity during the year and to always face forward and unward.

1921 ELECTION NOW

"Labor needs new ideals," said Arthur Mould, addressing the London branch of the Independent Labor Party in the Labor Temple Sunday afternoon. This principle of a larger brotherhood is the real religion of labor."

Undaunted by the crushing defeat of Saturday, the Independent Labor Party passed a resolution yesterday to organize at once for next year's fight. The attendance was fairly large, including quite a number of visitors, the majority of whom joined the party. only hope that the board will get busy and do something at once."

Mrs. W. A. Tanner, who was a school board member last year, and still retains office, has a very different outlook.

"The election certainly looks as if the people of London favored the central school idea," she declared. "But we realize that the cry for a central school was started in the city from a certain quarter, and that it was put in such a way as to arouse the people to work in favor of it, but we believe that the people do not understand the situation, or they would never have woted that way. I also feel that as soon as the new board members have come into the board they will see the situation altogether differently. They do not understand the question now, but I mean to see that it is brought to a discussion shortly in the board, and then I am firmly convinced that they will change their opinions, which were formed just previous to election time by a sentimental appeal coming fropeople who did not understand the suation.

Taking his text. "For Ye Have Not Passed This Way Before," Dr. R. G. Peever in the First Methodist Church preached on the subject. "Man's Right-ful Attitude Toward Life in 1921." He based his sermon on three different attitudes which men could take towards life.

There was, he said the purely commercial attitude in which man makes "acquisition" his chief motive in life. When the Bible, Dr. Peever continued, passed the condemnation of "Thou provided the school question an election issue."

attitudes which men could take towards life.

There was, he said, the purely commercial attitude in which man makes "acquisition" his chief motive in life. When the Bible, Dr. Peever continued passed the condemnation of "Thou Fool" upon the rich man who filled his barns, it passed coundemnation upon the purely commercial life for all time to come. In connection with the phase of his sermon the speaker read in part a speech of the Hon. T. D. Crerar uttered in Winnipeg:

"As a people we have drifted tomasure all things by a yardstick of material worth. We stand in need of a spiritual awakening to a realization that material things do not make a full life."
