NEWMAN'S "TINKERED" HYMN. It is an interesting fact that Cardinal New MAN'S great poem "Lead on, Kindly Light" is an interesting fact that Cardinal New May believe that Donovan obtained all the votes entry to this place. Such, howere, was not the mary to believe that Donovan obtained all the votes entry to this place. Such, howere, was not the serious illness in Scicily. He was been in an orange boat between Sardinia and corsica, and it is thought that during this delay the poem was written. The story of how the poem was tinkered is interusting and is told by Dr. CHARKER ROBINSON, the editor of Songs of the Church, afterwards called, Songs for the Hampton Sent Votes to Pushor.

SPORTS OF THE SEASON.

ne of our friends are running away some of our friends are running away with the idea that PROGRESS made enough out of the base ball contest to start a bank Go a little slower than that. PROGRESS made something but not enough to retire upon. Perhaps the greatest gain of the paper was in real increase of circulation. No person connected with PROGRESS will pre-tend to say that more than ons quarter of the extra papers printed during the contest were distributed—that is circulated in the ordinary way. They were bought and the ballots cut from them and that was all. But a very large number of papers found new buyers and those people will allmost wholly be regular readers. More than that, without doubt, in the in creased value of advertising and the large amount that has offered. To bring it down to a point, the contest was a big and successful advertisement for this paper. Mr. Pushor got hs $50 Monday morning as the following will show: Sr. Joux, Sept. 8, 1390. Received from the publiker of PROGRESS the sum officient for the spaper show and the large and base for the calter and Misser and the set of the straing and the large and played choice selections, the refreehments the forward. That was PROGRESS' great gain from the contest—new and regular readers.
