Courts Should Take Action Is Opinion of Medical Men

Legal Opinion, Too, Condemns Action of Street Railway in Using Courts to Bring Fake Damage Actions - Counsel Concerned May Be Charged With Unprofessional Conduct.

Legal opinion is veering strongly against the action of the Toronto Railway Co. in their fake damage case, in which Dr. A. H. Garratt figured largely.

The attorney-general's department has not yet been consulted, but in all probability some action in this regard will be taken.

Robert McKay, Jr., of the firm of Johnston, McKay, Dods & Grant, who is Dr. Garratt's solicitor, says the incident was a gross contempt of court, for which the principals could have been committed right then.

Members of the medical profession seem to place the whole responsibility on the courts.

"I think it's a matter of indifference to the medical profession," said I. H. Cameron, professor of surgery in the University of Toronto.

Dr. V. L. Bray, registrar of the medical council, is silent regarding the case.

When asked on Saturday afternoon if he had any idea as to what steps, if any, would be taken as a result of the incident, Dr. Bray had no information to impart. He had read The Globe editorial on Saturday morning, recommending that the medical council take action.

"The Globe newspaper can say what it likes," he said. "I haven't a word to say about the matter, one way or the other. I'm not the medical council."

Several other doctors were interviewed on Saturday and they all were of the opinion that the matter should be dealt with by the courts.
