"Why should either of us die?"

"You know better than I how little chance there is of saving those men. You may deem me careless, I suggest that the reasonable thing would be to forget the miserable statement you have just heard. Oh, please hear me to the end. I am not talking for your sole benefit, believe me. Greatly as I and all on board are beholden to you, I do not propose giving up my life for a few minutes, and shall start immediately afterwards."

"This was the captain speaking. His tone admitted of no contention. Boyle hurried off, and Courtenay went into his quarters."

"What do you think of it?" Christobal asked Tollemache, as the latter appeared to be contemplating after the chief officer.

"But what can we do? He is committing suicide."

"Oh, yes, you are, M'ieu. I want to give you the chance of your life. Mr. Gray has told me of your behavior, and he charitably added that your cowardice and treachery might have arisen from an unbecomable fear. Now, if you wish to atone for your conduct, here is an opportunity. I am taking a boat ashore to try to save some of my men who are imprisoned there. There is a fair risk in the venture. The outcome may be death. Will you volunteer to take an oar? That would whitewash your weathercock."

"It is impossible, I am too feeble. I cannot row."

"Sir, you would! Can it be possible that you are a Frenchman? What sort of countship is it you boast of?"

"Sir, I am a passenger on this ship—"

"Courtenay's voice was raised a little. 'Mr. Boyle,' he said, 'give orders that if this skunk shows his nose inside the saloon again he can say good-by. He can eat his meals in his stateroom, or he can forebear with the other ewages.'"

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Klark-Urban Company and Karland Attracted Large Audiences Saturday.

The Klark-Urban Company drew two good houses at the Opera House on Saturday. The matinee bill was the Silent Partner and the charming play was much enjoyed by all. Across the Desert was put on again in the evening with the addition of the specialties including Karlans and the man who escapes from all sorts of unpleasant positions.

He succeeded in making his way out of a box which was nailed up and corded by a committee of Oak Hill clerks and this evening will endeavor to escape from a door holding him up chains and bolts, prepared especially by the Spott, Lawton Co.

The True Kentuckian will be the bill for tonight.

DIPHTHERIA IS UNDER CONTROL

Sussex, N. B., Jan. 12.—Dr. McAllister arrived at 10 o'clock this evening from the McFarlane lumber camp, of the Bay Shore Lumber Company, where diphtheria has been raging. He reports the disease now practically under control, three or four of the men are quite ill, but he thinks they will recover.

The ten-year-old son of Fred. Morton, section foreman of Penabesque, fell on the ice last evening while skating and received serious injuries about the head. Dr. Burnett was called and says the boy was badly hurt.

Mrs. Burlock, a daughter of Bedford Hayes, of Seaside, about ten miles from here, was operated upon by Dr. Burnett yesterday afternoon, who found an internal abscess. Her condition is reported critical. Mrs. Burlock was married only month ago.

White Indian

A white Indian is a sick Indian. When the Indians first saw a white man they were sure he was sick. White skin—sick man was their argument. "Pale-face" is the name they gave us.

Pale faces can be cured. When blood is properly fed the face glows with health.

Scott's Emulsion

is a rich blood food. It gives new power to the bone marrow from which the red blood springs.

All Druggists 50c. and $1.00.

Daily Fashion Hint for Times Readers.

Since the tuxedo overcoat has returned to the fashion fold, fringes are once again looked for favor. Their admirable use in connection with this new skirt is softest satin in olive green. The center front and back and hip seams of the four new skirts are inset with bands of heavy cream lace.

Over a glimpse of cream lace in the tuxedo, the satin, the neck and large armholes are outlined with the lace bands. A touch of contrasting color appears in the tie ends and the sleeve bows of baby blue, which, associated with silk and gold threads.

George V. McInerney, K. C., a leading barrister in St. John, and prominently identified with the public life of New Brunswick, died at his home, 145 King street east at 7.30 o'clock Sunday morning after a tedious illness against which he had fought for some months. His death will be intruded with deep regret, not only in St. John, but throughout the province and in many parts of Canada where he was known and respected and from many quarters will come expressions of sympathy for his family in their great sorrow.

The progress of his illness had been watched with much anxiety for some time and it was with sorrow that it was learned he was confined to his bed for several days. He was, however, able to get up to the house. More recently there have been constant inquiries for him and many hearts were saddened by the word that there was no hope of his recovery, despite all that his brother, Dr. J. P. McInerney, could do and all the care that loving hands at home could bestow. During the last week he had been only semi-conscious. Towards the last he suffered with Messrs. F. Maxwell, M. P. P., John E. Wilson and W. F. Fitzroy to contest St. John city at the elections to be held soon for the New Brunswick legislature. He was ill at the time he was nominated but on his behalf his brother, Dr. J. P. McInerney, accepted the nomination. Mr. McInerney had, however, been stricken with serious illness. He went to Kent county for a few weeks in hope of benefiting but little change for the better resulted. Returning home, he was about for a short time but soon had to remain indoors and once a few weeks ago his condition became such that death at any time was feared. He rallied, however, but it was only temporary and for some days previous to his death, his condition was very serious.

On Sept. 12, 1882, Mr. McInerney married Christina, only daughter of Henry O'Leary, of Richibucto, and last fall their silver wedding was quietly celebrated at their home in King street east. Besides his wife five sons and three daughters survive. They are Henry O., barrister, of the law firm of Tilley & McInerney; and E. Blake, clerk in the Royal Bank here; Leo of the International Correspondence School; Ralph and George; Misses Nellie, Irene and Grace. Dr. J. P. McInerney, of North End, is a brother of deceased and there are two other brothers—John of Richibucto, and Edward of Richibucto. Mr. McInerney of the New York Sun is a half-brother and Mrs. John Sutton, of Moncton a half-sister.

Mr. McInerney enjoyed a wide acquaintance in New Brunswick and upper Canada and was everywhere held in high esteem. He was a man of culture, a great reader, surpassed by few as a public orator, gifted with eloquence of language, a pleasing musical voice and fine powers of argument, blending withal a keen wit which, though never was employed to carry a sting. He was at home alike on the lecture platform or in the heat of political battle, and whether friend or opponent, none but enjoyed listening to him.

Mr. McInerney was a prominent member of the Roman Catholic church and was closely identified with several societies. For years he had been general secretary of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association and he was a charter member and first chancellor of the St. John Council, Knights of Columbus. He was also a leading member of the Irish Literary and Benevolent Society.

Many friends will sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Fitzgerald, of Carleton, in the sudden death of their six year old son, Thomas Gerald, which occurred Saturday night. He was at school Friday and was playing afterwards apparently as well as ever. About 6 o'clock he took ill and it was found he had been attacked by scarlet fever. He died, despite all that could be done, at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. He was a very bright boy and his sudden death is a great blow to the family.

INVALID LADIES This Is For You.

There are thousands of females who suffer untold miseries common to their sex. This is largely due to the peculiar habits of life and fashion, and the improper training of girlhood. Then, too, the physical changes that mark the three eras of womanhood (the maiden, the wife, and the mother) have much to do with her sufferings, most of which are endured in silence, unknown by even the family physician and most intimate friends.

To all such women hollow cheeks, pale faces, sunken eyes and feeble footsteps, indigestion, heart palpitations, palpitation of the heart, weak, faint and dizzy spells, we would earnestly recommend a course of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. Joe Sharp, Brighton, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with palpitations of the heart, weak spells and nervous trouble, and found no relief until advised to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I got one box and that helped me so much I sent and got five more. I am now cured completely."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. per box or three boxes for $1.35, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE LATE G. V. MCINERNEY, K. C.

Ed to the New Brunswick legislature as an anti-confederate member. He was appointed legislative councillor in 1889, a position he retained till his death, in 1890.

George V. McInerney received his primary education at the common school in Kingston, Kent county, and pursued his studies in St. Joseph's College, Memramcook, and in Laval University. He afterwards studied law in Harvard and Boston University Law Schools, graduating in 1877, with the degree of LL.B. The following year he was called to the bar of this province. He was filled appointed to the house of commons for the municipality of Kent from 1880 to 1883. He was also for a number of years secretary of the St. Louis, Richibucto & Buctouche Railway Company, and was United States consular agent at Richibucto. He was first returned to the house of commons for the municipality of Kent from 1880 to 1883. He was also for a number of years secretary of the St. Louis, Richibucto & Buctouche Railway Company, and was United States consular agent at Richibucto. He was first returned to the house of commons for the municipality of Kent from 1880 to 1883. He was also for a number of years secretary of the St. Louis, Richibucto & Buctouche Railway Company, and was United States consular agent at Richibucto.

HAS MANY VICTIMS NOW

Valuable Prescription to Get Relief From Rheumatism Which Anyone Can Prepare at Home at Small Cost.

Thousands of men and women who have felt the sting and torture of this dread disease, which is no respecter of age, person, sex, color or rank will be interested to know that while for many years rheumatism was considered an incurable disease, now it is one of the easiest afflictions of the human body to conquer. Medical science has proven it is a distinct disease in itself, but a symptom caused by inactive kidneys. Rheumatism is uric acid in the blood and other waste products of the system which should be filtered and strained out in the form of urine. The function of the kidneys is to secrete these poisons and secrete and keep the blood clean and pure. The kidneys, however, are of a sponge-like substance, the holes or pores of which will sometimes, either from overwork, cold or exposure become clogged and inactive, and failing in their function of eliminating these poisons from the blood, they remain in the veins, decompose and set up the absolutely harmless, but cause the untold suffering and pain of rheumatism and backache, often producing complications of bladder and urinary disease, weakness, etc.

The following simple prescription is said to relieve the worst cases of rheumatism because of its direct action upon the blood and kidneys, relieving, too, the most severe forms of bladder and urinary trouble. Fluid Extract, Blandford, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix in a shaking bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. The ingredients can be had from any good prescription pharmacy, and are absolutely harmless and safe to use at any time.

AT THE NICKEL

The Two Orphans Will be the Big Special Feature for Today and Tomorrow.

Without indulging in extravagant description whatever the Nickel management assures its thousands of regular patrons that the programme for today and tomorrow has never been so good in any Canadian picture theatre let alone in St. John.

As a big special feature the world-famous French story, The Two Orphans, will be pictorially enacted in six distinct acts, the curtain rising up and down on each scene.

Over 1200 feet of film is used in faithfully and elaborately presenting this fascinating story of the deplorable Prochard family, the heroic cripple and the lost blind girl. Nothing has been lost in this magnificent production save the actual speaking of the parts. The setting is superb, reaching a more heart-thrilling climax in the sixth act when the cripple battles with his burly and inhuman brother to save the blind girl. Kate Claxton made herself renowned in this piece.

The second picture is a decided novelty. An inventor works a labor-saving machine with wonderful results, and Off for a Holiday is a farcical creation about a large family with a fat mother. Sydney Duckley, the new English base, will be heard in a delightfully sentimental ballad entitled 'You're Not the Only Aching Heart.' Miss Egan's stirring songs 'With Jennie' and 'Newcombe's new number' is that Casey Island hit of the last summer season. The Girl Who Threw Down is an orchestra feature. The Merry Widow Waltz, Two and Another and Four Little Blackberries—the rousing songs will be introduced. Last week came very nearly by a record breaker at the Nickel.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—J. D. Rolland, president of the Manufacturers' Association, was here on Saturday seeing Sir Willard Laurier, with a view of getting the government to take some further steps towards forest preservation. What the manufacturers really want is either the prohibition or an export duty on pulpwood. There is some probability that the government will get a commission to look into this matter at an early date.

Mr. Percy G. Hall, manager of the North End branch of the Royal Bank of Canada, will leave today to take charge of the Bridgewater (N. S.) branch.

DIED YESTERDAY MORNING

He Had Been Ill for Over a Month With Heart Failure—His Death Marks the Close of a Distinguished Career.

SIXTEEN CHILDREN TRAMPED TO DEATH

Frightful Tragedy in a Theatre in Barnsley, England—Forty More Injured.

Barnsley, Eng., Jan. 11.—Sixteen children were trampled to death and forty others, several of whom cannot live, were injured in a sad and forlorn tragedy at an entertainment given in the public hall here this afternoon. There was a great crush to secure admittance to the entertainment, and when the show opened every seat was taken and the gallery was literally packed with children, who filled the aisles and were dangerously massed against the lower railing. With a view to relieving the crowding in the gallery the attendants decided to transfer some of the children to the body of the house, and one of the children called out: "Some of you children come down stairs."

Immediately the rush started, and within a few seconds hundreds of children were being trampled under foot. Even those who had seats in the gallery, doubtless being panic-stricken by the screams and struggles of the crowds fighting to reach the stairs, joined in the stampede.

The scope was a terrible one, the cries of the injured and moans of the dying causing the greatest excitement among those gathered in the body of the hall. Police and ushers rushed to the head of the stairs, which were literally strewn with dead and dying, and by the most desperate efforts managed to drag scores of the struggling children to the corridor below. It was with the greatest difficulty that a panic among the children in the lower part of the house was averted, all of these originally being taken to the stairs in safety.

When the reserve police arrived they found the narrow stairway practically blocked with bodies which were trampled in some cases almost beyond recognition. Scores of children were forced by the pressure from the crowd behind them to scurry over those that had fallen, whether living or dead, and many of the injured children were found later to be suffering from fractured bones and severe lacerations, caused by the indescribable manner in which they had been trampled.

Soon after the accident the approach to the hall were crowded with sobbing women searching for their missing children.

McBEATH GETS $2,000 VERDICT

Jury Finds for Him in His Action Against the Eastern Steamship Company.

On Saturday in the case of McBeath vs. the Eastern Steamship Company, Judge Landry, upon receiving the finding of the jury upon the eight questions submitted to them by his honor and the one question submitted by the defence, entered a verdict for the plaintiff for $2,000.
