

Social Notes of the Week

This week there has been quite a stir in society circles. Many teas, dinners and informal bridges have been given for the strangers in our city—already in the stores one notices the busy shoppers getting ready for Christmas, which is drawing so near, and one hears the familiar saying as usual—"So much to do, so little time!"—Every one is trying to do their bit working for the brave lads at the front, and not forgetting the wives, mothers and little children who have been left, as it were, in our keeping until the soldier returns in his loved ones.—The Christmas Wives League to the children on December 26th, will be a wonderful sight, as the committees are working hard to give the children a very happy time.—Toys sent to Mrs. D. B. Pidgeon or Miss Edith Skinner, Coburg street, for the boys, and to Miss Mary Harrison, Duke street, will be gratefully received as there are hundreds of little hearts that must be cheered this year.

Miss Catherine McAvity entertained the first of the week at the tea hour in honor of Miss Donville, Miss Jarvis and Miss Digby. Amongst the guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Sayre, Miss Violet Whitaker, Miss Catherine Coster, Miss Edith Schofield, Miss Dorothy Jack, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Church, Mrs. F. W. Fraser, Mr. J. H.
