"THE MIRACLE MAN"

Verses in Appreciation By Russell Mitchelltree

No miracles today?
Say, bo! Where d'ya get that bunk?
See that girl there—the one with the big, clear eyes?
A few months back, her berry, leering lips
Burned the souls of the men that crushed them.
Her wanton's face, red-painted,
Twisted with sin as if the devil had stepped on it,
Was a brazen sign of a life that reeked.
And now she is good! Her smile's as sweet
As the smile of your mother in those first tender years,
When you were just a little, toddling kid,
And she was young and fair.

No miracles? That handsome devil standing at the front,
Once had a heart as black as the hair his victims loved to stroke.

One of those cynical, sneering guys, lurking, shark-like,
In the under-tow of life, to pull down human souls.
Look at him! What's that they say about God's image?
One night, last April, down in Clancy's place,
I saw him kiss that girl, after they'd trimmed a rub—
Both of them loud and stewed—
And then again today, after he'd slipped her a tiny ring—
No miracles? Say, bo! Where d'ya get that bunk?

WRESTLING.
Should Be Champion.
Boston Globe.—Speaking of welterweights reminds the writer that right here at home we have one of the best men of this weight in action today in the person of Bridson Greene. By right he is today the world's champion, as a result of his match with Louis Nelson, Adams a year ago. In that match Greene scored the first fall in one hour and fifteen minutes, the first time Nelson had ever been scored against. On resuming the struggle they battled for nearly five hours more, when the contest was stopped and wrongly called a draw. By all the rules of the game Greene was entitled to the verdict because of winning the only fall scored. The men have never met since that time, although Greene has always been willing to have it out.

RING.
Dempsey Not A Slacker.
San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 16.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, "is in no sense a slacker" or draft dodger, according to a statement made today by John S. Hogan, San Francisco attorney, who headed the exemption board here which handled Dempsey's case.

Hogan said he had investigated Dempsey's claims fully and after establishing the truth of his claim that he had dependents, placed him in class A-1. Dempsey's status as a married man and the fact that he was supporting his parents and an invalid brother and sister, and in addition was making payments on a ranch for his parents, were the fighter's exemption claims, said Hogan.

SKATING.
Champion Injured.
Charles Jewtraw, amateur ice skating champion, suffered a broken nose and other bruises when he fell heavily to the ice after colliding with a child who had run onto the course at the finish of a 220 yard race at Saranac Lake on Saturday.

ATHLETIC.
Will Not Go to England.
Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 14.—The Harvard Athletic Committee decided tonight to decline an invitation to send a track team to England to compete with Oxford and Cambridge.

Ruth Should Play First.

New York, Jan. 14.—Accept it from Ed. Barrow, whose views always merit consideration, Miller Huggins will not unless he assigns "Babe" Ruth to first base next season. As an outfielder he has shown commendable force. Last season he topped all American League left fielders, an extraordinary achievement for one of his ample physique and unfamiliarity with outfield play.
"Far be it from me to tell 'Hug' how to run his team, but I am convinced that Ruth's proper position is first base."

MORNING NEWS

OVER THE WIRES

John P. Ryder of St. Stephen, who has been working in the customs house at Newcastle, disappeared on Tuesday evening after attending a Masonic lodge meeting and has not since been seen. His affairs at the customs house were found in perfect shape and no reason can be learned as to why he should have disappeared, except a possible lapse of memory from shell shock after service overseas.

Chester W. Kingsley, a Harvard student, has been arraigned in court at Cambridge, Mass., on a charge of manslaughter. He was driving an automobile some days ago which ran into and killed Mrs. Bertha Clay of Grand Manan, N. B.

A former St. George, N. B., man, James McGowan, was found dead in Lynn, Mass., with his throat cut at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mabel F. Jennison. He left a note saying he was afraid he would die from suffering because of ill-health, and intended to end it all.

Cairo Express Is

Wrecked and Robbed

Cairo, Jan. 19.—A band of armed men on Saturday night tore up the rails and derailed the Luxor-Cairo express seventy miles south of Cairo. They then attacked the postal car, seized about £2,000 in money, and wounded a postal clerk. The escort of a band of prisoners on the train fired upon and dispersed the marauders, whose object is believed to have been solely to rob the train.

BREAD IN TORONTO

HAS TAKEN JUMP.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—An advance of one cent for a loaf of bread weighing a pound and a half, or two cents for a loaf of three pounds, was decided upon by Toronto bakers on Saturday. The price has been 11 cents a small loaf, and now will be 12 cents, and the large loaf will be 24 cents, instead of 22.
