CAPT. H. STETHEM IS SERIOUSLY ILL
Officer Well Remembered in St. John in General Hospital in Kingston on Return From Siberia

Captain Herbert Stethem of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, who has been on active service for some time in Siberia with the 20th Machine Gun Company, has returned to Canada and is now in the General Hospital at Kingston suffering from tuberculosis contracted while on service in Russia, also from heart trouble due to concussion while on service in France.

His condition is reported as very serious at present, but the military authorities are giving him every possible care and attention and it is hoped that in time he will regain his health.

Captain Stethem is well known to the people of St. John. He conducted a cavalry school in this city in the spring and summer of 1914.

He served in France with the cavalry in 1914 and 1915, was wounded and invalided to Canada. In February 1916 he was appointed to the staff of the New Brunswick troops and held the appointment of general staff officer until November 1916, when he rejoined the R. C. D. He was one of the original officers who organized the present Military District No. 7.

REORGANIZATION OF 3RD REGT. ARTILLERY

A reorganization of the 3rd Regiment C. G. A. is to be made in the near future. As soon as the armory becomes more clear of troops and space provided the idea is to begin the work of placing the unit on a firm militia basis. Not only for drill purposes but with the idea of having a clubroom where the old associations formed during the war may be kept alive, special rooms are to be fitted up modernly for messes for the N. C. O.'s and gunners.

A recommendation has been forwarded to Ottawa through local headquarters that the post of adjutant of the unit be given to Capt. E. M. Slader and it is expected that the recommendation will be approved.

Captain Slader was a former member of the unit. He crossed with Major Magee's battery in 1914 and went to France in February, 1915, with the 1st D. A. C. with sergeant-major's rank. He won his commission in March, 1916, and went to the 1st Heavies where he served for twenty-two months. In March, 1918, he got his captaincy and went to the 4th Siege, with which he was serving at the close. He is well fitted for the new post, which under the proposed organization will be permanent.

VETERAN SOLDIER HAS PASSED AWAY

T. M. Wisted Fought in Crimea and in the Indian Mutiny

Thomas M. Wisted, an old and highly esteemed resident, passed away at 6:45 o'clock this morning at his home, 142 St. Patrick street, after an illness of two weeks. Up to the time of his death he was bright and cheerful and even to the last, when the spark of life gradually died out, he conversed with his relatives about the happenings of the day and reminiscences of those gone by. He was born in Tipperary, Ireland, in 1836 and thirty-seven years later came to Canada and since that time resided here.

His Military Career.
Mr. Wisted joined the 73rd regiment in Dublin, Ireland, and after serving in home stations for a while, volunteered with the 97th, the "Earl of Ulster's Regiment" under command of Col. R. H. Hancock, an Irish peer, for foreign service when the Crimean War broke out. The regiment was at Windsor Castle before leaving for the Crimea in May, 1854, sailing from Southampton, at Malta the orders were countermanded and the regiment sent to Greece, then under the protection of England, to guard King Otto against an insurrection in that country. They remained in Greece until November when they were drafted to the Crimea.

The 97th was active in the siege of Sebastopol, which lasted for eleven months against the British and French troops until Sept. 8, 1855, when it fell. The besieging troops suffered much hardship, sleeping in bell tents in severe winter and at times being compelled to eat their dead mules. In the following May the 97th was relieved, and, returning to England, escaped at Aldershot. Mr. Wisted sailed with it from Portsmouth on August 8, 1857, and was present at the siege of Lucknow which fell in March, 1858. The 97th took part in one of the longest marches in history while engaged in this campaign, doing 1360 miles in three months, putting to flight any rebels among the natives and clearing the country of the mutinous natives. The massacre of Cawnpore was followed by a great pouring of British troops and the rebellion was suppressed. After the Indian campaign Mr. Wisted returned to Dublin and received his discharge. In 1873 he sailed with many of his countrymen for America and settling in St. John, has since resided here.

His Family.
He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Joseph W. Nichol, with also two grandchildren, Melville T. and J. Beverley Nichol. John M. Finmore is a nephew.

Among the hundreds who enjoyed the exciting game of ball on the south end diamond last evening between the Pirates and All-Stars, the latter made up of seasoned players not lately in the game, was Percy Olive of Boston, who was first baseman for the Imperials, forty years ago. Mr. Olive is now a successful commercial photographer in Boston and still looks fit to play the old game. He and his brother Frank, who is an enthusiastic member of the South End Improvement League, strolled down to the field last evening and indulged in reminiscences. They recalled a great game between the Imperials and Nationals in 1860 on the Barre Square, which was won by the former. In those days the city almost made holiday when these teams met. The late LeBaron Thompson was the star batter for the Imperials, making long hits of the home run variety. The players wore no mitts, and Frank Olive said he had seen a catcher after a game with his hands so swollen that he could not close the fingers. Percy Olive was one of the earliest players of the modern game here. He remarked last evening that the city should become responsible for providing playgrounds for the people.

CONDITIONS IMPROVING AND PREPARATIONS CONTINUE FOR HANDLEY-PAGE FLIGHT.
St. John's, Nfld., June 24—Doubt as to whether mid-ocean weather would permit him to hop-off tomorrow for a trans-Atlantic flight in his Handley-Page biplane was expressed tonight by Vice-Admiral Mark Kerr before he returned to his airframe at Harbor Grace after a visit to this city. He added, however, he had received reports indicating that conditions were improving across the Atlantic.
