GEO. W. FOWLER IN STRONG ARGUMENT BEFORE ROYAL COMMISSION YESTERDAY

Reviews evidence in Timber Limit case and shows fallacies of Dugal charges—Mr. Carvell's reply very weak—M. G. Teed bombarded prosecution at morning session.

The investigation into the charges made by Mr. Dugal in connection with the crown lands administration was concluded yesterday when the counsel on both sides presented their arguments to the commissioners.
Mr. Carvell in his summing up presented a rather ingenious argument whereby he tried to show that extortion had been practiced in connection with the collection of the campaign fund.
Mr. Teed presented a straight forward statement in regard to the scope of the enquiry and the legislation providing for the appointment of the royal commission.
George W. Fowler made an eloquent speech in which he reviewed the evidence and from the review of the different witnesses pointed out that neither extortion or coercion had entered into the matter of raising the fund. He reviewed the history of the campaign funds and showed that they were quite common in connection with other movements besides political campaigns.
The Valley Railway matter will be continued next Friday morning at ten o'clock and at the same time, Mr.
Carvell announced that he would not argue the case until the books of the company, now in New York, were produced.

Morning Session
Mr. Carvell read a statement from The Standard at the morning session of the enquiry concerning the evidence of J. B. M. Baxter on Thursday afternoon. Mr. Baxter was notified that Mr. Carvell had never heard of a statement and he appeared in court.
E. S. Carter was sworn. He told of being in Fredericton as Liberal organizer, and of obtaining information concerning the contribution of $15 a mile to the campaign fund.
In regard to the matter of the information to the charges had been made, he had never made such a proposal and he had no knowledge of it being made. He had never heard of any $1000 in connection with the matter.
One lumberman had told him that the charges were made, but he had not any document such as mentioned by Mr. Baxter.

Cross examined by Mr. Baxter witness said he had never consulted Mr.
Pugsley either directly or indirectly in reference to the matter.
To Mr. Teed witness said he had been Liberal organizer for four or five years. He considered a campaign fund necessary for the purpose of expenses. He could not say from what source the funds had been derived.

Mr. Carvell
Mr. Carvell was sworn. He said no proposal had been made to him by any Conservative or Mr. Fleming for in any way raising this enquiry. He had never heard of any proposed payment of $10,000.

In reply to Mr. Baxter witness said that two lumbermen had been consulted by him in the matter. He said to him that the matter might be settled. He had discussed the matter with Mr. Pugsley, but witness did not think any terms had been mentioned.
Witness had heard that a prominent St. John Conservative had approached Mr. Carvell in the matter of the timber charges and the resignation of a lumberman had asked witness to drop the timber charges. The proposition was for Mr. Fleming to resign and he would have to make an admission.

To Mr. Teed witness said he had been in active politics for twenty years and there was more money expended in New Brunswick than there should be. He believed that money was used in elections.
Mr. Stevens read the charges as made by Mr. Dugal. He argued that Mr. Fleming had contributed to the methods employed for the raising of the fund. He outlined the evidence relating to the collection of the fund. Mr. Stevens read and then on extortion and corruption. He thought the fact that lumbermen contributed to the fund was evidence that they had been coerced. He said that the charges were made by him and he was sure that the charges were made by him and he was sure that the charges were made by him.

Mr. Carvell
Mr. Carvell was sworn. He said
no proposal had been made to him
proposed payment of $10,000.

by any Conservative or Mr. Fleming
proposed payment of $10,000.

George W. Fowler
George W. Fowler, C. C. M. P., followed and discussed the evidence and charges in some detail from a legal standpoint. He pointed out that the charges were made by him and he was sure that the charges were made by him and he was sure that the charges were made by him.

paid purposes if it was given voluntarily.
The people who had read the Telegraph and Transcript lately, might have seen a flaming advertisement calling for contributions for the Liberal purpose and one of the signatures was that of his learned friend, Mr.
Carvell. This Liberal fund was being collected at the same time as this other fund was being raised. Mr.
Fowler understood that $200,000 had been collected.

It seemed to be the opinion of the Mr. Dugal's lawyers that Mr. Berry should have been discharged as soon as Mr. Fleming heard that the fund was being raised. Mr. Fowler thought that the greater number of people would have been discharged as soon
was being raised.

Premier Did Not Profit.
In this case there was no evidence to show that Mr. Fleming profited in any way from the fund, and there was no evidence of agency. Mr.
Fleming had had no control over the fund, neither did he know who had contributed or how much. He knew the gross amount of the fund but none of the details. There had been no extortion, and therefore no wrong. A mere coining could not be termed extortion.

Mr. Fowler took up the evidence of different witnesses and referred to the commissioners for their consideration.
There was no evidence against Mr.
Fleming and aside from Mr. Berry testimony the contributions for himself there was nothing reprehensible in his conduct.

Mr. Fowler referred to the career of Mr. Fleming and his connection with the political affairs of the province. He was one of the brightest minds in the province, and had given a good administration to his province, and administration the compared most favorably with any other provincial administration whether Liberal or Conservative. That has had no control of affairs in any part of Canada.

Mr. Fowler could not see how the commission could do anything but exonerate Mr. Fleming on the charges.

Prosecution Leader.
Mr. Carvell then addressed the commission. He paid a high tribute to Mr. Fowler and his manner of handling the evidence. Mr. Carvell, in his speech, referred to the evidence indicated extortion. Several times the commissioners asked him to explain some of the statements and deductions. Mr. Carvell also tried to show agency on the part of Mr. Fleming. He reviewed some of the evidence and said that he had been requested by Mr. Berry, who was an official of the department and therefore might be in a position to harm the lumbermen.

Mr. Carvell then referred to the evidence of Mr. Berry, which had not been given. He referred to Mr. Fleming's and Berry travelling from McAdam to St. Stephen. As far as the truth of the matter was concerned Mr. Berry and Mr. Fleming were the only persons who could tell the inside story of the affair. He believed that Mr. Fleming had taken the direction of the whole affair.

The transaction of Mr. Jones of the Partington Company, and Mr. Teed was enough, as far as he was concerned, to connect Mr. Fleming with the transaction.
The chairman asked if Mr. Carvell thought that Mr. Fleming was responsible, if after Berry had told him the lumbermen wished to contribute, Berry had come out and extorted the money, and Mr. Carvell said he would.

When Mr. Teed was asked the whole business he said that he was not Mr. Carvell announced that the case was closed, and the commissioners announced that the Valley Railway charges would be taken up again next Friday morning at ten o'clock.

Mr. Carvell stated that he refused to argue that case until the books from New York were submitted.

day, retail prices being about the David Smith, Quartermaster-on furlough.

David Smith, Quartermaster sergeant of the Gordon Highlanders, a famous Scotch regiment, who arrived in St. John three days ago, received a cable yesterday ordering him to join his regiment.
Q. M. Sargeant Smith came to Canada on furlough, and has been consulting James Gilchrist, secretary of the Farm Settlement Board, with a view to buying a farm in New Brunswick upon which he could settle down when he left the army. He had made arrangements to look over a number of farms in the province, but owing to the fact that Great Britain declared war on Germany he has remained in the city.
The Gordon Highlanders to which Mr. Smith belongs is one of the most famous regiments in the British army and did splendid work during the Boer war. Mr. Smith left yesterday for Quebec and will sail on the first boat for England.

FUNERALS.
Mrs. Anne Moran.
At 8.45 o'clock yesterday morning the funeral of Mrs. Anne Moran took place from her late residence, 80 Britain street, to the church of St.
John the Baptist, where requiem high mass was celebrated by Very Rev.
W. F. Chapman, V. G. Relatives acted as pallbearers and the funeral was very largely attended. Interment was in the old Catholic cemetery.
Mrs. Frances C. Hamlyn.
The funeral of Mrs. Frances C.
Hamlyn took place at 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from her late residence and said that no one had been requested by Mr. Berry, who was an official
in a position to harm the lumbermen.

As New York files scan the daily book scores of the Yankee games the impression grows that Frank Chance has two of the season's finds in Lute Boone at second base and Luther Cook in the outfield. Both are excellent fielders and throwers and doing well with the sticks. Cook ranks second to Cree in batting, with .290, and Boone, just breaking in, has a mark of .245.
